DR. ARIAS SHOT AS FIGHT PERILS COLON CROWDS

Panama City Policemen Rushed to Help End Serious Battle.

CLASH IS OUTGROWTH OF POLITICAL RIVALRY

Victim, President of City Council, Wounded on Ending Session.

Colon, Panama, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—A riotous free-for-all fight, in which Dr. Arnulfo Arias, prominent political leader, was gravely wounded, threw the city into confusion tonight and threatened serious disorders.

Police had difficulty in clearing the streets after a mob gathered at the scene of the fighting, which broke up a session of the Colon Municipal Council.

All United States soldiers and sailors off duty in Colon were ordered back to their bases by United States authorities. Police reinforcements were sent from Panama City by special train.

City Judge Ramon Amestica was held by police without a specific charge after a revolver of the same caliber as the one which fired the shots at Arias was found on him. Friends of Arias said they believed Amestica shot the doctor, but Amestica denied it.

Result of Political Rivalry.

The shooting was the result of bitter political rivalries among supporters of two candidates for president. One of the candidates is Dr. Arias' brother, Harmodio Arias, who is now Minister to Washington, and the other is Secretary of Interior Francisco Arias Paredes, who is now in Washington conferring with the minister.

Dr. Arias, a prominent surgeon and president of the Accion Comunal, which started last January's successful revolution, was presiding at the municipal council session. Supporters of Paredes threw the meeting into disorder while the minutes were being read and a free-for-all fight resulted.

Major Outbreak Threatened.

Dr. Arias was shot once in the head and once in the side while leaving the building. He was taken to a hospital, where doctors said he would recover.

The fighting caused wild excitement throughout the city. A large crowd collected and soon became violent, threatening a major disturbance. For a short while the scene was similar to a revolutionary outbreak, but police, heavily armed, slowly dispersed the demonstrators.

Police patrols were ordered on all important streets.

The Arias family is one of the oldest Spanish families in Central America and has long played a prominent role in Panama.

(United Press.)

Dr. Harmodio Arias, Panama Minister, was informed last night of the outbreak in Colon in which his brother, Dr. Arnulfo Arias, was shot. He made the following brief statement which he said he would send to Panama:

"Whatever the cause of the event in Colon this afternoon, I beg all my countrymen to maintain order and calmness."

Hurley Unlikely to See Filipino Liberty Parade

Manila, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Governor General Dwight F. Davis indicated today that Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley probably will not witness a parade Monday which is being arranged to impress the visiting official with the Filipinos' desire for independence.

Mr. Davis said no provision had been made for Secretary Hurley either to see the parade or address the paraders. Probably the most that he would do, said Mr. Davis, was to receive a committee which intended to present an independence petition to him.

Cermak Urges Drive To Nominate Lewis

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Mayor A. J. Cermak, of Chicago, today called upon Democrats of Illinois to unite in a campaign for the nomination of Senator James Hamilton Lewis for President.

Speaking at the Democratic celebration at the Illinois State Fair, Mayor Cermak said the only candidate his branch of the party was supporting at this time was Senator Lewis. Other speakers included many seekers of party nominations for State offices predicted a Democratic victory in 1932.

Lisbon Revolt Fails; 20 Slain, 120 Injured

Movement Is Quickly Suppressed by Troops and More Than 300 Persons Are Arrested; Stray Bullet Hits American Legation.

Lisbon, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—A revolutionary movement which cost the lives of twenty persons and in which upward of 120 were injured broke out in Lisbon today, but was quickly suppressed by troops loyal to the administration of President Oscar Carmona.

Lisbon tonight was heavily guarded by troops in field uniform and tanks and armored cars rumbled through the streets.

More than 300 persons were arrested, including a number of former members of Parliament and former officers of the army. The military commander tonight issued an order to all citizens to remain indoors after midnight and warned that any one found carrying arms would be shot at sight.

In the course of the fighting the American Legation was hit by a stray bullet, which did no material damage, however.

The movement started at 6 a. m. Citizens were awakened by the sound of gunfire. A party of civilians had attacked the barracks of the Third Artillery Regiment, imprisoning some of the officers and inducing the troops to join in the revolt.

The city was thrown into great excitement. Streets were patrolled by police armed with rifles. Armored cars, manned by Republican guards, raced about.

After seizing artillery, the rebels opened fire on Fortress St. George, which replied with a few shells. Some apartment buildings were damaged in the exchange.

Foiled in front of the fortress, the rebels tried to induce other troops to join them. All, however, remained loyal to the government.

The rebels then barricaded themselves in the higher part of the town, but were dislodged by attackers, who used machine guns, armored cars and airplanes.

About 4 p. m., when the rebels, who realized their coup had failed, were running out of ammunition, the white flag was hoisted.

Col. Dias Antunes, said to be the organizer of the rebellion, surrendered

CAPONE IS ORDERED SEIZED IN KIDNAPING

Police Raid Gangster's Suite in Chicago, but Find Him Missing.

Chicago, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—Chief Investigator Pat Roche, of the State's attorney's office, ordered the arrest today of Alphonse (Scarface Al) Capone in connection with the ransom kidnaping of John J. (Jack) Lynch, wealthy racing information magnate.

Soon after Roche had telephoned his order from Lake Geneva, police raided the Lexington Hotel stronghold of Capone, but failed to find the gangster chieftain there.

Lynch, part owner of a fabulously profitable horse race news bureau, was expected to return unharmed to his $125,000 Lake Geneva mansion before morning. He has been held almost a week by abductors who first demanded $250,000 for his release, but reduced their price to $50,000, which was reported to have been paid.

Inasmuch as Capone had offered to help authorities effect Lynch's release, Roche's order for "Scarface Al's" arrest was mysterious.

"There has been double-crossing," said Roche angrily over the telephone, "and I have ordered complete investigation of the entire matter as well as the arrest of Capone."

"Marty" Guilfoyle, gamber and associate of Lynch, was reported to have paid the $50,000 upon a promise that Lynch be freed near his home.

It was learned that the kidnapers were St. Louis "abduction experts" hired for the occasion by Chicago

U. S. Agents Seize Huge Liquor Plant

165,000 Gallons Alcohol Found, but Only One Man Is Held.

Clifton, N. J., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—A modern moonshiners' plant, loaded to capacity with 165,000 gallons of alcohol and equipped with a private railroad siding, electric warning signals, and secret underground passages, was seized today by Federal agents.

Outside the plant the agents found three trucks ostensibly loaded with coal but beneath the coal they found a large tank in each truck and one of the tanks was filled with alcohol.

Only one man was captured on the premises. The agents said they believed about ten others had escaped through one of the secret tunnels.

GIFFORD IS FORMING GROUPS TO AID IDLE

Relief Director Begins Plans for Biggest Fund Drive Since War Days.

(Associated Press.)

Walter S. Gifford, national relief director, yesterday began building up an organization to conduct the biggest drive for money since the Liberty loan days of the World War—a Nation-wide campaign for unemployment relief funds.

With less than two months in which to lay the ground work for the drive, scheduled to begin October 19, Gifford devoted his entire day to the personnel of his headquarters staff and the selection of representatives to take charge of the campaign in each State.

Most of the State representatives will be chosen from the membership of the national advisory committee set up by President Hoover.

Gifford also was seeking three or four volunteers to become chairmen of committees he plans to set up at headquarters to handle the various phases of the work. He expected to be able to announce their names within a few days.

One committee will be charged with considering the multitude of plans and suggestions which are pouring in to relief headquarters. Another will centralize the activities of the various State representatives. A third will maintain contact with national welfare organizations.

While Gifford was organizing for the drive by which it is hoped to provide adequate relief through local funds, President Hoover received a pledge of support for this plan from Mrs. Worthington Scranton, Republican national committeewoman from Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Scranton took issue with the recent demand from Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania for an extra session of Congress to deal with unemployment and promised that her native city of

McGugin to Father Bill Cutting All U.S. Salaries

Garnett, Kans., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—A bill calling for a 25 per cent cut in salaries of all elective and appointive officers and employes of the Federal Government will be introduced at the next session of Congress by Representative Harold McGugin, Republican, of the third Kansas district.

McGugin, in making the announcement today, said, the proposed salary reduction would be for a three-year period, or longer if the depression is not ended at the expiration of that time.

FUND TRANSFER LAID TO BISHOP BY NYE IN QUIZ

Committee Head Claims Cleric Shifted $9,500 to Own Account.

PRELATE'S LETTER DRAWS LAUGHTER

Jameson Is to Be Witness in Hearing Today Which Will Be Public.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

In the midst of a long and tedious examination of bank records yesterday, Senator Gerald P. Nye (Republican), of North Dakota, made the flat charge that Bishop James Cannon, jr., had drawn money from what was regarded as a 1928 political campaign fund in a bank in Washington and had transferred it to his own personal bank account in Richmond, Va.

The amount involved was $9,500.

Senator Nye is chairman of the Senate campaign funds committee, which is trying to find out what Bishop Cannon did with $65,000 given him in 1928 for his successful crusade against Gov. Alfred E. Smith in the presidential election campaign.

Act Violation Charged.

Representative George Holden Tinkham (Republican), of Massachusetts, has charged that Bishop Cannon failed to account for the expenditure of all this money, and had thus violated the Federal corrupt practices act.

Edwin C. Jameson, New York broker, who contributed the money to the Methodist churchman, will be called as a witness today. Other witnesses called for today are Miss Ada L. Burroughs, treasurer of the anti-Smith Democrats, of which Bishop Cannon was chairman, and an "unidentified banker" from Jersey City, believed to be F. B. Ferguson.

Hearing to Be Public.

Today's hearing, which will be public, will be held in the Senate Office Building and will start at 10 o'clock. One of the exhibits will be a huge chart showing Bishop Cannon's half dozen or more bank accounts, linked up in a sort of pipe-line system.

By means of this and the testimony, Senator Nye said yesterday, he proposes to show that Bishop Cannon had actually diverted campaign money to his private account.

Yesterday's testimony, Senator Nye said, was simply a prelude in which

Duce to Visit Pope As Sealing of Pact

Call Planned for Autumn; Accord Is Based on New Compromise.

Rome, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Premier Mussolini's long-deferred visit to the Pope is planned for this autumn as a sort of seal of lasting accord between the Vatican and the Italian government, it was said today in well informed diplomatic circles.

Negotiations for this accord were authoritatively reported to be on the basis of the reopening of the 15,000 Catholic Action Clubs and the strengthening of the church's conduct of Italian youth.

The premier was to have made an official visit to the Pope nearly two years ago, as one of the developments in connection with the Lateran treaties and the concordat. The Pope postponed the call as a result of a controversy over the exact scope of the agreements, it was generally supposed, and there never was any formal announcement the premier would go to the Vatican. Diplomatic procedure, however, implied there should be some gesture of that sort.

Envoy From Chile Arrives for Duties

Senor Cruchaga Also to Resume Duties Upon Claim Bodies.

Senor Miguel Cruchaga, new Ambassador to the United States from Chile, arrived yesterday in Washington and said that he would resume his duties of neutral referee in the Spanish-Mexican and Italian-Mexican Claims Commissions. He expects to return to Mexico City in the early part of October to attend another session of the claim bodies.

Senor Cruchaga said his appointment had been confirmed by the Chilean Senate and expected that his credentials would be forwarded at once.

No indication was made by Senor Cruchaga of any changes that might be made in the embassy staff. The new ambassador is a widower and will reside at the embassy on Massachusetts avenue.

MAHATMA GANDHI.

GANDHI OBEYS VOICE; WILL GO TO LONDON

Mahatma Ends Long Talk With Viceroy by Agreeing to Cooperate.

Simla, India, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—After months of indecision and "heart-searching," Mahatma Gandhi announced today his "inner voice" has told him it would be to India's interest for him to go to London to attend the second round table conference.

At the end of almost three hours' conversation with Viceroy Lord Willingdon, who left a sickbed to see him, the Mahatma agreed to cooperate with the round table conferees in bringing India a step nearer her long cherished goal of independence.

His decision was based on an attitude of "mutual accommodation and compromise." The nationalist leader agreed to drop his demand for the appointment of an arbitration board to determine whether there have been breaches of the Delhi armistice, and the viceroy consented to institute an inquiry into the alleged excesses of tax collectors in the Bardola district.

Thus, after nearly twenty years absence from England, Gandhi will set sail Saturday for London with pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya and Mme. Sarojini Naidu, also delegates, and will reach his destination September 9. He will take aboard his goats to provide him with milk to participate.

Gandhi was all prepared to leave for Bombay tonight, but at the last minute the government discovered some hitch in the phraseology of the joint statement to be issued by him and the viceroy. This made it necessary that he stay over another day, allowing him just enough time to

Woman Holds Up Man With Pistol

Robber Forces Him to Give Up $30 and Flees in Small Sedan.

Working with coolness and precision; an attractive young woman early today held up Lyle Boucher, a clerk in the Bureau of Internal Revenue, as he was about to enter his apartment at 2500 K street northwest and forced him to turn over $30 at the point of a pistol. Warning her victim against making an outcry, she walked over to a small sedan parked near the corner and drove away.

Mr. Boucher had just stepped from his car and was preparing to step into the apartment house when accosted. The wallet he relinquished contained his operator's permit and other papers, as well as the $30.

The robber was described as being about 5 feet 2 inches tall, of light complexion splotched with freckles and wearing a crocheted white tam-o-shanter and flowered hat. Police broadcast a lookout.

Sir Hall Caine, Noted Novelist, Gravely Ill

London, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Sir Hall Caine, noted novelist, is seriously ill at his home, Greeba Castle, in the Isle of Man, it was reported today.

The noted novelist is 78 years old. He has been a well known literary figure for nearly 50 years, producing novels and plays, many of the latter being dramatized versions of his books.

In 1907 he was declared by the manager of the Lyceum Theater in London to be the wealthiest novelist in the world. His theatrical royalties from America and England up to that time amounted to $450,000, the manager revealed, and it was said the sales of his novels had produced an even larger income.

LABOR BODIES END SUPPORT OF MACDONALD

HENDERSON LIKELY AS GROUP'S LEADER

New National Government Reaches Accord on Plan to Meet Crisis.

London, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Ramsay MacDonald's new national government reached full accord today on the procedure necessary to meet the budget crisis, but encountered increasingly bitter opposition from the ranks of labor.

The first meeting of the cabinet, held after the new ministers had been vested with the seals of office by King George at Buckingham Palace, broke up with the announcement that complete agreement had been reached on the measures to deal with the financial emergency.

Lord Crewe, former ambassador to Paris and a Liberal, was named as minister of war in the new ministry tonight.

At the same time of the first cabinet meeting organized labor—the Trades Union Congress General Council, the national executive committee of the Labor party and the consultative committee of the Parliamentary Labor party—formally declared their opposition to the three-party cabinet.

The labor organizations, at a joint meeting, passed a resolution withdrawing their support from the Laborite leaders participating in the national cabinet, chief of whom is the prime minister.

Favors Opposition.

The resolution declared the labor groups were unanimously of the opinion the new government "should be vigorously opposed in Parliament and by a movement throughout the country."

It expressed "approval of the ministers of the late government in declining to render support to the new administration" and recommended that "the parliamentary Labor party constitute itself the official parliamentary opposition."

In this action from the political groups, for years led by Mr. MacDonald were seen the prospects of much heavy going for the three-party cabinet the Scottish statesman now heads.

Mr. MacDonald and his new associates all appeared at Buckingham Palace in top hats and frock or morning coats for the ceremony of transferring the seals of office. Some of them arrived by taxicab, a few in their own motorcars, and some on foot.

Hold First Session.

The ceremony lasted about an hour and then the officially invested ministers hurried back to the prime minister's residence, 10 Dowying street, and held their first formal session.

One of the first acts of the prime minister was to name a small committee to deal with the necessary legislation, which will be rushed through a special parliament session convening September 8.

The government plans to override all opposition in the House of Commons, even by dictatorial methods if necessary. Gloves will be discarded,

Dieterich Is Candidate For Senate From Illinois

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—William H. Dieterich, Illinois Representative-at-large, announced at a gathering of Democrats at the Illinois State Fair today that he would be a candidate for the nomination for United States Senator next year. Previously he had been considered a potential candidate for governor.

The office of representative-at-large, to which Dieterich was elected last fall, was abolished by the recent State reapportionment. Dieterich will serve one term, however.

LINDBERGHS EAT ON IN JAPANESE QUAKE

Meal Continues as Dishes Rattle; Decoration of Colonel Planned.

Tokyo (Thursday), Aug. 27 (A.P.). The gentle rattle of coffee cups and saucers and the trembling of flowers in the center of the table apprised Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh at breakfast today that they were experiencing their first earthquake since their arrival in Japan.

"Jishin," smiled the kimono-clad maid, meaning "earthquake."

And the Lindberghs went on with their fruit.

The ministry of communications is planning to petition the emperor to decorate Col. Lindbergh with the Order of the Rising Sun, for his "meritorious flight and promoting the friendship of Japan and America."

Tokyo, Japan (Thursday), Aug. 27 (U.P.).—One of the greatest welcomes Japan ever has extended to any visitors was accorded today to Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Scenes of wild enthusiasm here and at the Kasumigaura Airport, 45 miles away, where they completed their adventurous 7,000-mile flight from the United States yesterday afternoon, where mere preludes, however, to the display of Oriental hospitality which is forthcoming.

While the newspapers ground out more special Lindbergh editions, while decorators draped more boulevards with bunting and while tremendous crowds of Lindbergh fans waited patiently on the curbstones for a glance of their hero, the Lindberghs slept late in the comfortable home of Dr. Rudolph B. Tuesler, director of St. Luke's International Hospital.

A six-day fete is before them, rounds of entertainment, of sightseeing, of speech making. The government has arranged almost every minute of their time in the thorough-going manner of the Far East. The death of former Premier Hamaguchi shot by an assassin last November, may interfere somewhat with the program, however.

The radio announcer who described every smile and every movement of the Lindberghs after they landed told of Hamaguchi's death in the middle of the broadcast.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh, sleeping so soundly in the center of an empire which insisted upon doing them honor, were tired. Lindbergh himself

5 Burned to Death As Home Is Razed

Parents and Laborer Lose Lives Vainly Trying to Save Children.

Blue River, Wis., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Five persons, two of them children, died today as a result of a fire that destroyed the John Falkner home near Port Andrew. The children lost their lives in the fire, and their mother and father and a laborer living with them died several hours later in a Richland Center Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Falkner and Frank La Gene suffered fatal burns when they vainly attempted to rescue the children, Esther Falkner, 2, and her sister, Bessie, 3.

Authorities said an explosion in a gas stove apparently caused the fire.

HOOVER ORDERS FEDERAL PROBE INTO BRUTALITY

PRESIDENT CONFERS WITH CITY OFFICIALS

THACHER PROMISES FULL INVESTIGATION

Maj. Pratt Says Department Not Seeking 'Whitewash' and Pledges Aid.

The Federal Government, at the instance of President Hoover, yesterday began an investigation of third degree methods used by Metropolitan police as result of an expose by The Washington Post.

The Department of Justice was called into investigate charges that prisoners have been brutally beaten with rubber hoses and bare fists, to make them confess to crimes attributed to them by Washington police.

The action followed a conference between President Hoover, Dr. Luther Reichelderfer, president of the Board of District Commissioners and W. W. Bride, corporation counsel.

Four Policemen Suspended.

Four policemen have been suspended on the strength of the story of James Henry Harker, 24 years old, that he was savagely beaten with a rubber hose at the First Precinct Station, to force his confession to a house-breaking charge.

The District officials were closeted with the President for about half an hour, and yesterday the investigation of the Police Department was turned over to the Department of Justice, after Dr. Reichelderfer and Mr. Bride had called on Acting Attorney General Thacher and J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice.

President Arranges Meeting.

The District officials presented a letter at the conference, which was arranged at the instance of President Hoover, asking that the Department of Justice take over the inquiry.

Mr. Thacher declined to make public the contents of this letter, but shortly after the conference issued a statement which said:

"The Commissioners of the District of Columbia have earnestly requested the aid of the Department of Justice in an investigation of the alleged third degree methods by certain members of the Metropolitan Police Force of the District of Columbia. This request has been acceded to, and a vigorous investigation will be conducted by the Department of Justice."

Tell of White House Session.

The District officials appeared at the Acting Attorney General's office in the afternoon, but it is believed the Department of Justice investigation was begun even before they presented their formal request.

Department of Justice investigators appeared at Metropolitan Police headquarters early yesterday morning. Desire of President Hoover that the department launch an immediate investigation of these charges was made known by the White House, following a conference at which the President devoted a half hour of his busy day to going over the situation with Dr. Reichelderfer and the corporation counsel.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Bureau of Investigation, will have personal charge of the inquiry, which he said yesterday had already begun.

He will be aided by John M. Keith, head of the Washington district of the Bureau of Investigation, and Mr. Hoover said they would call in any

'Liberty Party' Nominates 'Coin' Harvey for President

Monte Ne, Ark., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—William H. (Coin) Harvey, of Monte Ne, and Andrae Nardskog, of Los Angeles, Calif., were chosen today as presidential and vice presidential candidates, respectively, of the new "Liberty party," formed at a convention here under Harvey's leadership.

Before the nominations the convention, amid scenes of disorder, adopted a platform proposing, among other things, revision of the monetary system, a moratorium on private debts and Government ownership of all utilities.

Harvey, an 80-year-old veteran of William Jennings Bryan's free silver campaigns, refused the nomination at first, but accepted after a motion had been made to select presidential and vice presidential candidates at a later convention.

Nardskog was named vice presidential nominee over Homer Earl, of Lincoln, Nebr., by a vote of 354 to 36. The total vote was more than the number of delegates present, but States were given three votes, even though full delegations were not present.

Nardskog, 45 years old, is president of the Southwest Water League in California. In accepting the nomination he said he would do "everything possible to end the misery now prevalent."

Ten Insurance Deaths Laid To Rooming House Woman

Detroit, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—A mother and her son were held by police today following the death by a fall from a window of a roomer in their home, and the subsequent discovery by police that ten men, on most of whom the woman held insurance policies, had died in her rooming house in the last eight years.

The woman, Mrs. Rose Veras, 48, whose rooming house is in the city's Hungarian colony, is held on a technical charge of homicide. Her son, William, 18, was arrested for investigation.

Death of Steve Mak, 68, a roomer at Mrs. Veras' home, opened the police investigation. Mrs. Veras told police Mak fell from a ladder while repairing an attic window. Other witnesses said Mak was not at work on a ladder, and that it appeared he had been pushed from the window.

George M. Stutz, assistant prosecuting attorney, said he had learned there was one valid insurance policy on Mak's life for $4,000, of which Mrs. Veras was the beneficiary. He said he had learned Mrs. Veras recently borrowed money to make a payment on the policy.

Mrs. Veras told police it was customary in the Hungarian colony for a landlady to insure her roomers in her behalf. Police said 75 policies

3 POLICE CLEARED ON BEATING COUNTS

Dismissal Advised by Trial Body of Two Charged in Liquor Cases.

Five policemen were brought before the Police Trial Board yesterday, and three were acquitted on charges of brutality to prisoners, while the other two were recommended for dismissal for intoxication and possession of liquor.

Clyde N. Strange and W. C. Handley, jr., both of the Second Precinct, were accused of having struck James Thomas, his wife, Mamie, and daughter, Rosetta Johnson, while on the trail of another colored man on the night of May 30. Thomas said that the two officers entered their home at 129 Reeves court northwest, when he and his wife were asleep, and roughly awakened the three members of the family and demanded to know the location of the man for whom they were searching. Mrs. Johnson also testified that the officers struck several children.

William Williams, 21, one of those allegedly struck, later confessed to Inspector O. T. Davis that the residents of Reeves court had induced him to join them into "framing" Policeman Strange. Following this statement, charges against the two policemen were dropped and the cases were dismissed.

Both the officers denied the allegations of the various witnesses and said that they had gone to the Thomas home only because they had received word that the man whom they were seeking was a frequent visitor there. They said that they had struck neither the children nor the parents.

William Kuhns, of the Twelfth Precinct, was charged with having beaten Clarence W. Brown, 18, colored, several weeks ago, when he refused to accept a summons which was supposed to have been made out to a Willie Brown, of the same address. Brown declared that the officer beat him almost to unconsciousness. The case was dismissed for lack of sufficient evidence.

Policeman C. S. Zepp was recommended for dismissal after charges of drinking while on duty were supported before the court by Inspector Davis, Capt. William E. Holmes, of the First Precinct, and Sergt. John E. Thompson, of the Ninth Precinct.

The inspector said he found Zepp in what was apparently an intoxicated condition, while he was on duty at the 101 Ranch Wild West Show. He said that when he questioned Zepp a short time later, the officer denied having had anything to drink, explaining that he had sniffed a little snuff, which made him dizzy.

A. F. Kruger, of the Traffic Bureau, was also recommended for dismissal when he was tried on charges of sale and possession of intoxicants, placed against him three weeks ago. He was suspended at the time and is now serving a 30-day term in the District Jail.

Herndon Approves School Fund Plan

Town Council Provides Way to Finance Gymnasium.

At a special meeting of the town council of Herndon, called to consider construction of a gymnasium and Home Economics building, as part of the present Herndon high school, on application of the Fairfax County School Board, the council pledged itself to authorize the county school board to borrow from the State literary fund a balance necessary to complete the buildings, provided the amount borrowed is not in excess of a sum yielded by the 15-cent levy now provided for expenditures within a period of fifteen years.

The council also adopted a resolution, offered by George F. Harrison, to pay the councilmen $2 for each meeting attended. The financial report of the board was approved and signed by the financial committee, J. D. Thompson, Ernest Gibson and Ray N. Wrenn.

The new mayor, Stanley B. Hanes, town sergeant, Vernon C. Cockerille, and councilmen, Silas F. Hutchison, George A. Bready, Ernest Gibson, Ray N. Wrenn, J. D. Thompson, John Hurst and town clerk, Charles Sager, will take the oath of office on September 1.

catch his steamer at Bombay Saturday morning.

The mystical leader's decision to present the case of India's masses at the round table conference caused intense relief throughout India, where, up to today, nobody dared say he would go to London.

The lessening of tension was immediately reflected in the stock market which, in expectation that India would be spared another disastrous civil disobedience movement, at least until the end of the conference, bounded up several points.

Ahmedabad, India, Aug. 26 (A.P.). Foreswearing the pleasures of the world, Miss Nilla Cram Cook, 21, daughter of the late George Cram Cook, American poet and playwright, has joined Mahatma Gandi's movement for the liberation of India.

She is the first American to be admitted to his "ashram" or model colony, conducted by India's holy man on the banks of the sacred Sbarmati River. She arrived here recently from Greece, where she played prominent parts in the Delphic festival and where her father died among the shepherds of Mount Parnassus.

JUSTICE DEPARTMENT OPENS PROBE OVER THIRD DEGREE number of investigators found necessary for a speedy conclusion of the investigation.

Mr. Hoover said that as soon as the investigation was completed he would turn the complete body of facts developed over to the office of United States Attorney Leo Rover for action.

No facts would be given piecemeal to the District grand jury, which is now in session, unless such facts appeared to warrant immediate action, Mr. Hoover said.

William H. Collins, acting United States attorney, had planned to bring Harker's charges that he was beaten by First Precinct policemen before the grand jury on September 1.

What action he will take now is problematical. He said last night that it would be necessary for him to confer today with Mr. Hoover on the course of action to be pursued by his office and the grand jury. Mr. Hoover expressed doubt yesterday that he would be able to prepare evidence for presentation to the United States attorney's office by September 1.

To Await Probe Report.

The jury more than likely will hold up its investigation until it has received the facts developed by the Department of Justice.

The Harker case will be the first one developed by the Department of Justice agents, but the inquiry will by no means be limited in scope to this one case, Mr. Hoover said.

However, both Mr. Thacher and Mr. Hoover made it plain that the Department of Justice would confine its investigation to "third degree" methods, and would touch no other charges against the Police Department.

Plan Independent Probe.

Dr. Reichelderfer declared yesterday that he had told Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, that he expected the Police Department to continue its independent investigations of police brutality despite the fact that the Department of Justice had begun its inquiry.

The 24 men, including a captain, a lieutenant and several sergeants, who signed affidavits that they knew nothing of the Harker beating are likely to draw suspensions shortly, Dr. Reichelderfer said yesterday.

The status of these men has not been discussed, but it will be considered later, and if it appears that they had knowledge of the fact that Harker was beaten in the police station, and that they concealed this fact they will be suspended and tried before a civilian police trial board.

Civilian Board Plan Waits.

This civilian board, suggested by Maj. Pratt, to try the four policemen already under suspension will not be named until the Department of Justice reports and the grand jury acts, according to Dr. Reichelderfer.

Dr. Reichelderfer yesterday received the official Police Department report on the Harker case from Maj. Pratt. It was delivered by Assistant Superintendent of Police William S. Shelby, and the document notified the Commissioners of the suspension of Precinct Detective James Mostyn and Privates W. C. Groome, William R. Laflin and William T. Burroughs, on the strength of Harker's charges.

Harker alleges Mostyn struck him in the eye with his fist and beat him brutally with a piece of rubber hose. The other policemen were in the room when he was "questioned" with the aid of the hose, Harker alleges.

Asks Unbiased Board.

In the light of these charges the official report recommends that the corporation counsel be instructed to draft charges against the four, and that the charges be placed before a trial board composed exclusively of men having no connection with the Police Department.

The now famous stack of affidavits, in which 23 men denied Harker had been molested in the police station, accompanied the report. Included in the stack was a twenty-fourth affidavit from Private Edward R. Daniels, of the Fourth Precinct, who was present while Harker was being examined at a physician's office, following his release from the First Precinct.

Daniels' affidavit admitted Harker had received a severe beating from some source.

The Department of Justice will be given full cooperation in its inquiry from Maj. Pratt, that official said last night.

"Whitewash" Not Wanted.

"We welcome any investigation which will disclose anything improper in the Police Department," he declared.

"We have been doing everything to stamp out so-called third-degree methods in the department and we thought we had succeeded.

"I think the Department of Justice is the best-equipped agency to conduct such an investigation, and the Police Department is anxious that this whole matter be sifted and the truth brought out in a way that will convince the public that the department does not want a 'whitewash' of any officers guilty of brutal treatment of prisoners or other improprieties.

"It was for that reason I suggested to Commissioner Reichelderfer that the accused policemen be tried by a board completely outside the Police Department, and that the charge against them be drafted by the corporation counsel, Mr. Bride."

Refutes Former Statement.

Maj. Pratt said that Police Inspectors Bean and Stoll yesterday visited Robert Martz, who made a statement for an afternoon newspaper charging that he was beaten by police in an effort to make him say that the shooting of Irvin Zirkle was not accidental.

According to Maj. Pratt, Martz admitted making the statement published in the paper, but said that his statement was untrue. Martz, Maj. Pratt declared, said that he was not beaten, but made the statement that he had been a victim of third-degree methods because a reporter for the afternoon paper had suggested that it might help him in his trial. He later made the same statement to his attorney, Denny Hughes.

Hearing Delay Seen.

Regardless of the outcome of the various investigations, it is extremely probable that it will take some time to bring the four policemen accused by Harker before a trial board, it was indicated.

When charges are prepared and presented and served on accused policemen, the date is then set for trial board action. Under the law, only 48 hours of notice is required of the trial board meeting, but the accused policemen are usually given at least a week's notice.

Should the investigations bring court action, however, the accused policemen can refuse to appear before the trial board until after the court trial, on the ground that to appear before the trial board first would reveal their line of defense before the similar case reaches open court.

Four Are Questioned.

Inspectors T. A. Bean and Louis Stoll last night called Detective Sergt. O. W. Mansfield and First Precint Policemen M. N. Stottlemeyer, H. S. Childress and W. G. Fawcett to headquarters and took statements from them regarding allegations of mistreatment to Frederick C. Sampson and Frank Kostyo, under questioning in connection with the robbery of a jewelry store.

All four men made written statements denying that Sampson and Kostyo had been molested in any manner, when they were questioned at the First Precinct station. After receiving the statements the men were sent back to duty. None was suspended.

Beaten Man's Lawyer Lauds Brutality Probe

S. McComas Hawken, who charged that James Harker was brutally beaten by First Precinct policemen to force him to admit commission of a felony, as attorney for the young man, and raised the third degree issue, yesterday described the action of Dr. Louis Reichelderfer and W. W. Bride, in asking for a Department of Justice investigation into the affair, as "courageous."

"I would like to express my gratification at the interest and prompt action on these charges taken by Dr. Reichelderfer and Mr. Bride," he declared.

"In asking for a Department of Justice inquiry into affairs of the Police Department, they have proven themselves conscientious and courageous public officials."

HAWKS CUTS TIME, ATLANTA TO CAPITAL

Mother, in Another Plane, Meets Him at Stops on Record Flight.

Capt. Frank Hawks, speed king of aviation, upheld his reputation yesterday when he made record-breaking hops between cities and stops on the route from Atlanta, Ga., to New York, preceding his mother, Mrs. Ida Mae Hawks, who was riding in an Eastern Air Transport plane, in his own "mystery ship," and was on hand at every stop to talk to her and see that she was standing the trip in good shape.

Hawks met his mother yesterday morning in Atlanta, where she had flown from Dallas, Tex. In Atlanta Lawrence Richey, presidential secretary, joined Hawks in his plane and made the run to Washington with him.

While the regular time made between Washington and Richmond with an Eastern Air Transport plane is 55 minutes, Capt. Hawks made the flight in 30 minutes, having a 25-minute wait at the Washington Airport until his mother arrived. Stops between which records were made yesterday included Atlanta, Spartansburg, Charlotte, Greensboro, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York. The fast flights were made purely for his own amusement, Capt. Hawks said when he landed in the Capital.

Richey was returning to Washington from a vacation fishing trip in Panama, and he related several stories of unusual piscatorial exploits to Hawks while the two were flying over the country to the Capital. According to his own "fish" tale, which was augmented by a "diplomatic passport" made by Panama Minister Roy Damia, bearing a picture of the catch, he caught two 10-foot sailfish three days after leaving the White House.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Capt. Frank Hawks, completing a flight from Atlanta late today, brought in another record. He covered the last lap of his trip from Camden, N. J., to Newark in 21 minutes, 2 minutes better than the existing speed record between the two cities.

Stopping at six cities, Capt. Hawks traversed the 803 miles from Atlanta in 4 hours and 8 minutes' flying time.

New Mining Equipment Is Bought for Virginia

Richmond, Va., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—A United States Bureau of Census report released here today showed that Virginia mines and quarries in the course of 1929 operations purchased equipment costing $1,143,000, exclusive of the expense incurred in installation, repairs and parts.

In the same year, mines and quarries in the State consumed 4,719 tons of anthracite coal, 84,603 tons of bituminous coal, 2,924 tons of coke, 56,216 gallons of fuel oils, including crude oil and gas oil, 213,962 gallons of gasoline and kerosene, 99,428,000 kailwatt hours of electric energy purchased, and 2,096,000 generated kilowatt hours of electric energy.

New York Officer Asks Mandamus

Major Charges Director of Veterans' Bureau Will Not Retire Him.

A writ of mandamus to compel the director of the Veterans Bureau to restore his name to the list of retired officers under the emergency officers' retirement act was asked for in the District Supreme Court yesterday by William D. June, of New York City.

Mr. June declared the director had arbitrarily reconsidered the matter of his retirement under the act and had removed his name.

He said that he was discharged from the service as a major of Infantry and that he later accepted a commission as a major in the Quartermaster's Corps, from which he was retired with the grade of lieutenant colonel. Attorneys Herbert S. Ward and Robert H. McNeill filed the suit.

Third Degree Barred, Amenities May Rule

By JOHN J. DALY

IT looks now as if the police stations of the country are to be made safe for democracy.

At last, policemen accused of misconduct are to be deprived of the benefits of police trial boards.

Trial of policemen by policemen is like a physician trying to cure himself.

The worst thing that can happen to a policeman being tried by another policeman is a severe reprimand. They are mighty kind to each other, these minions of the law; but pity the poor devil who falls into their clutches when they are in a playful mood, ready with rubber hose and Spanish water cure to administer the Third Degree.

The time has come, many good people believe, when the Third Degree must be stamped out—when the police stations of the land must conform to the laws they are pledged to uphold. It may, of course, make life rather dull and prosaic arpund the precincts, with only a round of roodles now and then, and no more rowdy-dowdyism.

IN the long run, though, things will right themselves. The policemen, ingenious men all, will find other pleasurable pastimes. At first, naturally, they will feel that something has gone out of their lives; that they have lost an old friend; that life itself is not worth living.

It may be that, for want of something else to do, they will start in beating each other up, hauling and mauling one another around the backyard of the station house; or that the captain, coming in some morning, will rap the first lieutenant over the head with a blackjack, the lieutenant, in turn, passing the compliments along to the desk sergeant, by way of a blow behind the ear with a short length of lead pipe. Then the privates will have at it, beginning with the honor men and passing the fun down to the humblest rookie.

Life being what it is, however, these things will come to an end, and in their stead a great calm and quietude will steal over the precincts; the day when the pummeling of policemen, at their play, will hold no charm. Then will come the great desideratum which the Nation craves.

One fine day the captain of a police precinct will walk nonchalantly into a huge furnishing house and order some up-to-date modernistic drawing room patterns, easy chairs, occasional chairs, nests of tables, rare bric-a-brac, huge upholstered divans and sofas—everything for the complete drawing room.

THEN, with the transformation of the police station—from an abattoir to a boudoir—after the diplomatic fashion, will come all the niceties of civilization—afternoon tea, white spats, and smart repartee instead of the rap. The third degrees will have passed—gone, forgotten, into the limbo of unworthy things.

Instead of a gunman being dragged through the station house door, pitched head-foremost into a cell, pounced upon by ten or a dozen angry bulls, beaten into unconsciousness—and afterwards made to sign a confession of guilt, he will be met at the door by a butler, he and his high-powered attorney, ushered into the ante-room, his card sent in to the police captain, and then, after a wait of only a few minutes, that dignitary will go out to receive his guests.

They do these things much better in the Orient; but America is coming around, rather fast, to the point where etiquette must be observed, even in police stations.

lent" and criticized the appointment of Walter S. Gifford as chairman of President Hoover's unemployment relief committee. He asserted "big business could never hope to solve unemployment."

The disorder during adoption of the platform was precipitated when Dr. Samuel W. Irwin, of Leesville, La., refused to leave the floor on order of Acting Chairman M. B. Hartranst, of Los Angeles, Calif.

While shouts of "Throw him out," sounded from one section and cries of "Hear him" came from another, several men attempted to eject Irwin. He broke away before reaching the door, and returned to the rostrum.

Planks in the platform call for a five-year moratorium on all mortgages and interest-bearing debts; a revision of the country's monetary system through free coinage of silver as "coordinate money" with paper as currency, and not as redemption money; public ownership of all utilities; freedom from taxation, which would be made up from profits on the utilities, and settlement of controversial issues through referenda.

Maniac Is Killed After Wild Chase

Chicagoan Slashes Police With Hacthet as Auto Imperils Crowds.

Chicago, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—A maniacal motorist endangered scores of lives and attacked two policemen with a hatchet today before he was shot to death. Cards in the man's pockets indicated that he was H. B. Young, a Franklin Park, Ill., railroad clerk.

A wild 5-mile chase started at Niles, Northwest suburb, when highway Policeman Frank Stankowitz tried to arrest the man for zigzagging across the street. The motorist first tried to run over the motorcycle officer and then sped away.

Policeman Fred Kordes jumped on the rear of Stankowitz's motorcycle. The man stopped and ran at the policemen, swinging a hatchet and shouting curses. After slashing Stankowitz's hands, he jumped back in his car and drove on furiously.

Meanwhile, Stankowitz had jumped on the running board and when the motorist chopped at his hands Stankowitz climbed to the top of the car. Another motorist forcing him to the curb, the man began chasing Stankowitz, shouting that he "hated coppers." Officer Kordes, who had commandeered an automobile after the motorcycle was wrecked, arrived and killed the man.

MEXICAN DEPUTIES EXPELLED BY BLOC

Action Follows Charge That Supporters of Governor Prepared Ambush.

Mexico City, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Four deputies from Jalisco, all supporters of Gov. Ignacio de la Mora, and one of them his brother, were expelled from the majority bloc of the chamber today upon presentation of charges that last night's shooting affray, in which one deputy was killed and two were wounded, was a result of an ambush by the governor's friends.

A motion was also presented to lift the congressional immunity of the accused deputies so they could be tried on the charges, but a formal meeting of the chamber will be necessary to pass upon this proposal.

The four deputies who were expelled are Esteban Garcia de Alba, Heliodoro de la Mora, brother of the governor; Amado Fuentes and Angel Ladron de Gfievara.

Deputy Manuel H. Ruiz, friend of the governor, who was killed last night, was buried this evening. Gen. Sebastian Allende, deputy from Jalisco and head of the group seeking to oust the governor, is expected to recover from bullet wounds he received. He underwent an operation today. Gen. Allende said he was shot from the door of the chamber by a man he recognized as the chauffeur for another deputy from Jalisco.

Allende and others charged that the supporters of the governor prepared an ambush against the group that was seeking to oust the executive on charges of corruption. The wounded general declared most of the shooting was done by gunmen and not by members of the chamber. He said the gunmen entered from the street and started firing, whereupon the deputies also drew guns and entered the fray.

Supporters of Gov. de la Mora denied these charges today and blamed his enemies for starting the battle.

Another charge being investigated is that pistols were distributed to Jalisco deputies in a downtown hotel before the session last night.

Gen. Allende is 38 years old and was mentioned as a possible successor to Gov. de la Mora in case the latter is ousted.

Ecuador Will Nominate Candidates for President

Quito, Ecuador, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—An official call for a presidential election to be held within two months will be issued next week, it was announced today. The victorious candidate would assume office in August, 1932.

Provisional President Luis Larrea Alba, who became head of the government this week when President Isidro Ayora resigned, announced the following men for his new cabinet:

Minister of war, Col. Jose Antonio Gomez Gonzalez; foreign relations, Modesto Larrea Jijon; instruction, Dr. Angel Modest Pardes; agriculture, Dr. Andres Cordova. Larrea Alba has assumed the treasury portfolio himself, and a minister of interior has not yet been named.

Mob Asks Dissolution Of Chilean Congress

Santiago, Chile, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—A mob of 1,000 persons stormed the doors of the Congressional Building today, demanding dissolution of both chambers, but guards turned them back.

The mob trampled over the grounds, destroying the benches and everything else they could seize. Leaders of the demonstration said Congress should be dissolved at once because it was part of the deposed Ibanez regime.

Vice President Trucco was quoted by the newspaper El Imparcial as saying Congress will be dissolved only by constitutional means.

Swiss Aviatrix and Two Companions Die in Crash

Marayes, Argentina, Aug. 26 (A.P.). Sudden death ended the career of Mrs. Myriam Stafford, beautiful Swiss aviatrix and former motion picture actress, today as the plane in which she was on a flying tour of Argentina crashed near this desolate mountain station.

The crash also cost the lives of her mechanic, Luis Fuchs, and an unidentified man who, it was thought, might have been a passenger or perhaps a laborer on whom the plane fell. The third body was found in the wreckage.

Physician's Presence Protested.

Mexico City, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—A thousand students and many others marched to the department of interior offices today in protest against the Argentine physician, Dr. Pedro Gomez Llueco, being permitted to practice here. The doctor is known for a method of healing which he calls "simpatico terapia."

Chilean Fuel Law Approved.

Santiago, Chile, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—Vice President Trucco today approved a law which provides that 10 per cent of national fuels, such as alcohol, be mixed with gasoline. Pure gasoline in cans or drums must be imported under duty up to 45 pesos per 100 pounds.

Sale of Newspapers Favored.

Santiago, Chile, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—The Chamber of Deputies today approved a bill providing for sale of the newspapers La Nacion and Los Tiempos, operated by the deposed Ibanez government, to employes of the papers who received salaries of less than 2,500 pesos monthly.

Cruchaga to Serve Without Pay.

4 AMERICANS HELD IN CUBAN RUM QUIZ

Men Claim to Be Aviators, but Check Here Fails; Face Deportation.

Havana, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—The American Embassy was advised today that four Americans who were arrested at Camaguey yesterday and brought here on suspicion of having been connected with the rebel expeditionary force which was defeated at Gibara last week have records as international rumrunners.

It was reported tonight on good authority they would probably be deported from Cuba.

The four gave their names as Isador Miller, New York; James Russo, Brooklyn; George Fraser, Boston, and Arthur Walters, no address. First they told authorities they were American aviators on vacation. The Army Air Corps at Washington was queried, but no record of the men having served in the Army Air Corps could be found.

The State Department became interested and a further check was made.

Cuba has a treaty with the United States on liquor smuggling. The four were held on new charges tonight.

Troops continued today to occupy points in Oriente and Santa Clara Provinces, but the tension and unrest, which flared a week ago into bloody clashes between insurgents and soldiers, was noticeably diminishing.

Fourteen rebels who surrendered at Velazco, Oriente, yesterday, were brought to Havana today and placed in Cabana Fortress, together with nearly 200 others, including Gen. Mario G. Menocal and Col. Carlos Mendieta, insurgent chiefs.

NAVY BRIDE'S DEATH IS STUDIED BY BOARD

Court-Martial Held Possible for Officers Involved in Drinking Party.

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 26 (A.P.). Possible court martial action against naval officers involved in a hotel drinking party, which ended in the death of Mrs. Daisy Price, tonight hinged upon action of a board of inquiry which convened today aboard the airplane carrier Lexington.

Mrs. Price, wife of Lieut. Comdr. George D. Price, attached to the Lexington, fell to her death Sunday night from a window of her hotel apartment. Commander Price, at an inquest, testified he believed his wife died while retreating from a man's advances.

Whether she jumped or fell has not been determined. A coroner's jury yesterday found she came to her death in a manner unknown to the jury.

Several civilians and Navy officers and their wives, who figured in the party, were interrogated at the Navy hearing, which was secret. Burton Templeton, guest at the hotel, who saw Mrs. Price, clad in pajamas, plunge through a fourth floor window, followed, he said, by a chair and a bottle, also was called.

After the hearing is completed the Navy board will forward a recommendation to Washington, where action, if any, will be taken.

Mrs. Price was married last July 7 at Coranado, Calif. Her body was taken to Charleston, W. Va., where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Beury, live.

District Attorney Matthew Brady said this afternoon he would ask the county grand jury to investigate Mrs. Price's death.

MEXICANS EXPLAIN GOLD BASIS CHANGE

Embassy Here Points Out Act Considers Yellow Metal as Commodity.

Continuance of the Mexican gold standard on the basis of gold as a commodity and not as a circulating medium is what is contemplated under the new Mexican monetary law, the Mexican Embassy announced last night.

In a "plain statement" made public here, the embassy declared it sought to correct "the erroneous interpretations that some of the reports recently published in the press of this country give to the new monetary law."

The law provides for monetary reserves in gold, either currency or bars, or in silver bars or currency considered at the commercial value of the silver.

The act will result in withdrawal of all gold pesos from circulation, it was said. The silver peso will become the unit of the monetary system with the legal standard or equivalent of 0.75 centigrams of pure gold for each peso.

"Consequently," read the statement, "the coinage of gold has been suspended, and, therefore, the exportation and importation of gold either in bars or currency is free. Silver is legal tender for unlimited amounts. In order that there shall be no inflation of the currency, further silver coinage is strictly prohibited, the monetary stock being limited strictly to the silver currency now in circulation."

For all the financial operations derived from the enaction of the new monetary law, which will be something similar to those performed by the Federal Reserve Banks of the United States—the Bank of Mexico will assume the functions of the central bank of the Nation, authorized to issue bank notes and rediscount commercial paper. The Bank of Mexico thus organized will be intrusted with the monetary reserves.

Carried Gun, Given 30 Days.

Pleading guilty to a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, Clarence B. Ashton, Negro, was sentenced to 30 days in jail yesterday in Police Court. Police said the man attempted to throw away an ancient revolver when they approached him while he was "arguing" with a girl near his home.

When Washington Was Younger—No. 26

TWO days after the Johnstown, Pa., flood the Potomac River, as the result of heavy rains, overflowed its banks and turned Washington into a city of confusion.

As this picture shows, the overflow from the Potomac inundated the heart of the National Capital and it was possible for citizens to sail in boats along a great portion of Pennsylvania avenue to the foot of Capitol Hill.

Miss Mabel E. Crissey, of 1426 Massachusetts avenue northwest, who loaned this picture to The Post, recalls negotiating the avenue from the Capitol to the Treasury in a rowboat. A five-pound carp was caught in the women's dressing room of the old Pennsylvania avenue railroad station, she said.

The Potomac commenced rising shortly after midnight Saturday, June 1, 1889, the day after the Johnstown flood, and water reached as far as Sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue early in the morning of the following day. All streets transversing Pennsylvania avenue were flooded.

The Baltimore & Ohio Depot became accessible only by boat, and communication with South Washington was entirely cut off. The Long Bridge draw was damaged, preventing trains from traveling south. The waterfront from Little Falls to Free Bridge was described in The Post as "a scene of wild devastation." K Street Bridge was almost swept away, Center Market was converted into an island.

ROTHSTEIN COMRADE STABBED IN BATTLE

Girl Companion Is Held After Card-Game Rout Which Killed Storeman.

New York, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Figures in two of New York's most spectacular murder mysteries were involved today in a stabbing that followed a period of nearly 48 hours without sensational crime in the city.

The victim of the knife attack was "Tough Willie" McCabe, gambler, Broadway habitue and bodyguard to the late Arnold Rothstein, whose murder after a $300,000 card game never has been solved.

With McCabe when he was wounded in a night club, after a battle with fists and bottles, was Hilda Ferguson, who appeared in the "Follies" for seven years and was a roommate of "Dot" King, beautiful artist's model whose slaying eight years ago still remains one of Broadway's most perplexing death enigmas.

Police tried for hours to get a clear, comprehensive account of what had happened in the night club and when they still were not sure late today who McCabe's attacker had been, they held Miss Ferguson in $5,000 bail as a material witness. She was jailed when unable to give bond.

Officials said they were convinced the dancer knew more than she told them and could name the stabber if she cared to do so.

McCabe gave his name as John Mahoney when admitted to a hospital with serious wounds. Later he admitted he was the "Tough Willie," who was hunted for weeks in the Rothstein case and finally appeared to deny he had taken part in the high-stakes gambling that preceded the slaying of his employer.

The GIRL About Town

THIS time the diplomatic accident shoe is on the other foot. Dashing Andre Cattual, of the Egyption Legation, was in a collision with a car driven by a woman, and apparently it was not his fault. It is getting so that neither a diplomat's hooch nor his life is safe on these streets. How can we maintain the entente cordiale with other countries if our hijackers and motorists are not more careful?

• • • •

Cynthia and I motored out to the Republican women's garden party. You'd be surprised to see how many Republicans there are left in town. They must be saving their vacation money to help out with the relief funds. Saw blue-eyed Mrs. Ellis Yost, an able and attractive woman, even though she turns down her glass when the cocktail shaker goes the rounds. Caught a glimpse of Mrs. Frank Mondell, denying that Frank would reenter the political game. Wonder if Mrs. Harvey Wiley's presence means the National Woman's Party is going Republican again?

• • • •

Mildred and Victoria Tytus have asked me to Tyringham for a week-end. I'm going, if I can find a becoming Eugenie hat. It's a hard task to find such a lid.

Reciprocity is all the rage just now in notes being exchanged between fond mammas of debutantes. I have seen some of them. A diplomat might envy the language in them. They all mean the same old thing: "You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours;" "You entertain for my daughter and I'll give you a tea;" "Subscribe for my charity and put me down for a box at your charity ball;" "Help me put over my debutante daughter and hubby will extend those notes of Henry's."

Some of our crowd motored to Webley for dinner with Mrs. Harold Walker and Evelyn Saturday night. The next morning Alonsita was up with the cock's crow and about her place. Her turkeys are the wonder of the Eastern Shore; and the 200-year-old mansion is lovely! The Walkers have a private beach, miles long, plenty of horses for Evelyn to ride, motor boats and all the comforts of the city, with the fun of the country.

They enjoy themselves and let society beat a path to their doors. Two years ago Evelyn was presented at the Court of St. James and was the toast of London town for her blonde beauty.

20 KILLED, 120 HURT IN REVOLT AT LISBON

to the government, and he and his forces were imprisoned.

The minister of interior, Lopes Matheus, then went to the barracks of the Third Artillery, where he released the imprisoned officers, who put themselves at the disposition of the dictatorship and congratulated the minister on repressing the revolt, which, they said, had dishonored the whole army.

At the same time the trouble was going on at the artillery barracks some officers of the air force at Alverca revolted. They were surrounded by government troops rushed from Lisbon and surrendered. Two airplanes, however, succeeded in taking off and one of them threw two bombs which killed two women near Almada. The other was forced down at Alentejo.

The fleet remained faithful to the government. Naval maneuvers have been going on and the authorities saw no reason for recalling the fleet to the capital.

Shops were closed today, but residents of Lisbon continued walking about the streets, although some thoroughfares in the zone of fire were barred. Complete order reigned tonight throughout the country.

Government officials said several Communists were among the civilians who made the original assault on the artillery barracks.

Madrid, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—The ministry of interior announced late tonight that two Portuguese military airplanes containing Portuguese revolutionists had landed at Huelva. Minister of Interior Maura telegraphed the Governor of Huelva not to permit the fliers to leave until the motive for their landing had been clarified by an investigation.

A third Portuguese plane was reported to have landed at Tablada Airport at Seville with a civilian pilot and a military mechanic. The plane was punctured with numerous bullet holes, but the occupants were unhurt. They were not permitted to leave Seville, however.

After the short-lived Spanish revolt at Custroviendos last December Maj. Ramon Franco and other Republican aviators escaped to Portugal.

U. S. LINES SOUGHT IN NEW HIGH OFFER

New York Interests Increase Their Bid to $3,500,000; Charge Preference.

(Associated Press.)

A new high bid for the United States Lines was made yesterday by the International Mercantile Marine-Roosevelt Steamship Co. on condition it be granted the same terms as Paul W. Chapman, of New York, the present operator, who is seeking to retain the lines.

In an open hearing before the Shipping Board, called at his own request, P. A. S. Franklin, of New York, president of the I. M. M.-Roosevelt Co., strongly protested what he termed the granting of "preferential rights" to Chapman and his West Coast backers, R. Stanley Dollar and Kenneth D. Dawson.

He said the Chapman interests had been allowed to make modifications in their offer after bids had been opened. As "modified," he said, it would permit Chapman to operate the Leviathan only five trips a year and at their discretion to use two new ships in the transpacific or intercoastal service instead of the North Atlantic.

Under these terms Franklin proposed to increase his company's bid from $3,000,000 to $3,500,000. The offer was received by Chairman T. V. O'Connor without comment. It tops the Chapman bid by $329,100.

O'Connor indicated that actual disposal of the lines would not take place for several days. He plans to confer again with the Chapman interests. Franklin secured from O'Connor the assurance that he would be notified before the lines are awarded.

Although following the example of the Chapman group in bidding on a proposal calling for a minimum of five sailings a year for the Leviathan, Franklin said he "would like to see her run ten months of the year."

He said the limit of five trips would result in dropping numerous employes.

Franklin also said his company, in preparing its offer, had been denied access to the books of the lines and had been forced to bid without knowing their financial status, although this was well known to the Chapman group.

M'DONALD LOSES SUPPORT OF LABOR ORGANIZATIONS

it is said, in pushing through laws required to meet the emergency.

Before today's meeting of the cabinet Mr. MacDonald sent personal letters to all Labor members of Parliament defending in vigorous language the steps he had taken to deal with the national crisis.

He urged them to "think over the situation without prejudice and passion" before reaching a decision on whether to support the new government or go into the opposition.

Swift Measures Urged.

"If our financial stability is endangered and a run is made on our financial resources, the consequences would be too terrible to envisage," he wrote.

"This is no time for considering blame. Swift measures must be taken to avert a crisis.

"A crisis was approaching with rapid strides. Latterly it had become a question of hours and shelter had to be found immediately. We hope what was done yesterday (the formation of the national government) will prevent a crisis."

Labor's bludgeons are expected to be used most on Mr. MacDonald and Dominions Secretary J. H. Thomas, although Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden, who also followed the prime minister into the national cabinet, may be included in the blacklist.

Both the prime minister and Mr. Thomas may be read out of the party, but, nevertheless, it is expected they will continue in their cabinet posts.

The line-up of the Labor battalions to smite their so-called "traitorous" leaders is continuing at a rapid pace. Tomorrow the Trades Union Congress General Council, the consultative committee of the Parliamentary Labor party and the Labor party executive will meet to consider further their plans of warfare.

At this meeting sentence is expected to be passed on the prime minister and Mr. Thomas, and the Parliamentary Labor party will constitute itself the official opposition to the national government. It follows almost automatically that Mr. MacDonald will cease to be the party leader and in all probability he will be succeeded by Arthur Henderson, who was his foreign secretary in the Labor cabinet.

Ordinarily the dethroning of Mr. MacDonald by his own party would mean he would have to resign as prime minister, but this rule will not apply in the present circumstances and he will continue as head of the government until the present emergency cabinet decides the critical situation is under control and resigns.

After that it is planned to dissolve Parliament and all parties will resume their previous positions in a national election.

King Returns to Scotland.

King George left by special train tonight for Balmoral, Scotland, to resume his interrupted holiday. This was taken as an indication that the situation was well in hand, as it had been given out previously that his majesty would remain in London until the new government was ready to deal with the crisis.

In a letter to the executive committee of the Labor party at Derby, of which borough he is one of the parliamentary representatives, J. H. Thomas today defended his action in following Prime Minister MacDonald and joining the national government.

"I know my action will be misunderstood by many," he said. I knew full well I should be subjected to criticism and abuse, but I also knew the nation's interest, which is greater than that of any individual or party, was at stake."

NEW YORK PROBERS WARNED OF 'LESSON'

Tammany Tells Roosevelt and Seabury Body to Mind Own Affairs.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Tammany today warned Gov. Roosevelt and the Seabury investigating committee that "those who have tried to probe into affairs that didn't concern them • • • will receive a lesson that will not soon be forgotten."

But the Tammany warning, voiced by Senator John J. Dunnigan, Democratic leader, did not alter the party line-up in the Legislature. The special session of that body passed to final reading two bills designed to strengthen the inquiry into the New York City administration. The vote in both houses was on party lines.

The bills will be sent to the governor tomorrow, and the way will be open for Roosevelt's unemployment relief message on Friday. The special session convened yesterday.

Promises Corruption Expose.

Dunnigan, who has been the spokesman for the New York City Democratic organization in its fight against the legislative investigation into Tammany office holders, will reveal tomorrow, he said, detailed instances of alleged corruption in up-State Republican communities.

Dunnigan unsuccessfully sought to have Gov. Roosevelt include an up-State clean-up plea in his message.

"Mark my words," said Dunnigan, shaking his finger at the silent majority side of the Senate, "just as our sturdy forefathers administered a rebuke to George III and his Hessians, just so will you see those who have tried to probe into affairs that didn't concern them—with the sole purpose of making political capital—receive a lesson that will not soon be forgotten."

Throughout his denunciation of the New York inquiry Dunnigan made no direct reference to Gov. Roosevelt, but there were passages that might have been pointed at the executive chamber on the floor below the legislative halls. Gov. Roosevelt is regarded as a likely candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency, and his relationship with Tammany may determine the possibility of his being able to take the State's 45 votes to next year's party convention.

Immunity Assured Witnesses.

The two bills that traveled through committees and the Legislature propelled by the Republican majority restore to the Hofstadter committee, of which Samuel Seabury is counsel, the power to grant immunity to witnesses who will relate their part in questionable practices. The Court of Appeals held the committee had illegally received the power in a concurrent resolution creating the investigatory body.

The Assembly heard only one objection to the bills, Louis A. Cuvillier, New York Democrat, objecting that they were unconstitutional. The Republican speaker overruled him.

Gov. Roosevelt's unemployment relief plan, completed, is closely guarded. It will carry definite relief provisions, he said, requiring money. Increased taxation is likely, probably, some observers believe, in the upper brackets of the income taxes—above $10,000. Imposts on cigarettes and cosmetics have been mentioned as sources of the $25,000,000 needed.

Radium to Be Used To Find Ship Faults

Navy Has Strange 'Eye' to Seek Steel Cracks in New Warecraft.

A radium "eye," with which naval structural experts hope to locate defects in steel used in modern war craft, is being held in readiness for its strange service at the Naval Research Laboratories here.

The precious metal, which is carefully guarded in a leaden box, weighs just 485 milligrams. It was purchased for $30,000 after inspection brought to light cracks in the stern posts of new cruisers.

The so-called "eye," engineers say, will bring the defects to light before they are discernible under ordinary inspection. It is possible it may be tried out on the Houston, one of the group of defective cruisers, if superficial tests fail to disclose any cracks.

BERLIN REPARATIONS FUTURE LAID TO U.S.

Bruening Expecting Decisive Developments Before Next Congress.

Berlin, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—Chancellor Heinrich Bruening, urging greater international cooperation as the only solution to the world's economic ills, declared today that the future of German war reparations depended upon the United States.

In an interview the chancellor touched on a wide range of subjects closely connected with Germany's domestic and international position.

"The future of reparations," he said, "depends upon the United States. We would be impractical if we formed our opinion only from the German viewpoint. However, we expect decisive developments before Congress convenes in Washington in December."

In response to a query, Bruening praised the report of the committee, headed by Albert H. Wiggin, of New York, which met recently at Basle and indirectly recommended reparations readjustments.

"The report was good," he said. "It was clear, but it has been circumscribed on some important points."

"The economic crisis will continue and will assume even greater severity, but it must lead to world-wide restriction of production," Bruening, who has achieved international prominence by his courageous leadership in Germany's most critical post-war period, said.

Urges Lower Tariffs.

Bruening said Germany would do her utmost to aid improvement of political and economic conditions, especially with regard to France. He expressed belief that tariffs must be lower and said the proposed Austro-German customs union was a step in that direction. He predicted the "hardest winter in a century" for Germany, but expressed complete faith in the ability of the German people.

The smooth-shaven, thin-lipped chancellor smoked a cigar throughout the interview in his modest two-room quarters on the second floor of the old chancellery. His friends say he smokes as many as 20 cigars a day. Behind his outward placidity there were many signs of Bruening's vibrant personality, his desire for iron discipline, which is a relic of the days when he commanded a machine gun company in the trenches and of his capability in time of crisis.

"I believe the only solution to the economic problem is the closest possible international cooperation aimed to check the downward trend of prices," he said. "The purchasing power of Germany and of Europe is sinking; markets are shrinking and a healthy price level for foreign products is unattainable. The development may continue, but it must lead to world-wide restriction of production.

Hard Winter Foreseen.

"This will be the hardest winter for Germany everywhere in a century. Even in the teeth of such a winter we are not pessimistic. As far as Germany is concerned we are optimistic, because the German plight after withdrawal of foreign capital and closing of banks revealed the self-control of the people when they are aware of the importance of calm. The Reich's budget is generally in orderly shape. Despite economies, however, we are incurring a rise in unemployment insurance expenditures because of increased numbers of jobless. There may be 7,000,000 unemployed this winter, but we are not sure."

Bruening repudiated suggestions that the cabinet is planning establishment of even a partial system of State capitalism. He also deprecated foreign efforts to make Germany's pocket battleship program an international issue.

"Germany is building at a slow pace strictly within the treaty provisions, gradually replacing obsolete warships," he said. "The Reich's government does not feel bound to any dates for construction of new naval units."

Nautilus Ready to Dive, 350 Miles From Pole

New York, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—The New York American today published a copyright dispatch radioed from the submarine Nautilus saying the Wilkins-Ellsworth transarctic expedition had reached a point 350 miles from the North Pole and was preparing to dive under the solid ice pack to the North.

At 2 p. m. (E. S. T.) today the submarine was only three miles from the heaving ice pack.

"higher-ups." Almost a dozen gamblers have been kidnaped in St. Louis during the past year by the "experts" who have received a small fortune from each of their victims.

Whether the "higher-ups" wanted only the ransom money or hoped by the kidnaping to "chisel" into the General News Bureau, were questions which bothered Chicago's racing fraternity.

The General News Bureau, partly owned by Lynch, operates leased wires the Nation over, supplying racing information to handbook makers.

Its annual profits are reported to be well over $1,000,000 net. Although Lynch himself once owned the largest strings of handbooks in Chicago, his business since he became connected with the bureau has been legitimate.

The General News Bureau first offered a reward of $25,000 after his disappearance became known, and then Lynch's associates appealed to Capone for aid. He demanded that Lynch be released on threats of "disaster" to his captors.

Order of Woodcock Bans Buying Liquor for Women

(Associated Press.)

The Federal Government will spend no more money "directly or indirectly to purchase liquor for women."

This was the order dispatched yesterday by Prohibition Director Woodcock to all dry law administrators, deputy administrators and special agents in charge, forbidding the employment of women as informers or "blinds" in speakeasy raids on the ground that their use in the past had "brought discredit upon the bureau and trouble to the individual agents."

At the same time Woodcock defended his action in answering a letter of protest from the Business and Professional Women's Council of Maryland charging the order was "discriminatory" and asking the Federal dry chief to "take a broader view of this matter and consider it from all sides."

He replied that the council's letter was "written under a misapprehension as to the facts."

Woodcock's ban upon feminine aids to dry agents followed charges by Representative Karch (Democrat), Illinois, that lewd women were employed in prohibition work in his State. In addition, a young girl had been arrested in Buffalo for intoxication after accompanying an agent in gathering evidence. The director's order follows in full:

"The use of any Federal funds to pay women for services in the purchase of liquor, directly or indirectly, is forbidden:

"No Federal funds will be used, directly or indirectly, to purchase liquor for women.

"Agents when seeking to purchase liquor for use as evidence will not be accompanied by women.

"This order should not be taken as a check upon initiative. It is issued to prevent abuses that have brought discredit upon the bureau and trouble to individual agents in the past.

"Intelligent effort upon a higher plane is bound to produce better results in the long run.

"I do not believe there is any problem in enforcement which you cannot solve within these restrictions. If there is such a problem, bring it to my attention by letter.

"I ask your cheerful and hearty compliance with the letter and spirit of this order."

The letter of protest against this action was written by Miss M. LeClare Peach, corresponding secretary of the Women's Council in Baltimore. She said her organization was "emphatically against your attitude toward the employment of women in prohibition enforcement work."

In his reply, Woodcock said about 1,000 "fine young women" were employed in the Prohibition Bureau as attorneys and clerks, and that this number was steadily increasing.

ROTARIANS PRESENT SHOW AT LUNCHEON

Cast of Four Stages Follies of 1931, Directed by W. L. Radcliffe.

Reviving "amateur night" performances of the past, the Washington Rotary Club, at its luncheon yesterday at the Willard Hotel, staged the "Washington Follies of 1931" with an all-star cast consisting of Bill McNally, Oscar Evans, Bert Nye and George O'Connor.

Acting President J. Harry Cunningham turned the meeting over to Past President William L. Radcliffe, who acted as master of ceremonies. He was aided by Frank Leetch, charged with the duty of manipulating "the hook."

The show started with a parody of an old-time political speech by Bill McNally. Oscar Evans, after trying vainly to talk upon "the present business depression," was ignominiously given the hook.

Bert Nye strolled onto the rostrum as a radio announcer, and sang a song about the Rotary secretary, burden of which was that "The president gets all the glory; the secretary gets all the knocks."

George O'Connor closed the program with "Little Tommy Murphy" and other song impersonations.

At conclusion a vote on the most popular performer was taken by judging the volume of applause. The master of ceremonies approached George O'Connor with the prize—a huge watermelon. However, his foot slipped, the melon broke to pieces on the floor and the meeting closed with each performer struggling for his share.

Archives Building Excavating Is Let

Ceremony Is to Mark Start of Job Scheduled to Take 60 Days.

Contract for excavating a site for the new Archives building, where the old Center Market once stood, was let yesterday by the Treasury Department. Simultaneously plans for a formal ceremony to mark inauguration of this phase of the government's building program were announced.

Jarboe & Houghton, Mechanicsville, Md., signed a contract with Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Perry K. Heath to do the excavating for $34,750. After official notice is served, the low bidding firm will have sixty days in which to complete the work.

Maj. Heath and other Treasury officials, together with officers of the contracting firm, will attend the ground-breaking. Details of the ceremony are to be worked out later. The Center Market site has been cleared of all debris preparatory to commencing work.

Ship Will Hunt Storm; Needed in Experiment

The Navy soon will send one of its ships out to sea "to look for a storm."

Heavy weather is needed to test experimental antirolling tanks installed aboard the Pensacola, one of the eight new cruisers found to roll sharply in a blow.

Since the alterations were completed a month ago, the Pensacola, now at Newport, R. I., has encountered nothing but calm seas.

Admiral W. R. Sexton, acting chief of naval operations, said yesterday the cruiser would be ordered to sea "to try to find some weather this side of Europe."

Berlin, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Dr. Heinrich Sahm, Mayor of Berlin, today voluntarily relinquished 20 per cent of his annual salary of 36,000 marks (about $8,500) to help his city's economic situation. His council of eighteen and all district chairmen followed his example.

Reductions in expenditures in the city's budget for the remainder of the current year have been made, the cuts aggregating more than 25,000,000 marks (about $6,000,000), chiefly under the administrative, educational and building heads.

"TOASTING" expels SHEEP-DIP BASE naturally (Black, biting, harsh irritant chemicals) present in every tobacco leaf

"They're out—so they can't be in!"

Every LUCKY STRIKE is made of the finest tobacco leaves the world can offer—the finest from Turkey—the finest from Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, Georgia and the Carolinas—the Cream of many Crops throughout the world. But all tobacco leaves, regardless of price and kind, as nature produces them, contain harsh irritants. LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—a process that mellows, that purifies, that includes the use of the modern Ultra Violet Ray—expels certain harsh irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds, who use them as a base in making sheep-dip*, as well as a powerful spraying solution for trees, flowers and shrubs—enough to permit the daily dipping of over 50,000 sheep or the daily spraying of many thousands of trees. Thus, you are sure these irritants, naturally present in all tobacco leaves, are not in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!"

No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

STORM MARS HOP BY EUROPEAN ACES

Fliers Are Forced Down on Way to Cleveland Races; Greeted by Hoover.

Cleveland, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Forced down in the airplane carrying them from Washington to the scene of the National Air Races, four of Europe's leading fliers arrived here tonight by train from Warren, Ohio. The plane was forced to descend there by rain and poor visibility.

The aviators reached here two hours late, but city officials and air race leaders were on hand to greet them. They had visited with President Hoover and other Washington officials, and came here at the invitation of the Government and air race officials to give daily flight exhibitions in their foreign-built planes during the races Saturday to September 7.

They are Flight Commander R. L. R. Atcherley, of England; Lieut. Col. Mario DeBernardi, of Italy; Capt. Boleslaw Orlinski, of Poland, and Maj. Alois Kubita, of Czechoslovakia. Ernst Udet, of Germany, who visited Washington with the group today, went to New York and planned to fly his own plane to Cleveland tomorrow.

Fliers Are Not Endangered.

The fliers were not endangered in their forced landing, and the Department of Commerce trimotored plane was not damaged, the pilot reported.

After an official reception, the visitors were guests at an informal dinner given by race officials.

Nationality groups of all the foreign fliers planned extensive entertainment for them.

Alford Williams, former Navy flying ace, who escorted the transport plane, landed his ship at Warren and, after seeing that the visitors were safely forwarded to Cleveland, stayed here to await better flying weather before continuing to Cleveland. Mrs. Williams, who was a passenger in the transport, went with the foreign fliers to Cleveland.

European Aces Given Welcome Here by Hoover

Five of the finest pilots of Europe, en route to the national air races in Cleveland, stopped off in Washington yesterday long enough to be received by the President and to be tendered a luncheon by the Washington Aero Club.

Assembled from five European nations by Lieut. Alford Williams, former Navy speed king, the group makes up one of the greatest international teams ever assembled to participate in the air races.

The visitors are Flight Commander Richard Atcherly, of England; Maj. Ernest Udet, of Germany; Lieut. Col. Mario de Bernardi, of Italy; Maj. Alois Kubita, of Czechoslovakia, and Capt. Boleslaw Orlinski, of Poland.

Are Met by Young.

Leaving New York City yesterday morning in a Department of Commerce plane placed at their disposal, the fliers arrived here shortly before noon. They were met at the Naval Air Station by Col. Clarence Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, who took them to the White House, where they were presented to President Hoover.

From the White House the officers went to the Willard, where the Washington Aero Club gave a luncheon in their honor, attended by locally prominent fliers and Government aviation officials.

Shortly after 2 o'clock the party again took off, this time for Cleveland, which was reached last night.

All Are Prominent.

Commander Atcherly is recognized as one of the world's best racing pilots, being a member of the British Schneider Cup Team. Col. de Bernardi, one of the senior pilots of the Italian Air Force, is in command of one group of planes which flew in formation to South America last fall. He holds many world's seaplane speed records. Major Udet was one of Germany's greatest aces in the war, with 62 planes officially credited to his record. He brings an insignia from a plane he shot down in France and will present it to the American pilot whom he fought, Walter Wannamaker, of Akron. Capt. Orlinski is known for his non-stop flight from Warsaw to Tokyo in 1926. Major Kubita is one of the greatest acrobatic pilots in Europe.

The entire group will participate in the National Air Races, blue-ribbon sporting event of aviation, which will start Saturday in Cleveland and continue for nine days.

Disabled Veterans Of Japan Use Prayer

Tokyo (U.P.).—Prayer has been added to the list of methods used by disabled veterans of the Russo-Japanese War, who demand life pensions. Twenty-five veterans, representing 15,000 disabled soldiers, chanted Buddhist prayers to the spirit of the late Emperor Mejii in front of the Mejii Shrine here, for four days, asking that the great ruler of the war period return and grant them justice.

TWO FORCED DOWN IN HANDICAP DERBY

Women Are First to Reach Amarillo in National Air Race.

Amarillo, Tex., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Two contestants in the Santa Monica-to-Cleveland Handicap Air Derby made forced landings between Roswell, N. Mex., and Amarillo today, and a third missed the field, but 52 fliers who left El Paso this morning were here for an overnight stop.

Ruth Stewart, of St. Louis, was forced down by motor trouble in a field near Roswell and did not arrive until late tonight. A broken stabilizer forced Mrs. C. E. Shankle, of Fort Sill, Okla., to land in a field a short distance from Amarillo, but she made repairs with a piece of barbed wire and was twenty-third to reach the local landing field.

Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell, of Long Beach, Calif., consistent leader in flying time, set the pace from Roswell to Amarillo, landing at 4:12:32. She flew the 200 miles from Roswell in 1 hour 8 minutes 32 seconds, for an average of more than 175 miles an hour.

Phoebe Omlie, of Memphis, who rated second at El Paso in score points, was second to arrive here, flying from Roswell in time of 1 hour 21 minutes 43 seconds.

W. E. Musgrave, jr., of San Francisco, was the first man to cross the finish line. His flying time of 1 hour 19 minutes 34 seconds was beaten by E. B. Christopher, of Chicago, who landed less than a minute later. Christopher's time was 1 hour 18 minutes 2 seconds.

DO-X Catches Stowaways Before Flight to Norfolk

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 26 (U.P.).—Two 20-year-old would-be stowaways were the big excitement on the Dornier air liner, DO-X during its 500-mile flight up the coast from Charleston, S. C., today.

The intended free passengers, Guy Perry, aeronautical engineering student at Clemson College, and Lewis Andrews, aviation mechanic, were discovered only a few minutes before the huge seaplane took off from Charleston at 7:30 a. m.

They said they went aboard the craft about 11 p. m. yesterday, hiding in its tail when they found all hands asleep. They smiled as they were put aboard a harbor boat to be returned to shore but could not hide their disappointment over loss of the trip.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—The DO-X, largest heavier-than-air liner in the world, rode at anchor in Hampton Roads tonight a short distance from the Naval Air Station, her tanks filled with fuel for the hop to New York tomorrow in completion of a four-continent flight begun more than a year ago.

Capt. Fritz W. Hammer, in command of the great flying boat, and officers and crew of the German craft, were guests of honor at a dinner given by the city.

The flight to New York will start at 7 o'clock, Eastern standard time, and Capt. Hammer expects to be over the metropolis by 11:30. The DO-X will fly over the city, circle the Statue of Liberty and land in the harbor.

The great flying ship came up the coast from Charleston this morning at a speed of approximately 100 miles an hour, most of the time little more than 50 feet from the sea. Passengers described the trip as delightful.

The DO-X came in over the naval station and circled over Norfolk and Portsmouth before dropping to her anchorage. After the passengers had departed a welcoming party went aboard to extend greetings to the officers and crew on behalf of the city.

A courtesy call on the National Capital may be made by the giant Dornier air liner DO-X.

The German Embassy has been asked by influential Germans in Washington to request the commander of the great flying boat to bring it to Washington and the same request has been carried directly to the commander of the plane, which rested at Norfolk, Va., last night, to take off this morning for New York.

King, Duce and Balbo See 900-Plane Show

Spezia, Italy, (Thursday) Aug. 27 (U.P.).—Italy's air force of 900 planes began aerial maneuvers at 2:20 a. m. today with a massed attack on Spezia. King Victor Emmanuel, Premier Mussolini and Air Minister Italo Balbo watched the maneuvers.

The antiaircraft forces flooded the skies with searchlights and sought to repel the attack. The maneuvers are calculated to test Italy's vulnerability to aerial attack.

CAPITAL TO GREET BOARDMAN AND AID

Turkey Fliers Coming Here Tomorrow to Receive City's Homage.

Russell M. Boardman and John Polando, Boston aviators who established a new long-distance record last month with their nonstop flight to Istanbul, will receive Washington's welcome tomorrow. After being received by President Hoover at the White House, they will be the guests of honor at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the Washington Hotel.

The famous team will arrive at Washington-Hoover airport shortly before noon in the black-and-gold monoplane Cape Cod, which took them to Turkey. They will be accompanied in another plane by Earl Boardman, John's brother, and John Price and Win Whitney, close friends of the fliers.

Among those on the reception committee are Ambassador Ahmet Muhtar of Turkey, Col. Clarence M. Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, and Paul Garber, curator of aeronautics at the Smithsonian Institution.

Police will escort the party to the Washington Hotel, where headquarters will be set up for the brief stay. Boardman and Polando will go from there to the White House to be received at 12:30 p. m. by the President. Col. Ewing will introduce them.

Luncheon in the roof garden of the Washington will follow. This will be open to the public.

The fliers and their party will take off before nightfall for Bellefonte, Pa., whence they will continue to Cleveland for the air races.

LINDBERGHS EAT ON IN JAPANESE QUAKE

was sun-burned. His nose looked as if it might start to peel momentarily.

The famous flier's wife said she was in need of rest and the ministrations of a hair-dresser after the rigors she experienced in becoming the first woman ever to fly the Pacific Ocean.

Despite their 29 days of dashing across Arctic wastes and of floating in the fog-draped Kurile Island chain, the colonel retained his good humor and his wife her characteristic graciousness.

"How," demanded an Oriental newspaper scribe, "about those raw fish they served you when you were forced down before you reached Nemuro?"

The colonel made a wry face.

"The only kind of fish I ever saw that I couldn't eat," he smiled. The vernacular press previously had described in detail how the Lindberghs relished the dish of chopped, raw fish, saturated with a pungent native sauce and plenty of horse-radish.

Their "vacation jaunt," Lindbergh added, had been just that, with exception of three trying days in the wilds of the Kuriles, which abound in volcanoes, polar bears and half-savage tribesmen. He said his forced landing there last week would have been fraught with danger had it not been for the Japanese steamer Shinshiru Maru, which hurried aid.

MOCK CLASHES TEST FRENCH AIR DEFENSE

Maneuvers at Nancy Held Most Imposing Since World War Days.

Nancy, France, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—A vital test of France's aerial defense along the eastern frontier was begun tonight, in the most imposing military airplane maneuvers since the World War.

Rushing in from the east under cover of darkness, an "enemy" fleet attacked the frontier city of Nancy while defense planes assembled to drive them off. A fleet of 200 craft participated in the maneuvers, directed by Gen. Bouchet.

The mock war campaign was of particular interest because new types of airplanes were tried out, and the giant "enemy" bombers which have been credited with power to wipe out cities by gas and bombs were tested for data which the air ministry is collecting on bomb squadrons. The maneuvers were not confined to the fighting forces. Since they were aimed at testing the air defense, which supplements the great fortifications France has built along the eastern frontier in the last ten years, the civilian population of the Nancy military area was asked to participate.

By request of the air minister, the population was prepared to extinguish all lights immediately upon receipt of a warning that the main attacking ships were approaching. A system of alarms has been arranged to permit the air commanders to check the time required to extinguish all lights, after the first raiding craft is detected by amplifying "ears" of the aviation corps.

Flying Broker Makes Fast Hop to New Orleans

New Orleans, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—James Goodwin Hall, fast flying New York broker, who brought his monoplane here today in 7 hours and 14 minutes flying time from New York, plans to leave for Fort Worth, Tex., Friday morning to continue from there to Los Angeles in search of new records.

His plan to return to New York today was interferred with by inclement weather and slight damage to his plane. Andre De Coppoet, his companion, plans to return to New York by train.

Alexandria Will Choose Police Chief Next Week

The vacant position of chief of the Police Department in Alexandria will be filled next week when the city manager and council will meet in an informal session and go over the 22 applications received.

Former Chief C. T. Goods, who, since his resignation from the force in 1923, has been employed as a railroad detective at Potomac Yards, is being boomed by many of the older residents of the city who point to his record of more than a decade as head of the department until the position was taken over by Paul Morton as director of public safety.

Plane Flushes Fugitive And Police Capture Him

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—An air plane aided in the capture of Roy Wrone, escaped Washington County prisoner near here today. A 5-mile automobile chase, punctuated by the rattle of machine gun firing, preceded the aerial search. Wrone was wounded slightly but escaped into a cornfield.

The plane piloted by George Heywood, was sent up at the request of Sheriff J. C. Tucker, of Washington County. It swooped low over the field, and the fugitive ran from his hiding place, surrendering to waiting officers.

STRAINING THE LAW.

Citizens who have tried to follow closely the activities of the Federal Farm Board are at a loss to understand on what authority it acquired 1,050,000 bags of coffee from Brazil in exchange for 25,000,000 bushels of American surplus wheat. It is well known that the board was granted broad powers by Congress. Nevertheless, the public is somewhat shocked to find it dealing in surplus Brazilian coffee.

This deal was handled through the board's Grain Stabilization Corporation. Under the agricultural marketing act the board may establish a stabilization corporation for any commodity, providing certain requirements are met. The purpose of such organizations is to provide for the orderly marketing of the commodity in question. The law provides that a corporation of this kind may: First, "act as a marketing agency for its stockholders or members in preparing, handling, storing, processing and merchandising for their account any quantity of the agricultural commodity or its food products;" second, "for the purpose of controlling any surplus in the commodity * * * may purchase, handle, store, process and merchandise, otherwise than for the account of its stockholders or members, any quantity of the agricultural commodity or its food products whether or not such commodity or products are acquired from its stockholders or members."

From this section of the law, according to Stanley Reed, counsel for the Farm Board, the grain corporation took its authority to barter for coffee in Brazil. In each case the law speaks of "the" commodity, meaning the commodity which the corporation was organized to deal in. Was the Grain Stabilization Corporation organized to buy coffee abroad and sell it on the American market? It sems impossible to read any such authority into the law.

Disquieting rumors are abroad that the Farm Board intends to make a number of such deals with foreign governments. Some one has suggested that the board trade a portion of its wheat for a few million pounds of Cuban sugar. Couldn't a barter arrangement be made with Great Britain for a year's supply of rubber? If the Farm Board through its stabilization corporations can deal in coffee, it can buy and sell all other commodities. It could enter into business in competition with any branch of merchandising.

Public opinion holds that the board made a mistake when it attempted to maintain prices for wheat and cotton by purchasing surplus stocks. When it dabbles in the coffee trade it sinks deeper into the mire. The board ought to be extricating itself from this muddle so that Government competition with business could be brought to an end. But instead it seems to be branching out into new fields where its authority is extremely questionable.

The American people will never tolerate control of agriculture by a Federal commission a la Soviet. In its efforts to dispose of surplus wheat and cotton without interfering with markets for the current crops the board deserves support. But when the board begins to pile up surpluses of crops which this country does not produce, it is time to call a halt and look into the question of its authority.

A FEDERAL INQUIRY.

At the instance of President Hoover a vigorous investigation is to be made by the Department of Justice as to the alleged use of third-degree methods by members of the Washington Police Department.

This investigation will almost certainly broaden into an inquiry into the workings of the local department. The method of selecting policemen is evidently in need of investigation, as well as the methods employed in extracting information from suspects. Too many ruffians have found their way into the force. The Police Trial Board has repeatedly condoned offenses by policemen who were shown to be deserving of severe punishment.

The faithful members of the Police Department are wronged when ruffians and criminals are permitted to join the force. Discredit attaches to the whole force, in the public mind, when criminal policemen are let off with reprimands and sent back to exercise authority over citizens. The Washington Police Department is one of the best in the country and must be maintained as such.

The trial of the officers charged with third-degree brutality will be conducted by civilians and not by members of the force. This is a wise procedure, in view of the attempt already made by certain police officers to justify the third degree on the ground that the suspect in question was guilty of crime. The guilt or innocence of a suspect is not now the question at issue, and in any event it is not for the police to convict a suspected person by terrorizing or torturing him.

Now that the Police Department is to be investigated, let the inquiry be searching, from top to bottom, in order that the department may be purged of its base material and its faithful members exonerated.

TAMMANY DECLARES WAR.

Tammany Hall has sounded the war cry and is sharpening its tomahawk. It declares war against Gov. Franklin Roosevelt, who is guilty of supporting a legislative committee which is investigating corruption in New York City.

War between Gov. Roosevelt and Tammany may have a decisive bearing upon the action of the Democratic party next year. Gov. Roosevelt, like Grover Cleveland, may be hailed throughout the country as a champion of good government because of Tammany's opposition, and the Democratic national convention may nominate him for President. On the other hand, Tammany may begin at once the work of undermining Roosevelt in New York State, in order to prevent him from obtaining the support of the State delegation in the national convention.

Some days ago The Post asked, "Where does Al Smith stand?" That question is still more pertinent now. Does Al Smith approve of Gov. Roosevelt's support of the investigation which Tammany opposes, or does he stand with Tammany? How does John J. Raskob stand? Upon the answer to this question may hinge the outcome of the next Democratic national convention, which in turn may determine the identity of the next President of the United States.

When Democrats fall out Republicans capture the offices. The feud between Tammany and Gov. Roosevelt seems to work to the advantage of President Hoover, by handicapping and perhaps eliminating the man who promised to be his opponent next year. But Democrats at large may not agree with this view. They may point to the victory achieved by Cleveland over Tammany, when Blaine lost New York. Republicans may retort that if Al Smith could not beat Hoover in New York City, even with Tammany's support, Gov. Roosevelt will not have the ghost of a chance to carry it against Tammany's opposition.

Democrats and Republicans alike would be glad to know where John J. Raskob and Al Smith stand in the matter of the feud between Tammany and Gov. Roosevelt.

LATIN-AMERICAN FINANCES.

Further declines in Latin-American bonds last week brought a shower of inquiries to bankers from security holders regarding the financial situation in these countries. Approximately $1,700,000,000 of American money has been lent to Latin-American governments. Of this sum 25.7 per cent went to Chile, Peru and Bolivia, which are in default. The majority of the governments, however, are continuing to meet their obligations, despite the universal depression.

The situation provides an opportunity for American bankers to do some effectual and constructive work for the benefit of Latin America and American bondholders. During prosperous periods in many of the southern republics loans were freely made without proper supervision and investigation by competing organizations; but cooperation, even now, will go far toward reconstructing financial stability.

It is the opinion of a number of financiers that these international loans would have been far better handled by syndicates that would have investigated the financial capacity of the borrowers and the purposes of the loans, correlating them under the direction of a common representative, or disbursing officer. This provision, coupled with the appointment of a reliable bank or group of banks to act as fiscal agent in the New York market, would have prevented the race between prominent firms which rushed to throw money into the hopper without reference to financial capacity, need or supervision of disbursement.

As many of these loans were handled by investment bankers who acted solely as brokers, their interest ceased when the bonds were marketed and their commissions received. The most reliable banks never recommend to their clientele any investment in which they themselves do not retain an interest. The reckless policy of encouraging governments to borrow more than they can repay and then unloading the bond issue upon the public has been thoroughly discredited. Had a sound and conservative policy been followed in Latin America current difficulties might have been avoided.

Many of the countries are able to service their outstanding obligations, but in some cases the burden may become so severe that it will mean the curtailment of expenditures for constructive purposes. Though much of the money loaned has been wastefully and unwisely expended, there are, nevertheless, many projects which entirely justify their initial capital outlay. These enterprises should be safeguarded.

It is suggested, therefore, that in many of the countries municipal and state loans might be better handled if refunded in the form of strictly national obligations. A syndicate of American bankers could be formed to administer the business of collection and to advance additional funds for interest payments where that becomes necessary. Such a body, whose business it would be to handle each problem in the light of the whole situation, could doubtless do much in the way of stabilizing Latin-American finance.

THE POLISH CORRIDOR.

European peace is based on Franco-German understanding, which is largely influenced by relations between Germany and France's eastern ally, Poland. The problem of the Polish corridor has proved a barrier to the friendship of these nations. Even members of the extreme left wing of Germany are unwilling to accept the Reich's eastern frontier as permanent, while Poland, on the other hand, shows no inclination to revise the line. By the present boundary East Prussia is cut off from the Reich, while a return of the corridor to Germany would remove Poland's access to the sea.

The author of "Pan-Europe," Count Coudenhove-Kalergi, in an effort to solve this problem, has evolved an ingenious scheme. He suggests that the free City of Danzig and the eastern half of the corridor, which is preponderantly German, should revert to the Reich. The western part, together with Gdynia, should be retained by Poland, while the mouth of the Vistula would be internationalized. As East Prussia would still be cut off from Germany, he proposes a connection by means of a railway and an automobile road across the Polish strip.

This construction would be very costly, as the rail lines would require long stretches of tunnels. To protect the route the count suggests a minority treaty, an economic agreement and a friendship pact, whereby each country would pledge neutrality in case the other is attacked by a third party. Despite Coudenhove-Kalergi's good intentions, his plan, like most compromises, was stormily denounced in the press of both nations.

It is doubtful that the return of Danzig without the restoration of its hinterland would do more than disturb the economic life of the city. The communication lines connecting East Prussia with Germany would provide little security, for a few soldiers could at any time halt communication. Until good will obtains between the two countries it is improbable that any such scheme, no matter how technically ingenious, can solve the corridor problem.

BRITAIN'S MILLSTONE

From the New York Herald Tribune.

The dole is, without a question, one of the important factors for the British financial emergency, which is having its dramatic climax in a change of government and a realignment of political forces reminiscent of war days. But for the drain of the dole on the treasury and the social, political and economic impasse for which it is to blame it is hard to believe that the present situation requiring a coalition ministry would have arisen. One may argue that the current crisis is much to be preferred to the revolution which the original imposition of the dole is supposed to have averted. Nevertheless, there is a lesson in the consequences of the British experiment of vital import to this Nation, already being importuned from various quarters to try compulsory unemployment insurance.

On paper there are plausible arguments for this method of meeting the unemployment problem. But, looking back over British experience, one is struck with the inevitability of its degeneration into the system which now hangs like a millstone about John Bull's neck. In the first place, it is extremely unlikely that, with the vicissitudes of modern industry and commerce and our fragmentary knowledge of the factors governing them, a satisfactory actuarial basis for unemployment insurance can be established which would withstand the shock of major emergencies. Certainly the British failed miserably in this respect. Secondly, once the state sets the precedent of its responsibility for the support of the unemployed, even though only as a contributor pro rata to a compulsory insurance fund, it finds itself politically obliged to step in with the taxpayer's money whenever the demands on the fund threaten its exhaustion. The British government discovered this more than ten years ago. In the meantime it has not only failed in every attempt to withdraw its emergency support, but it has been obliged to increase it until at last accounts it was carrying 80 per cent of the huge burden of unemployment relief.

The effect has been demoralizing not only to public finances, but to the social and political conscience of the British people. The dole has persuaded millions that the government owes them a living; it has, by discouraging the workers' initiative in seeking new employment, interfered seriously with the fluidity of labor, and it has retarded industrial recovery. And if this outgrowth of compulsory unemployment insurance has done this in Great Britain, with its deep-rooted traditions of individuality and self-reliance and its simpler and more responsive political structure, we can be sure that like consequences would follow our own entry on the same path.

The state, of course, can not maintain a hands-off policy with private industry in partial collapse and millions of workers tramping the streets. To the best of its ability it must come to their rescue, but with measures which preserve its integrity and theirs. Gov. Roosevelt is on the point of proposing to a special session of the Legislature a program of unemployment relief which, it is believed, will call for an outlay of something like $25,000,000 to be raised by emergency taxation. There can be no quarrel with such a program providing the money is devoted not to supporting the unemployed in idleness, but to creating employment for them or helping them to find it. Work is the only form of insurance against unemployment with which the state should concern itself.

LIFETIME

It isn't any trouble for the bird to learn to fly,
The dog picks up its instinct in the twinkling of an eye,
But life has countless lessons and endless blows to give
Before a man can truly say that he has learned to live.

The lifetime of a bird is brief; give dogs their food and drink,
They do not ever lie awake at night to plan and think.
But man has endless problems to be solved as best he can
And he must suffer many woes to learn to be a man.

He follows this and follows that to find his folly out,
In search of peace and pleasure long he gropes his way about.
His blunders and his failures cause him suffering and distress,
For age discovers truths to him which youth could never guess.

He slowly learns that character by strength of will is made.
He has to teach himself to stand when others flee afraid.
So much there is that puzzles man at every bend and turn
That seventy years are not enough for all he wants to learn.

He reads, he thinks, experiments builds first his hope on gold
To find at last that wealth and fame bring little he can hold,
And dwelling on the lasting joys which friendship had to give
He sighs to think that he must die just when he'd learned to live.

The Man Who Advises You to Keep Poor Land Is One Who Has Fertilizer to Sell.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THIS is addressed to the man who is having a hard time.

It is written by one who knows what it means to be jobless, broke and hungry, and therefore hates injustice, tyranny, and the brutal arrogance of those who abuse authority.

Do you realize that a man's beliefs enslave him or make him free?

Since the beginning of recorded history, men have been enslaved by masters who said to them: "You must not think. Your duty is to labor and obey while we do the thinking."

Men had their first taste of liberty when they began to think for themselves and doubt the things their masters wished them to believe.

But as right thinking makes men free, so wrong thinking dooms them to slavery.

How do you know that you are thinking right?

It is true that a man's beliefs often are made by his poverty or wealth, but the opposite is equally true.

A man's poverty or wealth frequently is the result of his beliefs.

To realize that is to take the first step on the road to success and freedom.

If you were a farmer and your methods kept you poor, while your neighbor, cultivating the same kind of soil by a different method, produced great crops and made himself rich, would it not occur to you that perhaps your methods were wrong?

If you should travel one road while a fellow traveler followed another, and night found you foot-sore and weary while he remained fresh and unbruised, would it not occur to you that perhaps the difference in the roads had some connection with the difference in your conditions?

Then why does it never occur to you that your beliefs have something to do with your failure, since men with opposite beliefs live on the fat of the land?

Why let bitterness and resentment trick you into using wrong methods and thus leave your share of the world's prizes to men who use right methods?

If you have learned to think, why not learn from those who succeed instead of those who fail?

If you are hard up and believe certain things, who is your friend—the fellow who tells you you are right, or the man who tries to show you the truth?

When a rich propagandist tells you you are right, though you know something is wrong, can't you see that he is using you for some purpose of his own?

The man who pats you on the back when you curse American ideals is a man who makes a profit by keeping you as you are.

The Cannon Inquiry.

Baltimore Sun.

The Senate's inquiry into the disposition made by Bishop Cannon of moneys contributed to him for use in political campaigns has dragged along so many months that public memory must be dulled as to the genesis of the controversy. It is Bishop Cannon's contention that the fund in question does not come within the scope of the Federal law and that the effort to compel him to disclose what was done with it is dictated by desire to persecute him. In this contention the bishop disagrees with the Senate committee and thus far with the courts. Aside from this fact, rumors have been rife in Virginia, the bishop's home State, with what basis the Sun does not know, that a full accounting of the disposition of these campaign contributions would reveal embarrassing details. The simple way to dispose of these rumors and also to be rid of the Senate inquiry would be to tell how the money was expended. It is the bishop's refusal to do so which has centered interest upon his protracted defiance of the Senate committee.

The administration's sensible and efficient plan for organized relief is being launched under excellent auspices. It is too much to hope that it will prevent the drive by the radicals on Congress next winter for all sorts of extravagant measures, but successful promotion of it would deprive them of much ammunition. Between now and December every community in the country will have its opportunity to show whether it is able and willing to care for its own and if unable, the amount of aid that will be required from official but non-Federal sources. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Gov. Pinchot Has Lost All Chance of Presidential Nomination, Says Democrat, and Forfeited Right to Consideration by Pennsylvania Voters.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As a reader of your valued paper, I desire to express my appreciation of your daily column appearing on the editorial page under the caption "Pro and Con," in which appears choice editorials culled from other newspapers from all parts of the country. Since the great majority of us who read the local papers do not have access to the press of the country at large, I am sure that this column is likewise greatly appreciated by other residents in and around Washington.

In your issue of August 21, two editorials are reproduced, one captioned "No Policy But Opposition," and the other, "Pinchot Pleads Poverty," the former from a Democratic and the latter from a Republican paper, but both of them being news of the brightest order to which all thinking American citizens will heartily subscribe regardless of political affiliations.

Whatever chance Gov. Pinchot ever had of receiving the nomination for President in 1932, which he so much desires and is bending every effort to obtain that chance, was completely swept aside by his recent open letter to President Hoover, urging a special session of Congress. By publicly and so plainly aligning himself with the frantic clamorers, such as the Western Republican insurgents, the governor also has forfeited all right ever again to be seriously considered by the voters of Pennsylvania for any high office such as he now occupies in that State. His latest political blast may therefore be a great blessing in disguise.

Government Clerk Asks Married Women Who Have Husbands Employed to Give Up Jobs to Needy.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Many suggestions have been made in connection with the unemployment situation resulting from the present depression. One factor contributing to such a condition has not been sufficiently stressed in the many remedies offered. I refer to married women in industry.

In the large bureau in which I work, which has had a mushroom growth since the World War, many instances could be cited of husband and wife being employed at a combined salary in excess of $5,000 or $6,000. Almost without exception these couples are without children and in some cases outside activities bring in extra compensation. In one such case the husband is also a minister.

In addition to cases where both husband and wife are employed by the Government, many married women will be found working in various departments whose husbands are employed elsewhere or are in business for themselves.

There is, I believe, a regulation to the effect that one person may not hold two positions under the Government if the combined salary exceeds a certain amount. Why is it not equally practicable to adopt a regulation which will prevent the combined salaries of husband and wife from exceeding a stated amount? In this way positions will be opened for a considerable number of unemployed persons now awaiting appointment.

With respect to outside concerns, could not an appeal be made that married women whose husbands are able to support them be replaced by persons with dependents? Surely such an appeal would have as much to commend it as the request that industries maintain the present high wage scale.

Civil Service League Thinks Government Could Save Money by Putting Employes of Congress Under Competition.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The letter of Arthur McDonald, published in your late issue, in regard to the appointment of employes of the House of Representatives, points to a weak spot in our legislative machinery, both national and State.

Aside from the mere political situation, which is so decidedly unfair, not only to the public but to the employes involved, a comparison of the cost of legislative service in jurisdictions where employes are appointed after competitive tests of fitness and capacity with other jurisdictions shows that the competitive system means a great saving.

The cost of legislative service in Wisconsin, where the personnel is selected after competitive tests, is strikingly small as compared with the cost of such service in New York, where all such employes are appointed largely on a political basis. It would be more economical for the Government if legislative employes, particularly the doormen, attendants, clerks, &c., were selected after competitive tests. H. ELIOT KAPLAN.

BRAZIL SHIP MARGIN IS PUT AT $4,500,000

Adjustment in Proportions Would Help U. S. Lines, Arledge Says.

Using figures furnished him by responsible experts, Hardin B. Arledge, special representative of the Middle West Foreign Trade Committee, yesterday estimated that in the big wheat and coffee deal between the United States and Brazil, the latter country was, in effect, allowed $4,500,000 for transportation charges, this being the difference between the value of the American wheat and the Brazilian coffee.

Mr. Arledge is one of those who is now fighting to break Brazil's monopoly on the business of hauling the wheat and coffee, a monopoly gladly yielded by the Federal Farm Board.

"The statement has been repeatedly made," Mr. Arledge said, "that the Farm Board and Grain Corporation do not wish to pay the freight, and consequently are glad to make an agreement under which Brazil pays the freight and makes the necessary transportation arrangements.

Receives $4,500,000.

"It is conservatively estimated that the value of the coffee involved at New York is $10,500,000 and the value of the wheat involved at seaboard $15,000,000. Obviously Brazil receives $4,500,000 with which to pay transportation charges.

"One million, fifty thousand bags of coffee at 132 pounds to a bag are the equivalent of 61,964 tons of 2,240 pounds. This would amount to approximately 15 full cargoes. Based on present freight rates, particularly low to New Orleans and New York on account of some rate cutting, the transportation cost of this coffee to New Orleans or New York would be approximately $.00,000 and to San Francisco $890,000.

100 Sailings Required.

"Twenty-five million bushels of wheat (60 lbs. per bushel) are the equivalent of approximately 669,700 tons of 2,240 pounds and on the basis of a full cargo of approximately 6,700 tons (250,000 bushels) would require 100 sailings for its transportation. Based on approximate rates presently indicated in the charter market the transportation cost of moving this wheat would be from North Atlantic or Gulf ports somewhere between $2,175,000 and $2,500,000; from Pacific Coast ports about $3,500,000.

"It can be readily seen what the transportation of a fair share of this business will mean to American ships and it also can be clearly seen the profit Brazil will make on the present basis of trade because the value of the wheat exceeds the value of the coffee by approximately $4,500,000.

"The proportions of wheat and coffee can easily be adjusted to take care of the freight costs and give the American lines their share of this wheat and coffee. We have ample American flag services to handle this business between United States ports and Brazil. All of these American flag lines were established and developed by the Government through the Shipping Board at great expense.

"Three of the lines are now in private hands operating under ocean mail contracts and one line is still being operated by the Shipping Board. These lines are: Delta Line, of the Mississippi Shipping Co., out of Gulf ports; P. A. B. Line, out of Pacific Coast ports; Munson Line, out of New York, and the American Republics Line, out of North Atlantic ports."

George Coming to Press Cotton Plans On Board

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 26.—Senator Walter F. George has gone to Washington to confer with the Federal Farm Board over his proposal that farmers be paid 12 cents a pound for their cotton, half of it in cash now and the other 6 cents per pound in October, 1932, provided the farmers carry out promises not to plant cotton next year.

The conference with the Farm Board will be held in Washington Friday. Before leaving here this afternoon the Georgia senator said he had invited other Southern senators to join him for the purpose of considering with the board his plan for marketing the 1931 cotton crop "and any other constructive program."

were found in her home. They expressed the belief several of them had been made out in her favor by men whose deaths occurred in her house since 1923.

Detective Lieut. John Whitman said he had learned Mrs. Veras paid the funeral expenses of seven of the men who died at her house.

Police examined their records to determine the cause of the death of the ten, and announced that post mortems had been held on the bodies of two who died of alcoholism, and that no evidence of criminal activities had been found.

The ten men who died in Mrs. Veras' home, they said, were Hungarian.

Frank M. Kenney, Mrs. Veras' attorney, presented a writ of habeas corpus for the release of Mrs. Veras and her son, returnable today. Instead of dismissing the writ, as he first announced, Recorders Judge Henry S. Sweeney extended the time to Thursday, saying he desired to give the police "all the time they want in investigating the case."

Kenney declared the action against Mrs. Veras to be the result of neighborhood gossip. He said the previous deaths in her home had been investigated and showed no criminal activity. Detectives investigating Mrs. Veras' activities said she had a record of six previous arrests, but no convictions. One of the arrests, they said, was for embezzlement.

FAVORABLE REPORT GIVEN COTTON CURB

Louisiana House Will Vote on Long's Bill in Session Today.

Baton Rouge, La., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Gov. Huey P. Long's bill to prohibit the raising of a cotton crop next year was reported favorably to the Louisiana House of Representatives tonight and will be read, engrossed and voted on tomorrow.

After a day of discussion, in which one legislator challenged the constitutionality of the bill, the committee met and amended the measure to give the governor authority to repeal it by proclamation in the event the plan is not adopted by States producing 75 per cent of the cotton grown in the United States. The committee decided to use the Federal Government crop report of 1930 as the basis for determining the 75 per cent.

As the cotton plan bill was being attacked as unconstitutional by Representative Gilbert Dupre, of St. Landry Parish, the Senate spent its time today in passing Senator V. V. Whittington's concurrent resolution memorializing Congress to grant a three to five year moratorium on farm loan mortgages.

Would Exempt Idle Land.

The senators also were acting on the Caffery-Fallow bill to exempt farmers' idle lands from taxation and amended it to make its terms apply for 1932 on cotton lands in cultivation during 1931, and fixed the classification of lands which come within the scope of the bill. The measure would call for an amendment to the constitution and was indorsed in committee today by Gov. Long.

Representative Dupre assailed the legality of the bill on the grounds it failed to carry the proviso that contingent States raising 75 per cent of the cotton must act before the Louisiana law becomes effective. Soon thereafter the measure was given to a subcommittee for the insertion of the contingent or other necessary clauses.

Charges Faith Broken.

In pressing his contention, Dupre charged that faith had been broken with the New Orleans cotton conference held last week.

"You can't destroy a man's cotton without just compensation," he shouted. "I don't say that. The Constitution of the United States says it."

His was the only pointed attack on the bill.

Meanwhile, a rumor was circulated about the capitol that a bill or resolution was in the framing to authorize Gov. Long to leave the State on a ten or fifteen day speaking campaign over the South in support of the cotton holiday plan.

GIFFORD IS FORMING COMMITTEES ON AID

Scranton would meet its own relief problems during the coming winter.

Activities of the President's organization on unemployment settled down yesterday into two well-defined channels, with relief plans being formulated under Gifford's direction, and his assistant, Fred C. Croxton, devoting himself largely to programs for creating employment.

Croxton, who was acting chairman of the President's emergency committee for employment which is now merged with Gifford's organization, conferred with representatives of national church groups with a view to extending the program from keeping children in the schools during the unemployment crisis.

Those who attended the conference were the Rev. F. Ernest Johnson, New York, representing the Federal Council of Churches; the Rev. Michael J. Ready, Washington, National Catholic Welfare Conference; Maurice Bisgyer, Washington, National Association of Jewish Center Executives, and G. E. Lenski, New York, National Lutheran Council.

Croxton sent out letters to 26,000 school officials throughout the Nation urging them to encourage children to remain in school and asking them to provide adequate facilities for handling additional numbers. It was pointed out that under present conditions it is difficult for children just out of school to obtain jobs and that it would be better for them as well as society to continue their education.

MOTORIST MISTAKES TERMINAL FOR ROAD

Three Slightly Injured as Auto Drops 6 Feet Into Pit.

August Kruck, 36 years old, his wife and their 6-year-old son, Harry, all of Chicago, escaped serious injury last night when the automobile in which they were riding plunged into a deep plow-pit, as Mr. Kruck mistook the yards of the Washington, Baltimore & Annapolis Railway Terminal at Twelfth street and New York avenue for a through street.

Mr. Kruck, who was driving the machine, turned into the yards from Twelfth street. He said he was unaware that the terminal grounds were not a thoroughfare. Blinded by the steady downpour of rain, Mr. Kruck declared he did not see the pit in time to stop his car.

Police said the yards are usually closed to traffic by a large iron gate. This gate, however, was open last night, and Mr. Kruck said he saw no warning lights near the pit. The machine dropped more than six feet into the hole, throwing its occupants against the windshield.

The Fire Rescue Squad was called and rescued the family from the wrecked car. The boy, who was sitting on his mother's lap, was treated at Emergency Hospital for lacerations to his head and hands.

FARM BOARD GIVEN MANY COTTON PLANS

Each Remedy Is Considered, but None Made Public Except by Authors.

(Associated Press.)

Hardly a day passes without the Farm Board receiving another plan for solving the South's cotton difficulties. Word has come that each is considered, but none of the numbers presented has been made public by the board.

The details of many, as revealed by the sponsors, show a wide variety of procedure advocated. The very frequency and range of the proposals evidence the tremendous extent to which public thought has dwelt on the problem since publication of the Government's forecast of 15,584,000 bales for the 1931 crop.

The Farm Board, in attempting to meet the emergency through suggesting recently that every third row of the standing crop be plowed under, brought the South's economic plight into prominence. Its suggestion has been rejected by the governors to whom it was addressed.

Board members now watch Baton Rouge, where the Louisiana legislature is meeting in special session to consider Gov. Long's measure to prohibit planting any cotton next year. States containing three-fourths of the cotton acreage must approve the Long plan to make it operative.

Several governors have disapproved the "No cotton in 1932" proposal and it has not been received with favor here as a means to stabilize prices and combat over-production.

The cooperation of Texas in any scheme is necessary, as that State grows a third of the South's annual production. Gov. Sterling does not subscribe to the Long and Farm Board proposals. He favors, nevertheless, some reduction by law. Several weeks ago he sponsored a conference of Southern States in an effort to agree on a plan. Several southern leaders have asked President Hoover to call a special session of Congress to deal with the cotton crisis.

Escaped Prisoner, Hero, Surrenders

Man Received 22 Shrapnel Wounds in War After Gaining Liberty.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Police investigated tonight the story of a wandering barber, who said he escaped from a Tennessee prison farm in 1917 and then, as a World War hero, prayed that his 22 shrapnel wounds would end his remorse over illegal freedom.

The barber, William L. Cherry, 36, surrendered today and Warden A. A. McCorkle, of Nashville, Tenn., telegraphing that the escape story was correct, said an officer was on his way to extradite him.

Cherry said his surrender gave him the first peace of mind since he hid in a prison wagon and rode to freedom. Prior to today, his story indicated, he had courted capture repeatedly, but had decided to surrender. His imprisonment followed a love affair during which desire for money with which to buy the woman gifts led him to forge three checks.

Mr. Cochran, who has given generously to educational institutions in this country, is making this donation in memory of his family, who came from the little Scottish town that defives its name from the Gaelic word Kilcudbrit, meaning Chapel of Cuthbert, because of the fact the saint's body is supposed to have lain there for several years.

The feature event will be the dedication of the George Washington Memorial Temple, which will be held the week of May 8, when more than 100,000 Masons from all over the Nation are expected to attend the dedicatory services.

Tariff Is Feared By Apple Growers

British Political Situation Is Closely Watched in Virginia.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Aug. 26.—The political crisis in England is being watched with keen interest by commercial apple growers of the entire Shenandoah - Cumberland - Potomac fruit district of Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and southern Pennsylvania, it was stated today by leading growers of the area.

The bulk of the Virginia crop has been exported to English markets for many years The reason for this concern, it was said, lies largely in the fact that in some British quarters it has been predicted an embargo on foreign apples may be passed to aid the local economic situation.

A cable was received from Fred A. Motz, Federal specialist in foreign marketing at London, stating that if tariff plans under discussion materialize they will affect everything, including apples. Mr. Motz also said an embargo on American apples was not being considered, but that inspection continues.

ARLINGTON BUILDING CODE BODY TO MEET

Permanent Officers Will Be Chosen and Plans for Regulation Studied.

ARLINGTON COUNTY
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The Arlington County building code commission, recently created by the board of supervisors, and consisting of Robert H. Forman, Arthur J. Porter, Norbert Melnick, George D. Ricker, H. Bruce Green and A. F. Thelander, will meet tomorrow morning at the courthouse and elect permanent officers.

Consideration of an adequate building code for Arlington County, to be similar to that of the District of Columbia, to the extent that it does not conflict with Virginia State laws, and to follow that of the City of Richmond for the balance, will take up a major part of the meeting, according to Mr. Forman, temporary chairman.

Another matter to be discussed will be the ordinance which has been drafted by the commonwealth's attorney, upon the recommendation of the commission, to control building and the issuing of permits until such time as the building code has been perfected and adopted.

The offer of A. D. Trammell, of Ballston, Arlington County, of trees which will produce about 6 cords of wood will be accepted gladly, according to Thomas R. Mechem, chairman of the special committee of the Arlington County Civic Federation, formed to prepare to aid the poor and needy of the county.

"I shall proceed without delay to have the trees cut down and to have the wood distributed when the cold weather sets in," he said.

"While this committee was formed to take care of the situation last winter, it has never been discharged, and I believe it will be needed more than ever this winter," Mr. Mechem declared.

FRANCONIA SCHOOL BIDS TO BE OPENED

Fairfax Board May Award Job Today With Order to Rush Work.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

Fairfax County School Board will hold a special meeting today to open bids for construction of a four-room-and-auditorium school building at Franconia, in Mount Vernon District.

Bids were first received last month, but rejected because the amount contemplated by the school board was insufficient to meet the cost of construction as evidenced by the bids. Since that time the board has received revised plans from the office of Raymond V. Long, State school architect, at Richmond.

Original plans called for a building of absolute fireproof construction, while the new plans are for semi-fireproof design. One of the novel features in the new building will be provision for radio reception by a central set in the principal's office connected with each of the classrooms.

A representative of the State architect's office will be present at today's meeting to advise the local board. If the job is awarded, school officials plan to rush construction work so the new building will be ready for occupancy as soon as possible. A deep well already has been drilled on the site, and a large quantity of brick has been purchased and delivered to the location by the school board in an endeavor to cut construction costs and avoid delay.

Not the most minor attraction of the affair was the Maryland fried chicken served by the auxiliary. The midway was doing a big business when the rainstorm forced the visitors indoors where a dance completed the program.

Committee chairmen in charge included F. A. Thomas, chairman; William J. Thomas, supper; H. H. Adams, midway; Mahlon Kirk, dance; Frank Dunnington, publicity; S. P. Thomas, program; S. J. H. Brown, grounds; R. W. Kemp and A. J. Thompson, admission, and Mrs. L. T. Bussler, woman's supper committee.

Contract Is Let to Widen Rockville Pike Nine Feet

Montgomery County received its first award from the $2,000,000 highway widening fund of the Maryland State Roads Commission yesterday when that body awarded a contract for construction of concrete shoulders on the Rockville pike from Bethesda to Rockville. The work was let to the G. & L. Construction Co., of Baltimore, which offered the low bid of $74,133.20.

The shoulders are to be 4½ feet wide on each side of the roadway. The inside section of the road is to be backfilled with bituminous material by the State commission, which also will furnish the concrete for the shoulder work. The highway portion to be improved is 6.95 miles long.

G. Clinton Uhl, chairman of the commission, yesterday defended its policy by paying laborers a slightly smaller wage than that standard in the county or section in which the road work is beng carred on. The commission pays smaller wages in order not to entice help away from the farmer, the chairman explained.

The explanation was given in answering criticisms from Alleghany County directed at the wage scale.

$100 FINE FOLLOWS CRASH INJURING FIVE

New York Man Gets Limit for Reckless Driving Near Beltsville Sunday.

Found guilty of causing a crash in which five persons were injured near Beltsville Sunday, Robert N. Jackson, of New York City, was fined $100 yesterday in Hyattsville Police Court. The fine placed against the man is the maximum which may be imposed for reckless driving, with which he was charged.

Jackson was arrested by Constable Guy Robey after the accident which sent two persons to the hospital and caused minor injuries to three others. Those who were most seriously injured were Catherine Swain and her husband George, of Baltimore.

Kathleen S. Miller, alias Lang, asked for a jury trial on charges that she kept two stills and a quantity of alleged liquor in her house in Riverdale. Raiding policemen said they found one 5-gallon "kettle" and another one with a capacity of 10 gallons. In addition to the stills policemen said they found 85 bottles of alleged beer and more than 30 gallons of whisky. She was held in bond of $1,000 on this count.

An old charge of passing gas around a meter was pressed and she asked for a jury trial on this count also. The gas charge was placed against her after arrest on a liquor charge last winter. Bond for this charge was also set at $1,000.

Roy Robey, who was arrested in the raid on the woman's house, pleaded guilty to charges of manufacturing and possession, and was fined $200. Joseph H. Goodkey, of Berwyn, asked for a jury trial on charge that he cursed and swore at Ruth and George Bryant, in the course of a neighborhood row.

The case against Edward B. McConnell, driver of a car in which a man was killed Tuesday, was continued until next week. McConnell is charged with driving while drunk and reckless driving.

The Gaithersburg department now has possession of the cups, having won the first leg on each of them last year. The department winning either of the cups three times becomes permanent owner.

A parade of county firemen will precede the hook-up contests, which are expected to draw large crowds from the county and Washington. Merle T. Jacobs, chief of the host department, is chairman of the committee in charge. Judges will be Capt. J. Sheahan and Lieut. F. C. Hanback, of Engine Company No. 31, and Battalion Chief T. B. Dry Agents and Hall Join In Dropping Assault Cases

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 26.—A mutual dropping of assault charges by dry agents against Robert L. Hall and by Hall against the dry agents, took place today before J. Frank Supplee, United States Commissioner, when O. Norman Forest, Assistant United States Attorney, asked that a warrant again Hall be dismissed.

In his statement to Commissioner Supplee, Mr. Forest explained that Hall, whose home is in Prince Georges County, got into an altercation with two dry agents at Upper Marlboro on August 7 because the agents had parked their car in a restricted zone.

The argument was quickly followed by blows, which were exchanged between the agents on one side and Hall and several of his friends on the other.

The agents, Mr. Forest said, then swore out warrants for Hall charging him with assaulting the agents and interfering with Federal officers. Hall retaliated by having warrants issued against two of the agents on assault charges.

After a conference between Federal officials, Hall and his attorneys it was agreed that Hall would drop his charges against Thomas W. Andrew and R. B. Miller, the dry agents, if the charges against himself were dropped.

After hearing Mr. Forest's explanation, Commissioner Supplee asked Hall if he had anything to say, and when told that he did not, Commissioner Supplee dismissed him.

Several hours earlier in the day Commissioner Supplee commented on the absence of certain agents summoned to appear as witnesses and expressed the wish that cooperation between the agents and the district attorney's office in the matter of the appearance of witnesses be improved.

The nonappearance of the agents made it necessary to continue two minor cases for two weeks.

LEA OFFER TO BEAR ALL BLAME REFUSED

Convicted Colonel Fails to Save Son Stigma of Felony Conviction.

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—A vain effort by Col. Luke Lea to save his son from the stigma of a felony conviction today marked the closing scenes of the $1,100,000 Central Bank & Trust Co. fraud conspiracy case here.

After the Tennessee publisher, his 28-year-old son, Luke, jr., and Wallace B. Davis, president of the now defunct bank, had posted bonds pending their appeals from the sentences imposed on them yesterday, the senior Lea made his appeal to Judge M. V. Barnhill.

Lea was sentenced to serve 6 to 10 years in State prison, and Davis was given 4 to 6 years, upon their conviction on two counts of conspiracy to defraud and one count of actually defrauding the bank of more than $1,000,000.

Young Lea was directed to pay $25,000 in fines and costs by Judge Barnhill, but the latter today changed the sentence, making it provide, a prison term of 2 to 6 years, to be suspended upon payment of the $25,000. By this provision, he said, the necessity for young Lea's posting a surety bond to cover the amount of fine in addition to the appeal bond was eliminated.

Col. Lea, former United States senator and commander of an artillery regiment in the World War, arranged bond of $30,000. Young Lea gave bond of $20,000 and Davis of $10,000. Judge Barnhill allowed 90 days for perfection of appeals, which would be reached by the supreme court in regular order early in December.

Assuming full responsibility for the Tennessee end of the various transactions, Col. Lea asked Judge Barnhill to set aside the jury's verdict applying to young Lea, offering to accept two additional years on his own sentence and to pay the $25,000 in order to remove the stigma of a felony conviction from his son.

Judge Barnhill later informed newspapermen that he had told Col. Lea if the latter would make his offer include a promise to withdraw his appeal and to start on the sentence at once the jurist would "suspend the sentence" of Luke Lea, jr.

This offer was rejected by Col. Lea on the ground that a suspension of the sentence would not relieve his son of the felony conviction.

MISSISSIPPI ELECTS CONNER GOVERNOR

Lawyer-Farmer, Independent, Wins by 25,000 Over Hugh L. White.

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Martin Sennett (Mike) Conner, lawyer-farmer and practical politician, will move into the governor's mansion here next January. Conner, son of a sawmill owner, was winner in Tuesday's Democratic run-off election over Hugh L. White, millionaire south Mississippi lumberman, who fell short of the governorship by 25,000 votes.

With almost complete returns from the State's 1,590 precincts, scattered throughout 82 counties, the vote in yesterday's race stood tonight:

These returns represented a total vote of 310,302 out of a probable 315,000.

Conner, an independent, follows into the office to be vacated by Gov. Theodore G. Bilbo, leader of a faction that was turned down by the voters in both primary elections.

As a result of the quadrennial Statewide election, the roster of Mississippi for 1932-36, in addition to Conner, includes: Lieutenant governor, Dennis Murphree; secretary of state, Walker Wood; attorney general, Greek L. Rice; treasurer, Lewis S. May; auditor, Joe S. Price; tax collector, James B. Gully.

Conner was born at Hattiesburg, Miss., in 1891, of Scotch-Irish parentage. At the age of 10 he moved with his family to the small village of Seminary, where his father amassed a fair fortune in the lumber business. Mike was given the advantages of the well-to-do Southern family, and after graduating from the University of Mississippi, he went to Yale where he specialized in political economy.

Soon after entering politics he married his childhood sweetheart, Miss Alma Graham, and one daughter was born of that union.

SPORTSMEN ASKED TO HELP SAVE DUCKS

Hoover Calls for Support in Making Short Season Prove Effective.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday called upon hunters, game and conservation officials and citizens to give full observance to the emergency regulation shortening the hunting season for water fowl, particularly ducks, whose numbers have been reduced by drought.

The regulation, approved Tuesday by Mr. Hoover, cut to one month the season in the United States and Alaska on ducks, geese, brant and coot.

The proclamation issued by the President yesterday said:

"The long continued and severe drought of the past two years has inflicted not only economic hardships by seriously curtailing crop and stock production, but also has resulted in an emergency condition as regards the present future safety and abundance of the water fowl of the continent.

"In large areas of the United States and Canada, through lack of water on breeding grounds essential to rearing the young birds, the drought has entailed widespread destruction among the former hordes of the wild fowl that migrate to our several States.

"This devastation has constituted so great a menace to our wild life resources and to their future enjoyments by our people as to impel the Secretary of Agriculture to adopt a regulation compatible with the migratory bird treaty act whereby during the coming fall there will be an open hunting season on these birds of only one month.

"Now, therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, President of the United States of America, do hereby urge that all persons take cognizance of this emergency and I call upon all game and conservation officials, State and local, all members of game protective organizations, land owners, sportsmen and public spirited citizens generally to lend their cooperation to effect full observance of this regulation to the end that adequate numbers of water fowl may return to their breeding grounds next spring and that there may be no repetition of the calamity of extermination that has already overtaken some species of our American birds."

Seth Gordon, president of the American Game Association, in a statement yesterday said it was "now up to all sportsmen to observe the regulations strictly and to see to it that others do likewise."

However, he added, "more and more restrictions upon legitimate shooting will never save the ducks."

New York, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Police today were investigating a report that Hisashi Fujimura, wealthy Japanese importer, who disappeared a week ago Friday aboard the liner Belgenland, had been slain.

A man, whose identity was withheld, told investigators that he heard a scuffle in Fujimura's cabin and that the importer had been killed and probably thrown overboard.

Miss Anne Duval, attractive looking blonde, hitherto an unnamed figure in the Fujimura inquiry, told Assistant U. S. Attorney J. Edward Lumbard today she had known the importer casually as a "large scale gambler."

Miss Duval read excerpts from her diary which told of meeting Fujimura and Mrs. Von Reissner, the wealthy Japanese's companion on the Belgenland cruise.

Other witnesses examined today included Richard Barshell, a Belgenland passenger, who said he saw Fujimura and Mrs. Von Reissner in a mysterious conference, the night before he disappeared. He said Fujimura seemed to grow angry with his companion and stamped away in a fury.

Fight Upon Women In Industry Scored

Gains Under 11 Years of Equal Suffrage Are Listed by Leader.

Efforts "to force women out of industry and back into the home" were decried yesterday by Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, national chairman of the National Woman's Party, on the eleventh anniversary of women's suffrage.

Mrs. Wiley also took occasion to rejoice because many inequal ties between the sexes had been eliminated. She detailed twenty types of legal triumphs scored by women in the eleven years since suffrage for women became a part of the Constitution.

Outstanding among these are the larger share of authority woman has obtained over her children, the equalizing of property and inheritance rights, strides toward industrial equality and guaranteed citizenship, Mrs. Wiley said.

Standard Oil Company Heads Agree on Merger

Lake Tahoe, Calif., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—President W. C. Teagle, of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, and President H. R. Kingsbury, of the Standard Oil Co. of California today said they had agreed that a merger of their respective companies would be logical and advantageous and were working toward a plan to that end.

In a statement issued at the conclusion of a series of conferences the executives said, "No insurmountable obstacles to a merger have developed during our discussions."

EXTENSION PENDING ON MEXICAN CLAIMS

Time Limit on General Case Hearings Will Expire August 30.

Negotiations are going forward between the State Department and the Mexican government for an extension of time for the hearing of claims cases by the General and Special Claims Commissions.

With the period for hearings by the General Claim Commission expiring August 30 and that of the Special Commission having ended August 17, it is expected an announcement will be forthcoming in the near future from the Mexican government or the State Department regarding extensions.

The question has been repeatedly put to State Department officials at press conferences but the only reply has been that the matter is under consideration by the two governments.

Neither of the commissions has completed its work and new cases are constantly being brought up. The Special Commission hears claims arising from the Mexican revolutions between 1910 and 1920. All other cases dating from 1868 to 1927 are handled by the General Commission.

Canadians Are Assured Five-Cent Wheat Bonus

Winnipeg, Manitoba, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—E. B. Ramsay, chairman of the board, said today that farmers are assured of the 5-cent bonus on wheat pending arrangements now being made by the Board of Grain Commissioners.

Mr. Ramsay's attention had been drawn to a suggestion that farmers who have threshed wheat are withholding it from the market because the machinery for distribution of the bonus had not yet been perfected. Means will be devised to insure payment of the bonus for all wheat already delivered, he said.

800,000 in Hankow Watch Flood Menacing Their City

Chicago of China, Once Burned, Now Faces Total Destruction by River That Has Risen 50 Feet Above Normal.

What will happen to Hankow? With half of its 800,000 population made homeless by the raging flood waters of the Yangtze; with sampans and junks navigating its streets, and its buildings crumbling as their foundations are washed downstream, Hankow seems doomed to be literally "washed off the map."

"Hankow has survived other serious catastrophes in its history," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. "In 1911, when the revolution which overthrew the empire was at its height, the city was leveled by fire. Hankow then was thought 'finished,' but before many days natives were raising flimsy buildings on its smoldering ruins.

"Situated about 500 miles up the Yangtze, Hankow proper sprawls over a wide area of the north bank of the river. Beside it the Han pours its muddy torrent. Across the Han is Hanyang. On the opposite side of the Yangtze is Wuchang. The three cities, all of which are deluged by the Yangtze, which now is more than 50 feet above its normal level and more than 20 miles wide where it was less than a mile, form greater Hankow.

"Hankow has been properly called the 'Chicago of China.' Down the Yangtze come products of inland China for the Hankow market, while the Han is usually jammed with natives boats of many shapes and sizes which bring commerce to the Chinese port. These products are distributed over portions of China and also to the ports of the world. Among them is tung oil, ingredient of American varnishes and paints.

Normally the river's edge of the Yangtze is an American city block's distance from the Bund, the riverside drive of Hankow. Ships have difficulty evading Yangtze mud at low water when nearing the city. More than 25,000 boats normally trade at Hankow. A glance over the Yangtze and Han reveal a conglomeration of craft—ungainly junks that move about the harbor under the muscle power of expert Chinese rivermen as easily as modern vessels are propelled in our busy Eastern harbors.

"Some of the junks are gaudily painted and grotesquely carved so that they resemble floating circus wagons. A large number of them display rotten hulks with gaping holes that cause the traveler to wonder how they stay afloat. Then there are the smaller sampans, mattting-covered and filled with men, women, children, the family barnyard fowls, and pets—and all the appurtenances of a well regulated farm except soil.

"On the Yangtze, as on the Canton River, thousands of Chinese are born, live and die afloat. In recent years, increasing numbers of small motor boats weave through the thick river traffic about the city, and larger modern commercial vessels are joining the Yangtze commercial parade.

"The Hankow Bund, which stretches along the Yangtze for 2 miles, is disconcerting to the traveler seeking purely Chinese panoramas. Trees shade the wide boulevard, while the landward side is flanked by modern banks and business buildings that are not unlike those of New York, London, Paris and Berlin.

"Beyond the Bund, upstream, the roofs of concrete warehouses form a portion of the city's skyline. Here hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of cotton, silk, tea, wood, oil, beans and many other products of a vast area of China served by the Yangtze and Han usually are stored, awaiting shipment.

"Beyond the warehouses begin the foreign concessions. The British concession, oldest of all, was established in 1861, when Hankow was opened to foreign trade. Then, in order, came the Russian, the French and the old German concessions, each marked by wide streets and modern residences and shops. There are several electric light and power stations in the city.

"But within this modern shell, Chinese Hankow lives in its Oriental atmosphere. Chinese rub elbow with their countrymen in narrow byways that reek with strange odors. Bordering these byways are shops where men, in cramped quarters, turn out small trinkets and objects that often reach American mantels."

Widow and Family Strangely Missing

Fairmont, W. Va., Man Is Sought as Matrimonial Agent in Fraud.

Chicago, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—Fear for the safety of a wealthy widow and her three children, who disappeared with the head of an alleged Eastern matrimonial agency two months ago, was expressed tonight by police and citizens of the suburb of Park Ridge.

Mrs. Ada Eicher, widow of a silversmith, and resident of the suburb for sixteen years, disappeared June 28 after a man known as Cornelius Pierson, head of the A. and F. Society, of Fairmont, W. Va., visited her. Mayor W. H. McKee, a neighbor of Mrs. Eicher, said.

Pierson returned next day, took away the children and ordered a boarder to leave, neighbors said. The children were Greta, 14; Harry, 12 and Anabel, 9.

Police broadcast a description of Pierson today, and asked that he be detained if apprehended. They had questioned him a few days ago when suspicious neighbors reported he was trying to sell the Eicher home.

American Who Exiled Self After Daring Writings Dies

FRANK HARRIS.

Nice, France, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Frank Harris, self-exiled from his adopted America because of his daring writing, died in his sleep early today at his villa here.

Critic, author, editor and playwright, intimate acquaintance of the great and near great at the turn of the century, he wrote to the last to eke out the comparative poverty that came with judicial disapproval of his sensational "My Life and Loves."

At his bedside when he died was his wife, Mrs. Nellie O'Hara Harris, the titian-haired Irish woman he met in a Paris art gallery and married twenty years ago, and whom he seemed to love devotedly.

His funeral will be held Friday morning at the Episcopal Church in Nice, with burial in a nearby Protestant cemetery.

The iconoclast of Anglo-American letters, who was 75 years old, suffered a new attack of bronchitis on Saturday, an ailment that had made his health poor, and his condition became alarming over the week-end.

Mr. Harris had suffered three such attacks in the past year and in the winter of 1930 his life was despaired of when a spell of hiccoughs lasted nine days. They were stopped by an opiate.

He had completed the proofreading of his life of George Bernard Shaw, the Irish dramatist and long his friend, last week. The Shaw biography is to be published simultaneously in England and America in the autumn.

Although he retired to France several years ago, virtually a self-exile because of official objections to some of his writings, he remained an American citizen by naturalization.

The fame of Frank Harris, literary "bad boy," largely rests on his biography of Oscar Wilde and his own "My Life and Loves."

His "Life and Confessions of Oscar Wilde" brought him renown.

His autobiography brought him notoriety, for it was suppressed in various countries, including the United States, on the ground that accounts of his love affairs, some with prominent women, were "obscene."

Early disappointment sent him jousting against the windmills of convention and tradition. Born St. Valentine's Day, 1858, at Galway, Ireland, son of a British naval officer of Welsh blood, he ran away at 15 to America because he lost a scholarship to Cambridge University.

Entering the social whirl of London in the 90s he formed a friendship with Oscar Wilde and others of his group. He became a journalist, later was editor of the London Evening News, the Fortnightly Review and the Saturday Review. On the latter paper he gave Shaw his first job as a music critic.

His last residence in America was during his editorship of Pearson's Magazine, which he sold in 1922, after difficulties with the postal authorities, to go to Nice to write the confessions of his autobiography.

Of recent years he had been in straitened circumstances and so he continued to write—mostly magazine articles—until the end.

Buffalo Are Offered Free, But Not to City Dwellers

National Park Director Irritated by Requests for Animals From Folk With Facilities for Care Limited to Small Lots.

If you haven't a little buffalo in your home, and want one as a playmate for the kiddies, don't write Acting Director Demaray, of the National Park Service.

He has 100 to give away, but not to city dwellers.

"The public has been warned repeatedly by the National Park Service that buffaloes do not make satisfactory pets," a Department of Interior press release announced irritably yesterday.

If you promise you won't take your buffalo into the house; that you won't kill him; that you will pay all costs of handling, crating and shipping, you might put your application in.

But remember it costs $70 to ship a full-grown Yellowstone buffalo to Gardiner, Mont., a distance of only 35 miles out of the park, and it's a long way from Gardiner to Washington.

Applications from individuals, game preserves, zoological gardens and municipal, State and National zoos, will be accepted at once and passed on, Director Demaray said yesterday. Deliveries will be made in October and November.

Fine specimens from the Yellowstone herd are being given away as part of a plan adopted by the department for keeping the herd sufficiently small to insure proper winter grazing. The herd now numbers 1,200.

Requests for buffalo have been received from families with no larger estate than a city lot, Mr. Demaray said. It is his desire that the animals be used only for exhibition or propagation purposes.

NYE ACCUSES BISHOP CANNON OF TRANSFERRING 1928 FUND

Seay Is Witness.

Perry Seay, vice president of the American Bank & Trust Co. of Richmond, Va., was in the witness chair yesterday when Chairman Nye developed what the committee felt was evidence that Bishop Cannon transferred money from an anti-Smith political fund here to the churchman's private checking account.

In Mr. Seay's bank in Richmond Bishop Cannon had an account listed under "James Cannon, jr." This the committee referred to as his private account.

In the Continental Trust Co., here, the Methodist divine had an account accredited to "James Cannon, jr., chairman." This, the committee described as his political fund, a war chest for the anti-Smith Democrats, of which the bishop was chairman.

In the afternoon Chairman Nye, together with Senators Clarence Dill (Democrat), of Washington, and Porter Dale (Republican), of Vermont, had Mr. Seay call off a list of six checks that Bishop Cannon had deposited to the credit of his personal account in the Richmond bank.

As Mr. Seay listed the checks, Chairman Nye was examining withdrawals from Bishop Cannon's political account in the Continental Trust Co., in Washington.

When this had been done, Chairman Nye said:

"That would reveal that $9,500 was transferred in six different transactions from the account of James Cannon, jr., chairman, in the Continental Trust Co., to the account of James Cannon, jr., in the American Bank & Trust Co."

Testimony Bewildering.

To the casual spectator at the hearing the testimony was extremely bewildering. One reason for this was the numerous bank accounts that Bishop Cannon maintained, and another was the complicated nature of the transactions the committee was studying.

Robert H. McNeill, attorney for Bishop Cannon, protested on two occasions against the course the inquiry was taking.

He protested when C. B. Stevens, of Charlottesville, Va., was asked about a check for $2,433.78, which Bishop Cannon made out to him on October 10, 1928. Stevens said Bishop Cannon had sent it to him as the first payment on a house sold by the bishop, who was executor of the estate of Mrs. Mary C. Moore, widow of a Methodist clergyman.

Attorney McNeill said this transaction had nothing to do with campaign funds.

"It is a part of the juggling of funds here," Senator Dill said.

A later protest brought this statement from Senator Dill:

"The reason we must do this is due to the fact that Bishop Cannon deposited political contributions in his personal accounts. He interchecked these accounts and used one against the other, and there is no way of getting the facts clear except by going into his personal accounts."

$8,000 Check Cited.

Chairman Nye and the others attached considerable importance to a check for $8,000 which Edwin C. Jameson made out in October, 1928, and a cashier's check which Bishop Cannon deposited in the First National Bank of Blackstone, Va., shortly thereafter. He had the bank hold the $8,000 in trust for the Newspaper Supply Co., of Richmond, a concern, which at that time, according to Chairman Nye, was "defunct." Later Bishop Cannon converted the trust fund into a personal account.

Chairman Nye promised he would show that the Jameson check for $8,000 was exchanged for the cashier's check for $8,000 that was placed in the trust fund by Bishop Cannon.

The monotony caused by the repetition of figures was broken when Wade H. Cooper took the stand. Mr. Cooper was president of the Commercial National Bank, which, since the 1928 campaign, has been merged with the Continental Trust Co.

In the course of his testimony Mr. Cooper produced a letter Bishop Cannon had written to C. W. Warden of the Continental Trust Co., protesting against the returning of several checks because of questionable indorsements.

"We do not split hairs in our office on the matter of indorsement of these checks," Bishop Cannon wrote, adding that he felt he and his associates, rather than the bank, should determine whether the indorsements were all right. Continuing in the letter, he said:

Greeted With Laughter.

"However, as the Master said when he was asked to pay tribute to Caesar, 'Go and catch a fish and take the gold coin out of the fish's mouth and pay the tribute,' and so I am sending back the check with Mr. Peters' indorsement * * *"

The letter was greeted with laughter.

Miss Ada L. Burroughs, summoned as a witness today, declined to testify on her last appearance, and as a consequence Chairman Nye threatened to cite her for contempt of the Senate, an offense for which Harry Sinclair, the oil magnate, served a term in the District Jail.

Chicago Garbage Drivers Strike.

Chicago, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—About 600 city garbage truck drivers and helpers went on strike today demanding a five-day week. They have been working from two to four days and city officials said they could not meet the demand because funds were lacking.

FORMER JAPANESE PREMIER DIES AT 61

Yuko Hamaguchi Known as "Warrior for Peace." in Treaty Espousal.

Tokyo, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Yuko Hamaguchi, former premier of Japan, who won the appellation "warrior for peace," by his espousal of the London Naval Treaty despite the opposition of influential groups of extreme patriots and militarists, died here today. He was 61 years old.

Heading the government during the negotiations at London, Hamaguchi succeeded in obtaining Japan's adherence to the naval treaty only by a strenuous fight which incurred the displeasure of the ultrapatriots and advocates of a strong navy.

November 14, 1930, after ratification of the treaty, Hamaguchi was shot and seriously wounded by Tomeo Sagoya, 23, who was described as having been patriotically misguided or mentally deranged.

While Hamaguchi recovered slowly, Baron Shidehara, the foreign minister, became acting head of the government. Hamaguchi resumed his duties March 10, 1931, but they proved too strenuous and he submitted to two operations early in April. Subsequently he resigned, and Reiuiro Wakatsuki, the present premier, succeeded him.

Somewhat gloomy in personal appearance, Hamaguchi was noted for his breadth of vision, prudence and circumspection.

FRESH TROOPS JOIN FOREST-FIRE CREWS

Flames Continue to Spread, Menacing Idaho Towns; Rains Are Needed.

Boise, Idaho, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Additional National Guardsmen were hurried into the forests of central Idaho today as new fires broke out and old ones leaped across the trenches and headed into new strips of virgin timber.

Brig. Gen. M. G. McConnell, adjutant, ordered out two more units of the National Guard to assist several hundred volunteers and guardsmen already battling the blaze in the vicinity of Grimes Pass which took the lives of two men late yesterday. A fire broke out near Silver City, 150 miles from the main fire, burning poles which crippled the hamlet's electric light system. Dry brush and grass fed the flames which spread over several thousand acres. Several mines and ranches were reported in danger from the new outbreak.

Motor trucks transported troops from Nampa and Caldwell to the Grimes Pass front where they were declared to be "urgently needed."

The fire near the Town of Grimes Pass advanced early today despite its usual custom of quieting during the night. The flames crept along the south fork of the Payette River to within a few hundred yards of the postoffice, power plant and school at Grimes Pass. The blaze swept by, however, and headed in the direction of Stanley, 17 miles away. Heavy timber on the Payette side of the mountains led officials to believe only a heavy rain would halt the advancing conflagration.

Col. Fred C. Hummel, of Boise, commanding the National Guard in the forests, reported the situation was critical on the Garden Valley side of the divide. Efforts were being made to keep the fire out of dry grass between the town of Garden Valley and the main blaze.

Other fires continued near McCall and Placerville, but no towns or ranches were in immediate danger there.

The bodies of Herbert Harvery, 24, Boise, and Nolan Warner, 28, Fillmore, Utah, were taken from the embers last night, the first victims of the fires. Many families are homeless, due to the blazes, which have wiped out two towns and numerous mines and ranches.

Whitefish, Mont., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Burning embers showered this city today from a blaze that jumped the Stillwater River and marched through the Blackfeet Forest to within 6 miles of the town.

An airplane reconnaissance by Supervisor Nagel revealed no immediate danger to the city. Fifty families were moved last night from Luffer, 12 miles west of here, and unconfirmed reports told of the destruction of a number of ranch houses in that area.

French Lecturer Forecasts Deficit

Colonial Union Head Sees Trade and Industry as Facing Crisis.

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—A gloomy picture of the present state of French industry and commerce was presented at the Institute of Politics tonight by Charles le Neveu, president of L'Union Coloniale Francaise, in his final address on "France and the World Economic Crisis."

M. le Neveu said the budget of France probably would register a deficit at the end of the present fiscal year.

He said a number of large banks and firms had closed their doors, colonial trade was practically at a standstill, the importation of manufactured goods in the colonies had in general stopped and most of the houses engaged in colonial trade were on the verge of bankruptcy and might be shved only by "drastic measures and a prompt renewal of better business."

HUNGER MARCHERS FAIL TO RECEIVE AID

West Virginians Are Denied Right to Parade in Charleston Streets.

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Men, women and children, "hunger marchers" from the coal camps near Charleston, turned homeward tonight, unsuccessful in their trek to the State Capitol in search of food and "a means of earning a living."

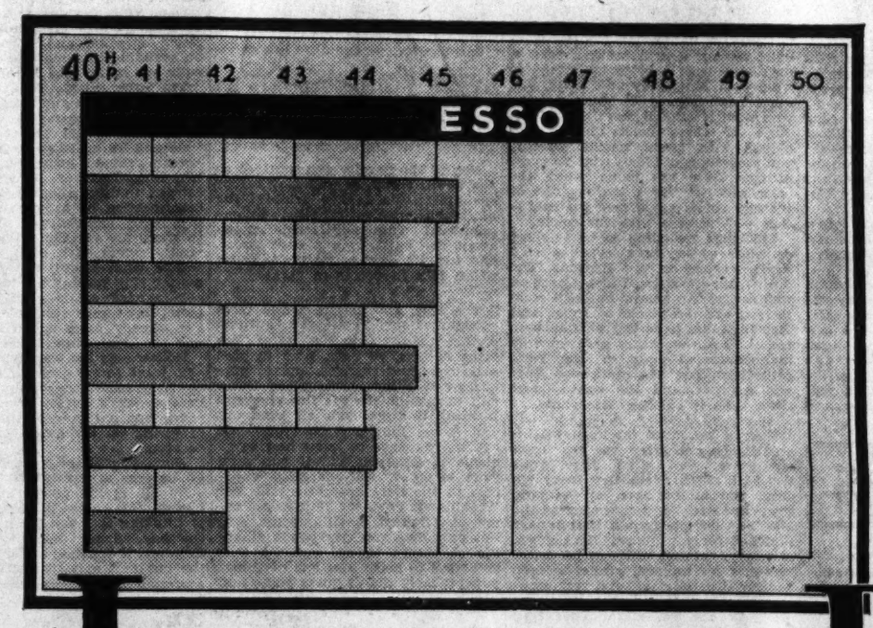
The homeward trip was started after a committee representing the main body of about 250 marchers had called upon Gov. Conley for State assistance and upon Mayor R. P. Devan for a permit to parade through the city streets.

The governor informed the committee that no State funds were available for relief work and that he was without authority to order employers to give work. Mayor Devan declined to permit a parade and maintenance of a camp on the edge of town, saying the parade would accomplish nothing and that a camp continued without adequate facilities might cause much illness.

While the committee called upon the two officials the main body milled about a meadow in the eastern section of Charleston or sat at the roadside with crudely lettered signs, one demanding "Why should we starve quietly?"

The Rev. John Harlow, 61-year-old miner-minister, told the governor, "I can not promise you what will take place in the next ten days unless something is done. Winter is coming and people are starving and something is going to break loose."

"I know how to sympathize with you," the governor said, "but I can do nothing for you so far as distribution of money is concerned. The State appropriates money for specific purposes and it is a violation of the law to spend that money other than for the use for which it was appropriated."



PROOF

Here's a comparison of the power developed in a high-compression motor—without knocking—by leading premium-priced fuels. (The difference, of course, would be even more startling if Esso were compared with ordinary gasolines.) The fuels were picked at random from roadside pumps and the results of the test recorded on a dynamometer.

Increased Power for your Old Car without a Cent for Overhauling

Power—with an entirely new meaning. That's what you'll get when you fill up your old car with Esso at "Standard" stations and Esso dealers only.

It costs money to buy a new car. It costs money to overhaul your old car.

But it costs no more by the mile to use Esso—and get an increase in power that may run as high as 20% more than ordinary gasoline can give.

However, Esso should not be compared with ordinary gasoline. Note how it compares with five other premium-priced fuels in the chart above.

Esso was originally developed to permit the development of present-day, high-compression motors.

High-compression motors are not always new motors. Carbon accumulations actually raise the compression of motors in older cars. A radical difference in performance is the result the moment you use Esso.

Prove it! Run your car till the tank is nearly empty—then fill up with Esso. Get the full force of this fuel undiluted with gasoline. You'll find that nothing betters the performance of a motor so instantly and radically as Esso.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW JERSEY

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

THE Netherlands is the only country in the world making practical use of "wired radio" on a large scale. "Wired radio" is the distribution of radio programs by means of telephone lines. Holland is particularly adapted to the use of wire networks, because the larger portion of its population is centered in a small area. This fact allows cheap installation and the payments for service are not anywhere near the amount it would cost to install a separate radio receiver.

There are now some 600 "radio centrals" in Holland and the total number of persons served by this wire system is more than 200,000, or 15 per cent of the total population.

The listener has the choice of three programs at all times—two stations or phonograph records played in the offices of the individual central stations.

This method of distribution—the invention of an American, Maj. Gen. George O. Squier—has not taken root in the United States, largely because our present system was too well developed before it was perfected and also because the population is too widely scattered to have made it practicable except in the large cities.

ARRIVAL of the German flying boat DO-X in New York today from its transatlantic voyage will be described over WRC and WMAL this morning. The landing of the great seaplane in New York Harbor and a close-up description of the craft and its passengers as it ties up at pier A will be detailed by George Hicks for NBC and Ted Husing for CBS.

Hicks has just returned to the studios following a two-month vacation, spent with his parents in Tacoma, Wash.

The New York Philharmonic Symphony Society Orchestra heard in the Lewisohn Stadium concerts, is said to be the second oldest orchestral organization in the world. The London Philharmonic is older.

THE other day an airplane ripped through the power lines of Station WABC, New York, basic station of CBS. After an hour, arrangements were made with WPCH, Hoboken, a daytime station, for the use of their lines, and the network programs were continued. Had CBS not been able to use the lines of the small station, it is probable the network features would have been canceled for the evening.

Such a situation was foreseen long ago by NBC. If all New York's power supply should fail, WEAF or WJZ could continue operation after a slight pause for throwing switches. The studios are equipped with storage batteries with sufficient capacity to run the entire plant, lights, control equipment and all, for 24 hours.

The Japanese reception to the Lindberghs will be broadcast tomorrow morning (WRC, WMAL, 6:30 o'clock).

It has been decided that Weber and Fields are popular enough to warrant three appearances each week with B. A. Rolfe's Orchestra (WRC, 9 p. m.). The comedians were signed for Saturday broadcasts only a couple weeks ago.

The lead in "The Duchess Says Her Prayers" will be played by John S. Young, announcer, this afternoon (WRC, 3 p. m.). Young studied dramatics for two years at Yale in Prof. Baker's "47 Workshop," but this is his first air appearance in a dramatic role.

ADMIRAL JELLICOE, lord of the British Admiralty and England's most-honored naval hero of the World War, will be heard tomorrow (WRC, 1:30 p. m.) at the opening of the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto. He will speak in reply to an address of welcome by President Harris, of the exhibition.

Ray Perkins will be guest artist with Rudy Vallee and his Connecticut Yankees tonight (WRC, 7 p. m.).

Tschaikovsky's Sixth Symphony, better known as the "Pathetic," will be played by the New York Philharmonic tonight (WMAL, 8:30 p. m.).

An echo of pioneer days and life in the far Southwest will be heard over the country when the musical and dramatic features of Santa Barbara's annual fiesta are broadcast tomorrow afternoon (WRC, 3:15 p. m.).

Two new announcers, Fred Uttal and Carlyle Stevens, are now heard on CBS network features.

Presented as a sustaining feature, Nick Lucas will broadcast over NBC networks each Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, beginning September 2.

THREE members of The Revelers quartet—Lewis James, Elliott Shaw and Wildred Glenn—are rounding out ten years of association before the microphone. They made their first air appearance November 3, 1921.

Then Charles Hart was the other member and the quartet was known as The Shannon Four, then a famous recording group.

They were the first recognized artists to appear in person in the studios of Station WJZ. In the early days the experimenters with the new plaything called "broadcasting" used phonograph records or anyone who happened along who could play the piano or sing a tune. In that year real musicians had not given a serious thought to radio.

Jo. Carr INTERPRETS the MODE

New York, Aug. 26.

WELL, now what are we going to be able to call the colors of the stockings we buy to accompany our autumn loveliness? For 'tis noticed in the smart circles in Paris that odd, off-color shades are becoming more and more fashionable. And as we've already entitled the shades we are used to—moondrift and pearl blush and tanbark and silverglow and beigeglow and an infinite variety of suntans—we'll have to struggle hard to stimulate the old imagination into new and descriptive flights of fancy.

The trend of autumn hosiery is toward darker shades, which is quite natural because of the darker footwear. There's a color called Humming Bird, a neutral brown with a grayish-beige cast, and Indotan, a dark, almost metallic tan (splendid with the rust and brown and green frocks so popular in the latest collections), a lighter-but-still-far-from light tan for golden brown frocks, a dark gray with a beige undertone to wear with blue, gray and black, and some new degrees of gunmetal to wear with black and very dark shades. Some of these colors have been blessed with poetic names already, you see—though I defy you to guess offhand from the name what the color will be! 'N' when the rest of the new colors get named the confusion will increase with the colors.

Stockings are going to be as sheer or more sheer than ever as cold weather comes on, and lustrous. The dull finish stockings, which served so well earlier this year, just don't seem to lend the right note of finish and formality that is needed with autumn frocks. Mesh stockings were worn by mannequins at many of the Paris collections, and the mesh was finer and daintier, and the weave more sheer than in summer mesh hose.

Take a beautiful fabric, novel incrustations and keep an eye open for grace, and what have you? Wel-l-i-l, if you were very lucky indeed, you might have an evening gown as stately and charming as the one from Joseph Paquin that I have sketched for you above! This gown, of heavy, shining white crepe marocain has an unusual girdle, a deep and novel decolletage, and very ornamental incrustations that hide the secret of the perfectly molded hips beneath their own beauty. And the long scarf which hangs in back over one shoulder is not only graceful but unusual with its huge black velvet flowers sewn loosely to it.

Not all the novelty was confined to the gown, either, as you may see by the illustration I have made of the black chiffon velvet cape that accompanies it! This cape is held snugly about the waist by a pleated girdle, and has its own perky little collar which falls in points in back.

The best, and cleverest, and most economical way to get your autumn clothes ready is to get after 'em right now! You have time to plan makeovers and changes, and to purchase new things without any flurry and bustle—'n' it's the flurrying and bustling that get you all tired out and your judgment unsound. Of course, you have to know how to go about it, but you will if you send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post, for your own Dahray has figured it all out for you! Not only does she give you a schedule of things to do, but she tells you ways to make over lots of things you probably didn't guess you could use!

Women will find Dare's weekly fashion letter well worth reading. Watch for it in The Sunday Post.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell just when to apply lime to my grass plot. I find in our garden club there is quite a difference of opinion about this and I want to fertilize, if lime really has any good qualities, in an intelligent manner. MRS. HOWE G. P.

In reply to your query, let me quote from one of the foremost authorities on lawns: "Lime should never be used on any lawn, for, popular opinion to the contrary, blue grass and other grasses, as well as bent, are sufficiently tolerant of an acid soil to produce a good lawn without the application of lime. Most weeds, however, prefer a neutral of alkaline soil, and consequently the application of lime encourages weed growth. Distinctly acid-soil plants like rhododendrons, mountain laurel and the like should, of course, never receive lime."

I have a new home. When should I plant the shrubbery or trees, now or in the spring?

A NEW GARDENER.

With few exceptions, there is little or no choice between spring and fall planting. A few exceptions are the thin-barked trees, such as the flowering dogwood and white birch and similar trees and, perhaps, a few shrubs, such as the althea, and in some sections, the tamarix. Your nurseryman will be glad to advise you about these exceptions. In any case, plant as much as you can this fall.

I have a fern which is covered with scale, not spore cases, with which I am familiar. I cannot possibly remove the scale, but I could use a spray, if you know of any that will kill these insects. ELSIE N. L.

There is no spray that kills scale unless it would be one that would injure the texture of the leaf. Better cut your plant down to the roots. At this season it will soon send forth new growth. Daily spraying with cold water will prevent a return of these insects.

Is it too late to plant Madonna lilies or transplant peonies?

THOMAS F. E.

No; in fact, this is about the right time.

Can I safely transplant a coleus at this time? MABEL H. W.

Yes, if you use a soil composed of good garden loam, sand and manure in equal parts

Please tell me of a few annuals that can be sown this fall that will, if given some protection, come up in the spring. HANNAH F. W.

Calendulas, caleopsis, sweet allysum and sweet peas may all be sown in the fall.

I have an ampelopsis veitchi which has outgrown its bounds and is climbing over my neighbor's porch and screens. Will it harm the vine to be pruned in late August?

MARY F. G.

No, you can prune this vine at any season.

Please tell me the proper soil in which to plant rooted geranium cuttings. MRS. GEORGE F. L.

Use a soil composed of equal parts of good loam, sand and well-rotted manure.

I want to be prepared in the fall, so please tell me when to dig my gladiolus bulbs. They have done so well this season. JOSEPH M. K.

The different gladioli are ready for digging at different periods, depending on when they were planted. It is, however, generally best to wait until the tops begin to brown and dry. Cut them off three or four inches from the ground either before or after digging. Store the bulblets separately.

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed stamped envelope is supplied.

Daughters of Isabella Plan Statue to Queen

Enactment of a bill authorizing the Daughters of Isabella to erect a memorial to Queen Isabella of Spain near the Columbus monument on Union Station plaza will be sought at the next session of Congress, Mrs. Alice C. Bicksler, a national director of the organization, made known yesterday.

A campaign to raise $100,000 with which to erect the memorial already is in progress, and the response has been generous, according to Mrs. Bicksler. The memorial was authorized at the national convention of the order last July in Boston. Queen Isabella, according to some histories, backed Columbus financially on his voyage of discovery.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By ELY CULBERTSON

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

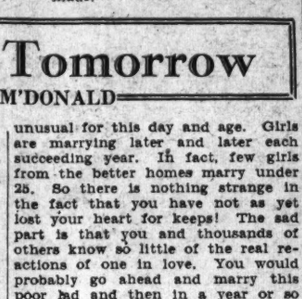
LEAD THEM INTO TEMPTATION.

One of the most fascinating features of Contract Bridge is judicious overbidding. By this I do not mean the senseless taking of penalties when the opponents can not make the contract they have undertaken, nor the taking of a greater penalty score than the adversaries can make at their own bid, but the pushing of the bidding to such a point that opponents can not make their contract and are forced in self-defense to accept in lieu of the game score a small penalty score. If, through the freaks of distribution, an unexpected game rewards such tactics, then the satisfaction is all the greater. However, it is too much to expect the latter, except once perhaps in every blue moon.

In the recent National Pair Contract Championship event, at which the trophy given by Mrs. Olga J. Hilliard was at stake, one of the hands afforded the North and South players a beautiful opportunity by judicious overbidding to accept at best a small penalty instead of an assured adverse game, distribution making naught of some of the Aces and Kings upon which, playing defensively, they could ordinarily depend to make tricks against the Declarer.

Neither side was vulnerable; South was the Dealer.



The Bidding:

South	West	North	East
1NT (1)	Pass	2♣	2♥ (2)
2♠ (3)	3♥	4♠ (4)	Pass
Pass

1—South's bid is an almost exact minimum, but playing in match events it is necessary to bid such hands rather than risk the loss of even a partial score. If South passes, North with even more strength than he holds would be compelled to pass also, and even although the bidding was reopened later, it is doubtful if North and South would do more than play against four hearts, perhaps doubled, which can be made.

2—East's better bid would perhaps be three clubs, although the hand is weak in honor-tricks. This would show no losers in the club suit, but might be read by West as showing a willingness to play spades.

3—South's Opening bid has shown that the hand contains no biddable suit. His bid of two spades now can not be misconstrued by his partner.

4—North's Raise to four spades is fully justified. The hand is very streng even in support of a nonbiddable spade declaration.

5—West has reached the point which appears to him most satisfactory. Unaware of the unusual distribution of his partner's hand, his cards appear much stronger against an adverse declaration than in support of partner's bid. He has the one essential element for a safe Penalty Double; at least 1 trick in the opponents' bid suit.

In the play, West opened his lowest heart, and South, instead of trumping, discarded a losing diamond. His only chance of making the contract was to give his opponents a chance to make a mistake. East won with the Ace and then took in the Ace of diamonds. Now the best lead is another heart, and thus played, South must be defeated. In the case where this particular hand was played, as above outlined, East decided to return a trump, knowing that South's trump suit is not strong, and hoping to shorten the Dummy's trumps so that losing diamonds and hearts could not be ruffed. Even this play still permits the defeat of the contract by 1 trick, if West returns a club.

Instead, West led a diamond to shorten Dummy. The card was ruffed. South pulled the remaining trumps and made four spades doubled.

Even had East and West made the most of their cards, the defeat of the spade contract would not compensate for the sure four hearts which can be made. Played at hearts, East loses one heart, one spade and one diamond, and at a number of tables this contract was made doubled.

South with four hearts to the Queen, short of the suite bid by partner and a probable trick in every suit and four hearts, felt that the chances of defeating four hearts were better than of making four spades, but the element of distribution, a powerful factor in this hand from either angle, made possible the heart game, and even against a perfect defense, permitted South to escape with a defeat of anly 100 points, a small price to pay for a game saved.

TODAYS POINTER.

The Pass.

A pass, though technically not classed as a bid, is the most eloquent and important of all the bids. It is the loudest "warning" and, in the Forcing System, the only "rescue." The general inference from a pass is that the hand is decidedly below average in support of partner's one-bid, and, therefore, the Responding Hand abandons all reasonable hopes for game. The difficulty in the art of passing lies in knowing the precise line of demarcation between the no-bid land and the bidding minimums.

Players who are overconservative in their passes, even by as little as a half-trick, will seriously hamper the tactics of the Opening Hand, and those who habitually are "a Queen shy" for a justifiable bid will often drive the Opening Hand to contract for a hopeless game where part-score was certain, or, worse yet, will cause the Opening Hand to become unduly cautious.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers. Address him in care of the Washington Post, ENCLOSING A TWO-CENT STAMPED SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

Is She in Love?

DEAR Frances McDonald: Being a constant reader of your column, and having a so-called problem, I am coming to you for advice, which, I am sure will help me heaps.

I am 19 years old and engaged to the nicest boy in the world. He is 25 years old. We have been engaged about four months. Now, this is my first year in business, and I, like many others, will get a two-week vacation. All previous vacations have been spent with my family at some resort or other and I had counted on spending this one at a girl's camp with one of my girl friends.

The other night, Tom, my fiance, was at the house and asked me when I planned to take my vacation as he would like to get his at the same time and we could go to his married sister's summer home and have our two weeks together. When I tried to explain to him about my plans for this vacation he balked and told me if I really loved him I would want to spend my vacation with him. My family agrees with him.

Now, what to do! He hasn't given me my ring yet and we don't plan to get married for a good two years more. My family thinks I'm crazy, as I've already been up to his sister's and she treated me wonderfully.

Mother says I'm one of those people who want to eat their cake and save it at the same time. I suppose I am, because she's pretty nearly always right, but oh! how I hate the idea of giving up my own plans for my vacation.

Won't you please try and help me. I'd be ever so thankful. RUTH.

By all means go with your girl friend. But do not make the mistake of thinking that you are in love with the boy friend. Far, far from it! However, if you had at your age met the one and only, it would be most unusual for this day and age. Girls are marrying later and later each succeeding year. In fact, few girls from the better homes marry under 25. So there is nothing strange in the fact that you have not as yet lost your heart for keeps! The sad part is that you and thousands of others know so little of the real reactions of one in love. You would probably go ahead and marry this poor lad and then in a year or so wonder why marriage was so boring to you.

In the court where I sit as lay judge, hundreds of girls like you come in with young husbands. All they ask of life is to be free! Under questioning neither can think of one single serious accusation to bring against the other. They just beg to be free of each other. Each day together is filled with little nameless cruelties and meannesses toward each other. Until their nerves are on edge and their dispositions ruined. In the old days they would be told that only death could part them. Today they are told how to go about getting a divorce. It is sad. And unnecessary. Every girl should be taught what love means and the sense of oneness that comes when love comes. It is not enough that the boy has a good future and straight legs. He must mean more to you than any of the other things life has to offer. Poor little Joan Crawford speaking of her feeling for her boy husband voiced the answer. She said: "If it came to a question of choosing between having Douglas and having any fame I can achieve in films, or choosing between Douglas and anything else on earth, I would not hesitate one moment." If the test came she might fail. But at least she knows how it should be.

Choose your own vacation, child, but take your time about marrying. This boy is only a friend.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU
"VIRGO."

IF August 27 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:45 a. m. to 10:30 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 3:15 p. m. and from 5:45 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger hours are from 11:10 a. m. to 12:35 p. m. and from 9:30 p. m. to 11:15 p. m.

August 27 is, according to the astrological aspects, a day of restlessness and unpremeditated happenings. Extreme caution should be exercised in the undertaking of any important venture along business lines, as the Signs foretell a rather precarious day in the commercial world. In private life, a great deal of petty quarreling is threatened, and much unrestfulness.

A child born on this August 27 will have a very sincere and loving nature and will be essentially self-sacrificing and high-minded. It will pursue its studies with unrelentless energy and will, in later life, gain much repute in the scholastic world. All through its existence, its happy and gracious personality will attract a wide circle of friends, but it will always find its greatest happiness within the home circle.

You, if born on August 27, are a tremendous idealist, and unless you cultivate a more practical outlook on life, will suffer rudely the shocks of realism. You place too much confidence in other people and other people's ideas, and let your feelings run away with you. You are too easily affected by others. You must learn independence of mind and spirit, and in this way could attain great heights. You are a highly gifted person, artistic, creative and subject to inspiration, and with a little serious effort could assure yourself of a very wonderful career. You are ambitious, but your enthusiasm is apt to wane a trifle too quickly. Be a little more determined! Do not let momentary failure daunt your efforts.

You have a great fondness for pleasure and social life, and are, on the whole, a very popular individual. You have a subtle intellect, and combine brilliant conversational ability with intelligent listening. You have a very generous nature; at times a trifle too soft-hearted, people are wont to take advantage of your charitableness. You are always ready to help others and your kindness endears you to all who know you. Your loving and loyal disposition insures you a great deal of happiness in your home life.

Successful people born August 27:

Sophia Smith, founder of Smith College.

Charles G. Dawes, Ambassador.

Ralph L. Goodrich, lawyer and philologist.

Hannibal Hamlin, lawyer and congressman.

Charles H. Perkins, inventor and manufacturer.

William H. English, statesman.

Oysters Seen as Canaries In Detection of Pollution

Any Upset of Natural Balance of Purity Kills Bivalves, Reports Assert at National Meeting of Shellfisheries Association.

Sayville, N. Y. (A.P.).—The oyster is given a new role as guardian of beach and river water purity much as canary birds warn miners against poison gas.

The bivalve's ability to detect pollution too slight even for a microscope was explained in scientific papers at the annual convention of the National Shellfisheries Association and the Oyster Growers and Dealers Association of North America.

The oyster begins life as a pinhead-sized lump of jelly—a larva. He changes rather abruptly by a process called metamorphosis and becomes a growing oyster. To make the change he must have just a trace of copper, a fraction of a part in a million. Without copper there will be no oyster. This copper flows into the sea from rivers, it was explained by Dr. Herbert F. Prytherch, of the United States Bureau of Fisheries.

As delicately balanced in his needs as a human being, the oyster is killed by too much copper. He uses also small amounts of iron, manganese and other elements needed by humans in minute quantities and he is upset when the balance which is natural purity becomes upset.

His assistance as the canary of the water was called for in a speech by Robert Moses, president of the New York State Park Commission, who explained to the oyster men how their business interests coincide with the commission's plans for converting scores of miles of sea beaches about New York City into parkways and parks.

If, said Mr. Moses, the grand scale plans of the commission fail of development, the shallow water "meadows" now devoted to oysters will inevitably be exterminated.

Howard W. Beach, president of the Oyster Growers and Dealers Association, said that in 25 years, unless there is conservation, oysters likely will sell for $2.50 a dozen.

"Until the middle of the eighties," he added, "the supply of oysters seemed inexhaustible. Now the supply is shrinking steadily and Government authorities are apprehensive that this useful food may before long be virtually exterminated."

REPAIR AFTER INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

THE best known institution for rebuilding muscles wasted by infantile paralysis is that located at Warm Springs, Ga. It has been in operation for a considerable number of years, and so successful has it been that it is kept full all winter long and practically full even during the hot season.

Patients come there from as distant places as Hawaii, and various parts of Canada, as well as far and wide in the United States. It is under the auspices of a foundation created to keep it on a firm basis so long as there are paralytics in need of muscle rebuilding. It is not a hospital for the treatment of infantile paralysis. About the only relation it has to that disease is that it was the cause of disability of the people there for treatment, though a cause that ceased to operate actively several years before the patients went to the springs to take the cure.

In this instance, the cure is nothing more than a system of rebuilding wasted muscles and retraining nerves and nerve centers. When a patient arrives he is thoroughly examined as to the condition of each major muscle in his body. These are rated in one of five groups as to the strength left in them. A second rating relates to the degree of muscle wasting and a third as to the amount of functional impairment.

Treatment is then outlined. This consists in a period of muscle training given in the treatment pool of the warm springs. Since the water supports the weight and keeps the body in position, the patient's muscles and nerves are spared all the tasks that these ends require. Confidence in one's muscle capacity and nerve control is soon established. The exercises in the water are prescribed to use just the muscles and nerves that need it in exactly the right way and to the right extent. Next follows a sun bath. These generally take up the morning. After lunch there is time for an afternoon nap, and then follows a period of relaxation. During this period the patients are encouraged to play games, according to their capacities. Later in the afternoon various forms of physiotherapists.

A few weeks ago when infantile paralysis began to threaten the country the patients agreed to supply as much convalescent serum as they could. A prize was offered to the boy who would give the most serum. I have just seen the prize winner. He gave nearly a quart and he was able to boast not only that he won the prize but that he nearly doubled the donation of Gov. Roosevelt.

THYMUS GLAND.

Mrs. M. R. writes: Will you kindly write an article about the thymus gland? My son, who is five years old, has an enlarged thymus gland and, although he has had several series of X-ray treatments, the gland is still enlarged. His tonsils have been in a very bad condition since babyhood, but due to this enlarged gland, he has been unable to take an anesthetic. What effect will this gland have when he is older? In case of an emergency operation will he ever be able to take an anesthetic?

REPLY.

We wrote on this subject a short time ago. It seems reasonably well established that the presence of a mass, usually called an enlarged thymus, in the upper chest does not increase the danger of sudden death. If your child's tonsils need attention you can have them attended to with reasonable safety.

1. What foods contain iron chiefly?
2. Is iron needed in cases of rheumatism?
3. By what test can one determine amount of iron in the system?
4. Should strawberries and tomatoes be avoided in rheumatism?

REPLY.

1. The foods richest in iron are liver, tripe, kidney, heart, bone marrow, yellow of egg, oatmeal, cracked wheat, whole grain breads, molasses, peas, beans, spinach, chard and greens.
2. Yes.
3. A test of the coloring matter in the blood.
4. No.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With DON B. REED

ONE week from Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Movie Fan and all the little Movie Fans seeking diversion over the week-end, will have the choice of seven cathedrals of the cinema instead of five as at present, for the Metropolitan and the Rialto are about to swing into action.

I might say that they mean real action, too, for the list of opening attractions would indicate, off-hand, that the houses which have been operating steadily will have to watch their P's and Q's to hold their patrons against the glittering array of stories and talent which the two "new" houses will offer.

The notice from the Metropolitan having arrived first, I note here that "An American Tragedy" will start a run at the Warner Bros. house Saturday, September 5. This Paramount version of the Theodore Dreiser story has aroused much interest ahead of time with every promise that the film will start the theater off with a bang on the new season.

Phillips Holmes, Frances Dee, Sylvia Sidney, and Irving Pichel are the main characters in the film version, which was directed by Josef Von Sternberg. Following "An American Tragedy" into the Met will be "Alexander Hamilton" starring George Arliss, supported by Doris Kenyon and a long list of featured players. The third attraction will be "Five Star Final" in which Edward G. Robinson is the star, aided by Marion Marsh and H. B. Warner.

Down around the corner on Ninth street, the Rialto, all spic and span after its summer breathing spell, will resume business on the same date with "Waterloo Bridge" as its lid-lifter, as predicted in this column several days ago. Rodney Collier, dripping wet after emerging from last night's shower, brought word that Mae Clark's performance in this Universal picture has amazed those who have been fortunate enough to witness it. He predicts Washington will be hailing a new star before "Waterloo Bridge" has run many days at the Rialto.

Frederick Flader, Universal executive who is in town for the Rialto opening, says "Waterloo Bridge" is "a rare picture, indeed. Made by the man who made "Journey's End," it recounts in vivid, daring continuity the drama that followed when a Canadian soldier on English leave met a girl of the streets, a derelict beauty of London's half-world.

James Whale is the director of the Rialto's opening attraction, which is to be followed by such pictures as Fannie Hurst's "Back Street," "East of Borneo," "Homicide Squad," Lew Ayres in "Heaven on Earth," and John Boles in "Marriage Interlude."

And while on the subject of pictures still some time off, it might be well to give the line-ups and batting order for the coming week. Commencing Friday the Fox will present "Bad Girl," with Sally Eilers and James Dunn and the "Micky Mouse" Idea on the stage, while Wheeler and Woolsey, aided by Dorothy Lee, offer "Caught Plastered" at RKO-Keith's. The Columbia will continue another week with "The Smiling Lieutenant," featuring Chevalier, Colbert and Hopkins. Which leaves two Saturday openings. Lionel Barrymore and Kay Francis are featured in "Guilty Hands" at the Palace, where Polly Moran will appear in person, and there will also be "Syncopation of 1931" on the stage, while at the Earle Richard Barthelmess is the star of "The Last Flight," the screen offering. On the stage the bill will be headed by Collins and Peterson in "You're a Wise Guy."

This fellow, Julian Hall, who has been entertaining Fox patrons with his Charlie Chaplin imitation as part of the All-Washington Revue has had a varied career. The son of Mrs. Herbert Alto, of 1319 West Virginia avenue northeast, Hall was taken with his father to join a circus when only 5 years old. In a year the youngster had learned acrobatic work, and during his youth became a trapeze artist, later leading the band. He played as a double for Chaplin in "Dough and Dynamite," but returned to his first love—music and dancing—and has been leading orchestras in New York and the Capital since. His father was a noted dancing teacher here, and it is from him that Hall gets considerable natural talent. His act has been outstanding in the revue with every audience.

Robert Woolsey, who appears here beginning tomorrow in "Caught Plastered" at RKO-Keith's, has broken his own record. During the making of the picture he smoked 134 cigars. Previously he had consumed 102 El Fumeosos, or whatever they are in "Hook, Line and Sinker," and before that 87 in "Rio Rita." But then he was only starting. He expects to better even the 134 mark in his next feature.

Polly Moran, guest of the Loew executives for a week beginning Saturday, will be properly feted, dined and entertained during her stay in the Capital. After the first burst of flashlight bulbs in the shadows of Union Station Saturday morning she will be interviewed by the assembled scribes at a breakfast which Jim Lundy is arranging for 10:30 o'clock. Jim hopes some of the critics will be up by then. Four shows a day, sight-seeing, shopping, receptions and what not will keep Polly so busy I doubt she gets her usual quota of shut-eye. However, for what she'll get next week, I could do without a little sleep myself.

Infantile Paralysis Cases Rise to 1,104

With Minnesota figures still out, the Public Health Service yesterday had received reports of 1,104 cases of infantile paralysis as compared with 1,040 last week.

Minnesota last week had 29 cases and the disease appeared to be on the increase there. New York City's cases declined with 422 this week as compared with 512 last week and 591 the week before.

States reporting 10 or more cases were Massachusetts, 115; Rhode Island, 22; Connecticut, 115; New York, 555; New Jersey, 78; Pennsylvania, 10; Illinois, 36; Michigan, 68; Wisconsin, 26.

2 Pigeons Outfly Policemen's Plane

Feathered Carriers on Job for Kidnapers Elude Law's Pursuit.

New York, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—A pair of pigeons outflew a police plane today, leaving the law again in a fog concerning the whereabouts and fate of Edgar F. Hazelton, jr., 16 years old, kidnaped several days ago.

The pigeons were to have been the messengers to carry $2,500 ransom money from the boy's father, a former Queens County district attorney. A telephone call had informed Hazelton where the pigeons might be found, and instructed him to fasten the ransom money to their legs and release them.

Policemen took the pigeons into the air and released them from a plane for the purpose of pursuing them and thus, perhaps, finding the kidnapers. The pigeons, however, flew faster than the plane and were lost to sight.

Tariff Act Is Blamed For Cut in Eggs Export

(Associated Press.)

Representative Cannon (Democrat), Missouri, charged yesterday the Hawley-Smoot tariff act had greatly reduced the amount of eggs exported to Canada.

In a statement issued through the Democratic national committee, Cannon said that during the first four months of 1930, "when Canada had a reasonable tariff of three cents against shell eggs, we exported to that market a total of 2,728,500 dozen eggs. After the enactment of the Hawley-Smoot tariff," he added, "Canada, in retaliation, increased the duty on American eggs to 10 cents a dozen. During the first four months of this year, our egg shipments to Canada totaled only 17,968 dozen."

HIS DISCOVERY

MICHAEL FARADAY

—English scientist, familiar to all students of electricity today, through two laws of electro-chemical change given by him to science, and named FARADAY'S LAWS—published in 1831 in his series, "Experimental Researches in Electricity," which gave the world the principles of the development of the induction of currents and the evolution of electricity from magnetism.

100 YEARS AGO TODAY

LIGHT...POWER...RADIO...TELEVISION...ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION---yesterday's luxuries...
Today's necessities, could not have been developed without FARADAY'S Discovery

100 years have passed since Michael Faraday first gave to the world the principle of induced electricity. This principle made possible the generator of the modern power plant and to the great scientist we are indebted for many of our modern electrical comforts and conveniences.

At our Benning Power Plant, gigantic dynamos and generators are turning ceaselessly every hour of the day and night in order that you may enjoy life. They bring you electricity to light your homes; power to drive street cars, elevators and great and small machines in industry and commerce; they bring you electricity to create constant dependable cold in your modern electric refrigerator; they bring hours of delightful radio programs; they bring you the driving force that propels your vacuum cleaner, washing machine, electric oil burner and countless other labor saving devices; they even bring you better cooked foods through the modern electric range and the toaster, waffle iron, percolator and other appliances.

In the early days, Faraday's principle applied to the distribution of power was very costly. Throughout the years, improvements in equipment and modern engineering economies have made the application of the principle sound. This is reflected in our own Benning Power Plant where constant economies and improvements have made possible substantial rate reductions for seven successive years. The present household rate of 4.2c per kwh., one of the lowest rates in the entire country, is 58% lower than the rate in 1924. Truly a testimonial of the part which "Matchless Service" is playing in the development of the principle discovered by Faraday one hundred years ago today.

NATS BOW TO TIGERS, 5-4, ON HOME RUN IN EIGHTH

Fischer Relieves Jones, Is Victim of Johnson's Decisive Circuit Wallop

Veteran, Unable to Hold Lead, Pounded Out in Second.

Whitehill Yields Only 7 Hits; Effective After First.

By H. G. SALSINGER.
(Sports Editor, Detroit News.)

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 26.—Roy Johnson, the Scotch-Cherokee outfielder, leading off the batting order for Detroit in the eighth inning yesterday, hit a home run and kept Washington from scoring a shutout. The same Johnson, leading off again in the eighth inning today, hit another home run, and this four-bagger beat Washington, 5 to 4, and enabled Detroit to split even on the four-game series.

Washington did not deserve to win. Sam Jones, the melancholy right-hander, who has beaten Detroit so many times in the past, had no pitching magic today. A three-bagger, two doubles and a single were hammered off Jones for three runs in the first inning and after Whitehill tripled in the second, Carl Fischer relieved Jones. He remained through the game and was charged with the defeat as the result of Johnson's circuit smash over the right field fence, the only run scored off Fischer.

Whitehill Much Better Than on Sunday.

Earl Whitehill, who was knocked out of the box by Washington in the third inning on Sunday, beat them today. He was a different pitcher; he had all sorts of stuff and he had to pitch against bad fielding. Only one Washington run was earned. Three were kicked over by Whitehill's supporting cast in the first inning; the other one was earned. It came with two out in the third and tied the score at four.

Washington made seven hits off Whitehill and they totaled eight bases. Detroit made 11 hits off Jones and Fischer, and they totaled 20 bases, with all runs earned.

Outhit as they were, the Nationals made a game bid in the ninth. For seven innings Whitehill had held them to two hits. From the fourth until the start of the ninth, they had gone hitless. Then, in the ninth, they packed the bases. Kuhel fouled out, Spencer singled and Hayes, batting for Fischer, flied out. But Myer singled and Manush was hit in the back by a pitched ball. It was up to Cronin. With three on and two out and one run needed to tie, he hit a long fly to center. Walker hauled it down in front of the scoreboard and the game was over.

Three-run Lead Not Enough For Jones.

Jones went to the box with a three-run lead and there have been a number of games in the past when Jones asked no more than one run to beat Detroit.

The Tiger defense had gone awry in the first inning. With one out, Manush single to right. Cronin hit an easy bounder to Richardson. He overplayed the ball in his anxiety to start a double play, fumbled and then heaved to the stands, Manush going to third and Cronin to second. Harris tapped to Whitehill and Manush started for the plate. He scored when Whitehill hit him in the back with the ball. West singled Cronin home and Harris scored on Bluege's fly to Johnson.

Tiger hits soon wiped out the lead. Johnson doubled and Gehringer tripled him home. Stone struck out, but Alexander singled Gehringer across. Gerald Walker doubled and Alexander scored.

In the next inning Whitehill tripled to the bleachers with one out and Fischer relieved Jones. Whitehill scored on Johnson's slow roller to Myer and the Tigers had a one-run lead.

Washington tied in the third when West walked and, with two out, Kuhel hit the right field foul line, the ball bounding away for a two-bagger and West scored the tying run.

From thereon it was a swell pitchers' battle until Johnson hit his four-bagger in the eighth.

Washington's pitching staff, regarded as the best balanced in the league at the start of the season, seems fairly well shot at present. Not one of Washington's starting pitchers was able to finish, and no team can go along using two and three pitchers a day and win.

In the first game here, Johnson used Burke and Crowder; in the second game he used Marberry, Hadley and Brown; yesterday he had Brown and Crowder in the box and today Fischer relieved Jones in the second inning.

Jonathan Stone took a chance on Heinie Manush's throwing arm in the third, and it cost a run. He tried for a triple on his hit to left and Heinie threw him out at third. Alexander followed with a long single.

Gehringer's smash in the first landed near the top of right-field wall. The ball bounded off, struck Harris in back of the head and knocked him flat. Time was taken out, and he continued in the game until the eighth when Rice substituted for him.

There were several spectacular fielding plays today. Gerald Walker made the most unusual. He badly misjudged Myer's fly in the fourth and had to reverse and go back. He finally made a leap and grabbed the ball with his bare hand.

Myer made a remarkable running pick-up of Johnson's grounder to second in the fifth, and a moment later Manush made a glove-handed stab of Gehringer's smashing drive to left center.

Washington's run of faultless fielding was broken in the sixth when Kuhel was charged with an error on an unusual play. Bluege's throw beat Alexander by a step, and Moriarty called him out. After Alexander crossed the bag the ball bounded straight up about 4 feet and Moriarty reversed his decision.

Phils Rally to Beat Reds Twice, 8-4, 7-6

Philadelphia, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—A sizzling ninth inning rally in the second game enabled the Phillies to take both ends of a double-header from Cincinnati today. Phil Collins scored his fifth straight victory when he triumphed, 8 to 4, in the opener, and the Phils overcame a three-run advantage to win out, 7 to 6, in the second game.

Dick Bartell decided the second game when with two out and the bases full, he doubled to center. Hendrick hit a home run in the first game and Hurst had one in the nightcap.

MACKS LOSE TO BROWNS, 9 TO 5

Walberg, Earnshaw Pounded; Stewart Checks Champs.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Rallies in the seventh and eighth innings netting six runs brought the Browns from behind to defeat the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-5, here today. The Browns' big four, Schulte, Burns, Goslin and Kress, collected eleven of the sixteen hits made off Rube Walberg, the A's starting pitcher, and big George Earnshaw, who relieved him in the eighth. Two of Burns' three hits were doubles.

Rip Collins, Manager Killefer's choice today, was routed in the fourth inning when the Athletics scored three runs, but Walter Stewart checked the champions.

Philadelphia, making its last American League appearance here this afternoon, took the series, three games to two.

Campolo-Schaaf Bout Rained Out

Heavyweights Clash Monday; Argentinian Has 18-Pound Advantage.

New York, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Threatening weather and probable lack of interest among the customers caused the postponement of Victorio Campolo's comeback joust with Ernie Schaaf in Ebbets Field tonight until Monday night.

The heavyweights, matched for twelve rounds, scaled in today with Campolo, the giant Argentine, towering over the blonde Bostonian and outweighing Ernie by 18 pounds. Campolo nudged the bar at 225 pounds, Schaaf at 207. They will weigh in again Monday.

Tilden May Invade Europe in October

New York, Aug. 25 (A.P.).—Big Bill Tilden may extend his professional tennis tour to Europe this October, despite the unsuccessful attempt of Jack Curley, promoter, to engage Henri Cochet for a series of matches with the American. Curley has offered Tilden a European contract.

Meanwhile, Tilden and four other professional players will start another Eastern tour, starting August 30 at the Jackson Heights Tennis Club, Long Island.

YANKS FALL TO CHISOX RALLY, 8-5

Rhodes and Johnson Pounded; Frasier Saves Lead.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—A seventh-inning attack on Gordon Rhodes and Henry Johnson netted the White Sox five runs and gave them an 8-to-5 victory over the New York Yankees in their final game of the season today. The Yanks previously had won ten straight at Comiskey Park.

Urban Faber and Rhodes went along fairly evenly for six innings, then Faber weakened and allowed two runs to give the Yanks a lead. It did not last long, however.

Tate opened Chicago's seventh with a double and Fothergill, batting for Faber, was safe on Lazzeri's error. Blue followed with a triple, Sullivan singled and Carl Reynolds hit a home run into the left stands to send Rhodes to the showers and clinch the contest.

Battle of 2 Nice Old Guys May Cost Brooklyn's Fans Manager and Much Mirth

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—This is the last year of Uncle Wilbert Robinson's current contract to manage the Brooklyn Daffiness Boys, and if he should happen to lose his job, in spite of the most insistent newspaper claque that ever befriended a man beset by small troubles, he will have to admit that press and public gave him a long hearing and a square deal. Uncle Wilbert has been enjoying for some years an old man's quarrel with old Steve McKeever, a Brooklyn politician, who represents a one-fourth interest in the ownership of the club.

This has been a very funny quarrel, as both old parties are fat and more or less bald and naturally more disposed toward tolerance than hatred. They are of the type which you might describe as the nice old guy type.

But here they have developed one of the most beautiful hatreds back and forth that have ever been seen in the sport industry, a hatred more amusing than the one that existed between Ban Johnson and Charlie Comiskey, because both old boys are still healthy.

And now that Uncle Wilbert has had a very punk year with the Daffiness Boys, old Steve will be sure to rage around the directors' meetings next winter, yelling for the rest of them to help him throw that doddering old hypocrite and so forth out of there. Uncle Wilbert will call Steve a few old whatnots on his part, and the pot will be calling the kettle old, each with rising scorn for the other's antiquity, until the directors reach their decision, which is certain to be a great blow and rebuke to one or the other.

It is a favorite fallacy that old people grow mellow and forgiving, but if you ever get a chance to interview the director of an old people's home you will learn that they can take more offense for less cause than people in the flower of their youth and exploit the smallest provocations into implacable hatreds.

Involved in this row on McKeever's side is one of the great old New York newspapers, whose sport editor seems to have injured Uncle Wilbert's feelings a few years ago. Uncle Wilbert then did as he shouldn't have done, telephoning the sport editor's boss in an attempt to have him fired for something which he had kept in his memory book a long time. The boss told Uncle Wilbert he was running that newspaper and also told him what he thought about people who blab to square a grievance.

Ever since then, Uncle Wilbert's

Dempsey Will Take Garden Bout in December, He Says

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—The New York American says Jack Dempsey told Tom McArdle, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, over the telephone today, he would be ready to face a first-class opponent in his comeback campaign sometime in December. The Garden offered Dempsey a fight in September and his choice of Paulino Uzcudun, Johnny Risko, Jose Santa or Jimmy Braddock as opponents.

In reply Dempsey is quoted as saying: "I'm not ready yet, but I will be. I'm not fighting topnotchers until I'm in top-notch condition. I'm booked solid on exhibition until the latter part of November. I figure I'll fight myself into shape and gradually take on tougher fellows. By December I'll be ready for anyone. You can positively count on me for a Garden shot this winter."

POREDA FACES HUNT.

Boston, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—Stanley Poreda, youthful Jersey City heavyweight, will seek to score his fifteenth consecutive ring victory when he clashes with Babe Hunt, of Ponca City, Okla., in a 10-round bout at Boston Arena tomorrow night.

Although only 21 years old, Poreda holds a decision over Johnny Risko. In addition he has won 36 of the 38 bouts participated in since he turned pro.

Ruth to Seek Pilot's Job In 1933

20 Years as Player Babe's Ambition at This Time.

Expects Renewal of $80,000 Contract Next Year.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—Babe Ruth told the United Press today he would be ready to retire from the player's ranks at the end of the 1933 season and seek a major league manager's job.

"My ambition is to play twenty years of major league baseball," said Babe, "and I need two more years to realize it. I know I can't go on forever, but I certainly don't feel like I'm washed up yet as a player."

Thirty-seven years old and playing his eighteenth season in the American League, Ruth remains the greatest drawing card in baseball. His presence at Comiskey Park was the big magnet which attracted more than 100,000 persons to see the Chicago White Sox, a hopeless second division club, play five games in four days against the Yankees.

$80,000 Contract To Expire.

Ruth's present two-year contract at $80,000 per annum expires at the end of the 1931 season, and the Bambino isn't figuring on taking a cut when he talks terms with Col. Jacob Ruppert this winter.

"Do you expect to get $80,000 next year?" Ruth was asked.

"I don't see why not," he replied. "I'm having one of the best years I've ever had."

"Don't you think the depression would justify the Yankees cutting your salary?"

"I haven't noticed any depression as far as the Yankees are concerned. We have broken baseball records in New York, Boston and Chicago this season and are packing them in all over the circuit. I'm certainly going to ask for another big contract, but there'll be plenty of time to talk about that this winter."

His Fielding Has Deteriorated.

Baseball writers who have followed Ruth's career day in and day out since he came to the Yankees in 1919 notice a deterioration in his fielding, but they can't find any fault with his batting. Ruth threatens to win back not only the home-run championship which he lost last year to Hack Wilson, but he is a leading contender for the American League batting championship as well. Al Simmons and Ruth were tied for the batting leadership until today, when Ruth went hitless. Simmons is batting .385 and Ruth .381.

Ruth is playing his head off, as his work against the White Sox illustrates. In 26 times at bat here this trip he made 10 hits and drew 8 walks for an average of .555. He hit his thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh home runs against the White Sox and now leads his nearest rival, Lou Gehrig, by three homers.

"When you are through as an active player would you be content to sit on the bench and act as a pinch-hitter?" Ruth was asked.

"No, sirree," snapped Babe. "When I've played those 20 years I am going to retire and start looking for a manager's job."

Persuaded to Decline Huggins' Berth.

When the late Miller Huggins died in 1929 Babe Ruth was anxious to step in then as manager of the Yankees, but friendly advisers are said to have persuaded him it would have been a bad move as long as he was an active player.

"Do you think you have the right temperament for a manager?"

"Well, the only way to settle that is for me to get a chance as a manager. I think I have, but I may be wrong."

Ruth said he would be willing to accept a job as manager of a second division team, and might even prefer a team that was run down.

"I would like to try out some of my ideas," he said, "and I would gladly accept a position as manager of a second division team. If I took a team of stars and won a pennant I wouldn't get near as much credit as I would if I built up a winner myself."

Cravath and Wife Hurt In Automobile Crash

Laguna Beach, Calif., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Clifford C. Cravath, once a mighty home run hitter for the Philadelphia Club of the National League, now city judge here, and Mrs. Cravath were injured severely in a motor car collision yesterday.

Cravath led the National League in home runs in 1913, 1914, 1915, 1918, 1919 and tied for the lead in 1917.

Mrs. Cravath suffered possible internal injuries and a deep cut on her face. Judge Cravath was cut and bruised.

U. S. Doubles Sees Stars Extended

Vines-Gledhill Rally to Avoid Defeat by Unseeded Pair.

British Pair Also Is Forced to 5 Sets to Reach 2d Round.

By BILL KING.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Ellsworth Vines and Keith Gledhill, Californian favorites to capture the Golden Jubilee National Doubles championship, today put on one of the bravest stands in the history of lawn tennis, to overhaul the two-set lead of the unseeded Rhode Islanders, Arnold Jones and Jimmy Van Allen, and smash their uphill way into the quarter-final round.

The West Coast youngsters, who have lost only one doubles engagement this season, started off in frightful fashion and the crafty lobs of their cool-thinking opponents speedily reduced them to the tyro stage.

Just when the battle appeared lost in the tenth game of the third set, when Jones and Van Allen reached match point twice, Vines rushed to the rescue and upheld his wobbling partner's service by smashing three terrific forehand drives between the opposition to pull up to five-all. Then he took command of his side of the court, played every shot that the Rhode Islanders sent over and with another series of forehanders, forced the vital break on Jones' service in the thirteenth game. Gledhill held to keep the match going.

Rest Proves Boon to California.

The ten-minute rest was a God-send to the Californians, for it gave them time to recover from their rude shock and map out a campaign that swept them on to victories in the fourth and deciding sets for a 0—6, 2—6, 8—6, 6—3, 6—4 decision.

Seven other seeded teams, including Johnny Doeg and George Lott, the defending champions, survived the other second round matches and all but one set of favored players had to overcome the sternest sort of competition.

Frederick J. Perry and George Patrick Hughes, the British Davis Cup pair, seemed headed for elimination several times during their two-hour struggle with rangy Lester Stoeffen and Jack Tidball, of Los Angeles. The Britons survived with a 3—6, 8—6, 6—8, 6—4, 8—6 decision with no thanks to Stoeffen. The latter killed plenty of the Britishers' lobs and repeatedly passed them at the net, but his sterling play could not balance the sloppy errors that Tidball made at every vital point in the match.

Doeg and Lott, although forced to go four sets, were never threatened as they piled up their 6—4, 3—6, 6—3, 6—2 victory ovr Jerry Sass and Bob McFarlane of Oklahoma City. Frank X. Shields and Sidney Wood, Davis Cup players, emulated the champions' brand of play against Lloyd Nordstrom and Wallace Scott of Tacoma, Wash., for a 6—4, 3—6, 6—3, 6—3 win. These victors will swap strokes tomorrow.

Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, last year's runners-up won the right to contest the Britishers in the quarter-finals by wearing down the experienced combination of Edward Feibleman, New York, and J. Gilbert Hall, East Orange, N. J., for an 11-9, 3—6, 6—1, 6—2 victory.

Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., and Berkley Bell, New York, were the only pair to overcome their opposition in straight sets. This fourth seeded team waded through Eugene McAuliff, Yonkers, N. Y., and Keith Werner, Los Angeles, for a 6—3, 10—8, 6—4 decision, the most decisive one of the day. They will play Eddie Jacobs, Baltimore, and Wilbur F. Coen, jr., Kansas City, who had to battle for three and a half hours before eliminating the stubborn Texans, John Barr and James Quick, members of the Dallas faction in the Lone Star State's tennis layout, by scores of 8—10, 4—6, 6—4, 13—11, 6—4.

Cliff Sutter, New Orleans, and Bruce Barnes, Austin, Tex., shared the quarter-finals bracket housing Vines and Gledhill by defeating the Hartford, Conn., team of H. H. Hyde and John Gow, 6—1, 7—5, 4—6, 6—4 in a match that was never doubtful.

It was the only match played yesterday, the four remaining tilts having been completed earlier in the week. The feature of the

LADY DEAN UPSETS DOPE IN FEATURE AT LINCOLN FIELDS

In-and-Outer Earns Nose Verdict

Mare Forges in Front in Final Jumps to Pay $22.06.

Prose and Poetry Is Second, With Willa Next Home.

LINCOLN FIELDS RACE TRACK, Chicago, Ill., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—A band of high-class selling platers held the feature spot on today's card, but didn't detract any from the sport; in fact, the race produced one of the best finishes of the afternoon, with Lady Dean, an outsider in the betting, catching the judge's eye.

Suitor and Skirl were prominent in the early stages, with Willa racing in third place. As the field swung into the main lane it was anybody's race until the final few jumps, when Lady Dean forged to the front to get her nose in front at the wire, just beating Prose and Poetry, under a strong finish on the part of Bobby Jones. Willa was racing far out in the track to be third a half length in the rear of Prose and Poetry.

The winner, which has been pretty much of an "in and outer" around the local tracks, paid the nice price of $22.06. Herman Schutte did a nice job of piloting.

Legion Handicap at Spa To Con Amore.

Saratoga Springs Race Track, N. Y., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Con Amore, a 4-year-old filly which showed good form in Chicago competition and which lost a close decision in her debut over the local course, turned in a smashing effort to beat a high-class field of sprinters in the American Legion Handicap at 7 furlongs here this afternoon. Running the 7 furlongs in 1:24 flat, the J. W. Y. Martin representative was up to beat Flying Heels, from the J. J. Curtis establishment, by a nose. J. G. Lang's Footmark was third, a half length away. Mr. Sponge was a like distance back in fourth place.

The race was worth $3,950 and a piece of plate presented by the local post of the legion, to the winner's owner. Con Amore paid 6 to 1 and was ridden by Pat Remillard. The daughter of High Cloud—Billet Doux carried 114 pounds.

Footmark, a recent winner at this point, might have won with equal racing luck, but he had a very rough trip and did well to finish third.

Flying Heels flashed to the front right after the start, but Con Amore was only a head away, with Footmark third and Commuter fourth. Remillard eased Con Amore back off the bristling pace and Commuter went up to force the pace, a half length off the leader and two lengths before the eventual winner. Footmark got in trouble and was pushed back to fifth place. In a long thrilling drive to the wire, Con Amore gradually gained until she drew up to even terms with Flying Heels. The latter held on tenaciously under 124 pounds, but the filly stuck her nose in front as they passed the judges.

Boots and Saddle's

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office)

—Lincoln Fields Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

LINCOLN FIELDS RACE TRACK, Chicago, Ill., Aug. 26.—A half dozen speedy sprinters have been entered in the Kapp-Myers Purse, an allowance for 3-year-olds and upward, which will feature the Lincoln Fields program here tomorrow. The event carries a purse value of $1,500 and will be decided over the three-quarter mile route. The rest of the card will bring out the cheaper horses, under claiming conditions.

KARL EITEL, sterling colt in the J. J. Coughlin string, has been accorded the honor in the headliner. In his last the Coughlin color bearer set the pace for most of the mile and a sixteenth route, but at the shorter distance figures to score. MARTHA JONES turned in a splendid effort last outing to finish behind Pansy Walker, and off that effort will be hard to beat. BARRIDO has trained well after a brief rest and should give a good account of himself.

FIRST RACE—DISCOBOLUS, which flashed early speed last time out, should improve enough to graduate from this group. MENELEK faced forwardly in his recent start and is the one to fear. COLONIAL BELLE, from the Audley Farm string, is the show selection.

SECOND RACE—MUCKER is well suited by the conditions. NELLIE CUSTIS has the early speed of this band and may last to gain the place, with BARNEY SEXTON, a game router, favored to annex the show.

THIRD RACE—LADY BATTS is the selection on her recent good form. The Prince Phillip miss scored impressively last start and under the same conditions, should repeat. TRIASSIC, a recent winner, is well favored and should furnish stern opposition. KATHERINE FOX should land the show.

FIFTH RACE—WIRT G. BOWMAN should lead CAIUS to the wire. The latter has shown consistent form, but is stepping up a notch. PLAY BALL, from the Mrs. R. L. Rogers Stable, may prove dangerous, with GO TO IT an outside possibility.

SIXTH RACE—C. V. Whitney's HILEE, after a short rest, is selected to gain the honors. The Whitneyite will encounter stern competition from STILL and BLACK BULL. The latter two are picked to finish in the order named.

SEVENTH RACE—GRASSLANDS, from the J. Greenbaum string, which finished second to Bug Hunter last start, is given the call. ENGLEWOOD has turned in some fair efforts at this distance and must be conceded a chance on his best form. TRANSGRESSION is lightly weighted with 100 pounds and is favored to share in the purse.

LINCOLN FIELDS, ILL., CHART, AUGUST 26, 1931.

FIRST RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,200. Special weights. Geranium Purse. For maiden 2-year-old fillies. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:18. Off at 2:19½. Winner, R. S. Clark's b. f. (2), by Macaw—Whisk By. Trained by A. Baker. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:46 1-5, 0:59, 1:06 4-5.

KAKAPO, much the best, sprinted to the front on the outside in the first furlong and, taking a long lead approaching the stretch turn, held it to the finish. BRIGHT BEAUTY went well and staged a game finish. SUSU was well up from the start and held on fairly well. COUSIN JUDY weakened after reaching a good position in the stretch. ZINA, PUPPET and MELODEON were shut off around the far turn.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—INFINITY, $5.60, $3.62, $3.12; GUIDE RIGHT, $3.46, $2.82; BILL LOONEY, $4.04.

INFINITY, a quiet beginner, soon went to the front and, shaking off DON ALVARO and EL RELICARIO after going half the distance, opened up a long lead and won in hand. GUIDE RIGHT closed fast to best BILL LOONEY. The latter went well and loomed up dangerously at the stretch turn, but could not get to the leader. BARON KING met with some early interference. DON ALVARO stopped badly in the stretch. EL RELICARIO showed a flash of early speed.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BLACK STRAP, $30.00, $8.84; $4.58; CHATTER QUEEN, $3.06, $2.44; CEE TEE, $4.70.

BLACK STRAP, well up from the start, came over to take a good lead approaching the stretch turn and led to the end to score under strides. CHATTER QUEEN met with some interference from the winner, but continuing well and was going gamely at the finish. CEE TEE closed strongly on the outside. LATE DATE showed a good effort. MARSE ROBERT was in close quarters at the half-way mark. SHAKER LADY was forced to pull up leaving the back stretch. ELEANOR'S CHOICE and BRYONIA were in trouble early.

FOURTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:46½. Off at 3:48. Winner Dixiana Stable's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—LADY DEAN, $22.06, $10.14, $4.38; PROSE AND POETRY, $10.68, $4.56; WILLA, $2.62.

LADY DEAN, always well up, staged a game finish and bested PROSE AND POETRY after a hard stretch drive. The latter moved up strongly at the stretch turn and dashed to the front at midstretch, but hung slightly near the end. WILLA, under early restraint, raced very wide in the stretch, finishing third on the outside fence, pulled up lame. CULLODEN was in close quarters in the stretch. SUITOR was prominent to the stretch, then tired unexpectedly. SKIRL set the pace, but dropped out of it when the real racing began.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:17½. Off at 4:21½. Winner, Keeneland Stud's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SANTON, $15.94, $8.86, $5.10; DRASTIC DELIGHT, $20.66, $14.14; VERMICULITE, $3.90.

SANTON improved his position gradually in the early running and, catching HIS LAST in the final furlong to best DRASTIC DELIGHT. The latter closed strongly on the inside and would have won in a few more strides. VERMICULITE was going strongly at the finish after racing fairly well up throughout. ELYSIUM held on fairly well. HIS LAST tired in last furlong after taking command of the race. SWEEP PAST bore out badly when leading during the back stretch run and her rider was unable to control her and eased her up in the stretch. OUTBURST lacked the speed to keep up in the early stages and showed nothing when put to a drive.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good for all but Host. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:46½. Off at 4:46½. Winner, Mrs. E. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SHOW DOWN, $11.16, $6.68, $3.86; ROYAL MANAGER, $13.74, $6.70; WATERGAP, $3.52.

SHOW DOWN followed the early pace under suffrance and, catching ANNAN at the far turn, took a short lead and showed the way to the finish. ROYAL MANAGER, probably best, was permitted to race wide in the stretch and was going well at the finish. ANNAN weakened in the last furlong and was the close quarters next the finish. KENTUCKY ACE weakened. HOST dwelt at the start and was off several lengths back of the field. LADRONE was outrun all the way.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:15½. Off at 5:17. Winner, W. C. and E. W. Two-dollar mutuels paid—WIZARDRY, $23.14, $8.18, $4.92; SEARINGTON, $5.96, $3.92; MADCAP MARVIN, $4.56.

WIZARDRY gained steadily in the early running and, taking command in the stretch, lasted to hold SEARINGTON in a driving finish. The latter was always close up, lost some ground at the stretch turn, but staged a good finish. MADCAP MARVIN was close up under restraint in the early stakes and finished well. BRUSH went wide around the first turn, then saved ground by hugging the rail around far turn to reach a contending position, only to be in close quarters repeatedly thereafter. DELMONICO weakened in the final run. PRINCESS EDITH tired badly.

ROBINS' FANS FACE LOSS OF FUN

name has been barred from this newspaper, and when the baseball reporter with the Brooklyn Daffiness Boys feels compelled to refer to Uncle Wilbert he calls him simply the manager of the Brooklyn baseball club, which is a small way of doing, but consistent with the general character of the whole row. The sport editor is fairly full of years himself and, while it is easy enough to dislike him on hearsay, I have discovered on acquaintance that he is as easy to like as old Uncle Wilbert and old Steve.

When Uncle Wilbert's name was barred out of one paper, the baseball writers and sport columnists with the other papers, liking Uncle Wilbert, began to give him a little extra mention, generally in praise, and if not in praise, then, anyway, in extenuation of his mistakes. They were fond of the old boy, with his face full of sucking tobacco and his disposition to live by the way as he traveled through life. It may have been none of their business to get him out of a jam for which he had only himself to blame, but in politics many a paper has gone farther out on a weaker limb for a worse fellow, so the Uncle Wilbert claque wasn't guilty of a very serious betrayal of a solemn professional trust.

Throughout his career with the Daffiness Boys, which began in 1914, which would be nearly 18 years ago, Uncle Wilbert has been a hit-or-miss manager, but he has always had an odd way of coming up to the league in the spring with two or three bobbling derelicts, picked up in the deep bushes or at winter rummage sales, who would suddenly begin to play marvelous baseball for him.

Dazzy One of Robinson's Many Pick-Ups.

Dazzy Vance has now gone by, but for a few years recently he was one of the greatest pitchers in the game and a good box-office character, too. Uncle Wilbert salvaged Dazzy from New Orleans in 1921 after he had been sold, traded and released up and down the scale nineteen times. In the course of these wanderings Dazzy had been looked over by the Yankees six times and the Pirates once, but Uncle Wilbert was the first major league manager who recognized him as a pitcher. Possibly he helped him unlearn his faults and improve his virtues, because Uncle Wilbert had been a good coach of pitchers for the Giants in years gone by, and I have read that he was the one who enabled Rube Marquard to make good.

Last year he wheedled a fine season out of 'Dolfe Luque, the Cuban, who was at his best in the mock world series 'way back in 1919, and had been let go by Cincinnati. This year he gave jobs to Joe Shaute, who had checked out of Cleveland, and Fred Heimach and old Jack Quinn, age about 50, who has been pitching ball since McKinley was President and people were saying the moving pictures were only a passing fad. Many a time a club has paid $50,000 for a pitcher who couldn't do as well.

Has Endeared Self to Fans Of Brooklyn.

But Uncle Wilbert isn't really a quick manager, and on his ability and his record alone, without his personal character to warm to cold facts, he might have been unjobbed a long time ago, with only a casual so-long from the press and customers.

In Brooklyn, however, he has endeared himself to the baseball community and "endeared" is a very loving word. He argues with hack drivers and ordinary muggs hanging around the gate who want to know why he didn't pitch some one else, and if they abuse him sometimes it is what you might call affectionate abuse, because he is one of them.

Come fall time he likes to go away and hunt and sit around and tell lies, and he is no prohibitionist in any respect. And if his ball teams haven't been uniformly the best during his spell in Brooklyn, they have certainly been the funniest of all time in the major leagues.

Old Man McKeever may get rid of him at last this year and get a better manager for less money, but a serious, hustling manager would make the Daffiness Boys play straight face baseball, and then where would the Brooklyn people go for their laughs?

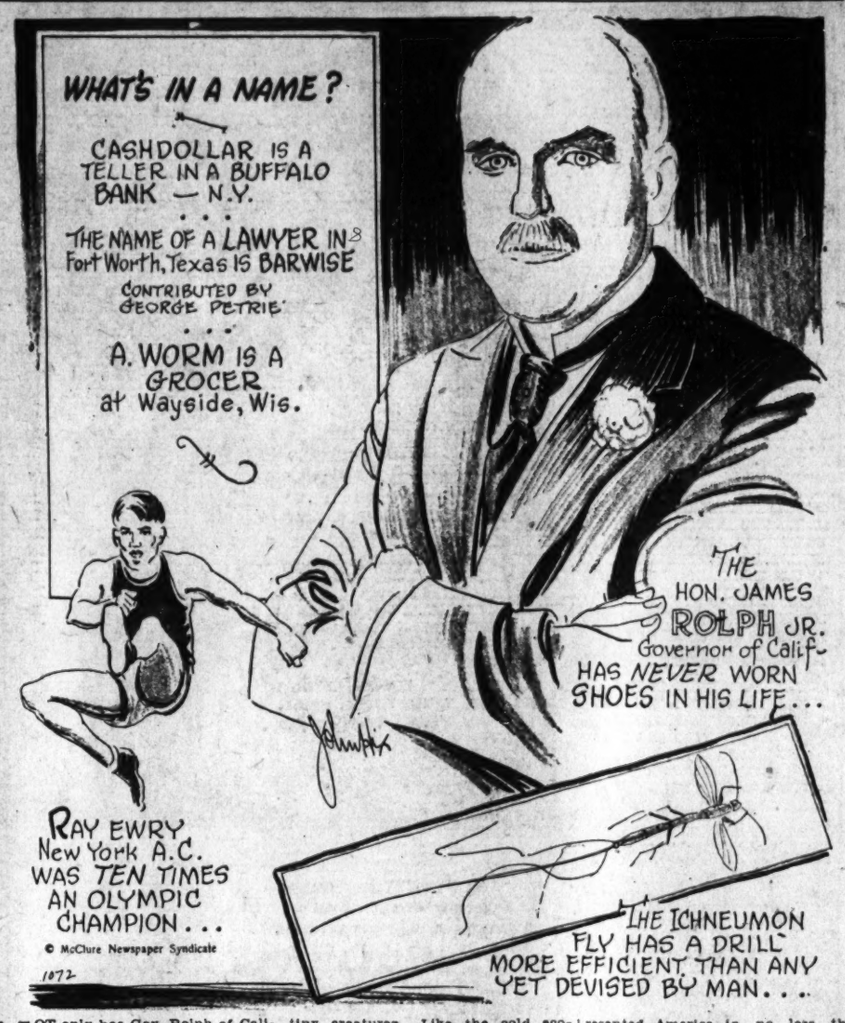
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix



NOT only has Gov. Rolph of California shunned shoes during his lifetime, but neither did his father ever have a shoe on his foot. In one of the recent "Strange as It Seems" movies the governor says: "Sixty years ago when I was a boy, men were men, and my father was a real Californian. He wore boots, so I followed in his footsteps." The governor, who was mayor of San Francisco for 24 years, has boots for every occasion.

Insects are superior to man in many respects and some of our best inventions are surpassed by these tiny creatures. Like the cold economical light of the firefly that even modern science is unable to duplicate, the frail drill possessed by the ichneumon fly is superior in efficiency to any produced by machinery.

The drill of the ichneumon is four and a half inches long—three times the length of the insect itself. It is really an egg-laying tube, and with it the female ichneumon bores a hole four inches deep into the hardest trees.

Sailors Lose In 5-Inning Contest

Corkins Blanks Naval Hospital; Attack in 3d Decides.

3,000 Watch Game; Isert's Catch of Drive Feature.

PLAYING in semidarkness from the second inning until the fifth, when the umpires finally decided to call the game, Government Printing Office captured the first game to reach a decision in its series with Naval Hospital for the championship of the Government League by a score of 3 to 0. The first game of the series resulted in a 4-to-4 tie.

Ernie Hiser's single, scoring Mosedale in the third inning, was enough to assure the Printers of victory. Not content with this slim lead, Lew Hollis dumped a Texas leaguer in center field, scoring Gartland, who had walked, and Hiser, to put the game on ice.

Corkins held the Hospital sluggers well in check, allowing only five hits and fanning five. Corkins, after working easily in the first two innings, bore down on his opponents in the last three with the result that the sailors could hardly see the ball

Hits Off Clapper

Bunched.

"Babe" Clapper also allowed five hits, but these were bunched effectively in the third. Clapper's record was also helped by the scorekeeper who erased a single by Hiser and a home run by "Brother" Harding in the sixth, which were of no value when the score was reverted back to the fifth inning.

In addition to all this, Isert, in left field, made a sparkling running catch of Al Schneider's blow which looked good for at least three bases. Patterson led the losers at bat with two hits in as many attempts. The second game of the series will be played today at 5 p. m., on the West Ellipse, provided the diamond is in shape.

GALA DAY AT WOODMONT SATURDAY

All Varieties of Golf Play Listed for Field Day.

THE Tournament Committee of the Woodmont Club announces that the annual field day will be held next Saturday, with the assurance that the program is a veritable three-ring circus, with main ring features and side-show attractions. In fact, there will be something doing every minute of the day and evening.

Among the events scheduled are sweepstakes for men and women, eighteen holes, handicap medal play; a pitching and putting contest; a driving contest; final events in the men's and women's tennis tournament; a horseshoe pitching contest; a ping pong tournament, and dancing and card playing after dinner.

The principal feature of the day will be an exhibition golf match with Howard Nordlinger and Max Weyl, of the Woodmont Club, paired against James D. Herrman, Washington Golf and Country Club, and Harry G. Pitt, Manor. Nordlinger is the present club champion and Weyl was club champion in 1929. Pitt and Herrman are among the leading amateurs in this section. The latter was runner-up in the first flight of the Woodmont invitation tournament last spring.

Diamond Dust

PERHAPS sandlot ball players do not produce games on par with those played in the big leagues, but their followers enjoy a class by themselves when it comes to wisecracking. At the game between G. P. O. and Naval Hospital yesterday, two ponderous partisans were engaged in a verbal duel which was stretched out over a couple of innings. Finally one shouted, "Did you bring your monkey today?" To which his opponent replied, "No, but you'll do. Come on over."

The Woodmen of the World will not play Ciro's Italian Villagers Sunday as had previously been announced, but will engage the Bladensburg A. C. at 3 p. m. on the Kenilworth diamond. All members of the Woodmen team are requested to meet at the home of Manager Armstrong, 1601 A street southeast, Sunday at 1 p. m.

The Seat Pleasant Firemen will play football under the colors of the Dixie Pig A. C. this season. The first meeting will be held at the Seat Pleasant fire house, Tuesday, September 8. All members and new candidates are requested to attend.

The Anacostia Eagles will visit the Lorton Reformatory Saturday for a game with the home team at 2 p. m. The Eagles would like to schedule an out-of-town opponent for a game Sunday. Call Lincoln 4434-J after 6 p. m.

Manager Hager would like to arrange a game with an out-of-town team for his Palisades A. C. He can be reached at Cleveland 2133-J, or by addressing him at 5040 Dana place northwest.

Bill McCrea's Auths A. C. will meet Ballston Saturday at 3 p. m. on the latter's diamond. The Auths, with 23 victories in 25 starts, are claiming the independent unlimited championship of the District. Any and all teams desiring to contest the Meatmen's claim to the crown are invited to call Bill at the Auth Co. during the day.

Tickets for the game between Commerce, winner of the Departmental League, and St. Mary's Celtics, Sunday are on sale at Vic's Sport Shop, and may be procured for the small sum of 35 cents, according to "Dutch" Kinney, manager of Commerce.

The Bethesda A. C. would like to schedule a game to be played on its home diamond. Manager Gingrell is arranging the schedule at Bethesda 233 after 3 p. m.

The Congress Heights A. C. will drill today and tomorrow at 5 p. m. in preparation for Saturday's game with the Skinker Bros. Eagles on the latter's field at 3 p. m. Sunday the Heights nine will play Chevy Chase at 3 p. m. on the Chevy Chase diamond.

The St. Joseph's A. C. will meet the Cutter's Club of Lynchburg, Va., Saturday, September 4, and again on the following day, instead of in a doubleheader on Labor Day, as previously announced. The local nine leaves Washington early Saturday morning, traveling by auto.

The Eldbrooke M. E. team will play the Skinker Bros. Eagles today at 5 p. m. on the South Ellipse. Members of both teams are requested to report at 4:30 p. m.

Spengler Post continued its winning ways by walloping the Burroughs A. C. yesterday, 6-3.

The Senators downed the K. of C. Peewees in a loosely played game yesterday by a 12-6 count. Saturday the "Little Caseys" meet the Hillcrest A. C. at 11 a. m. on the North Ellipse. The K. of C. Peewees will play the Joe Cronins Friday at the same hour on the same field.

"Wee Willie" Glascoe requests all members of the Griffith-Blue Coal team to meet at the clubhouse, No. 7 Fourth street northeast, Sunday at 1 p. m. The Griffs are scheduled to meet the Foxall A. C. at 3 p. m. on the latter's diamond.

NAVY TAKES NET CROWN PLAY-OFF

Treasury Is Defeated for Departmental League Title.

NAVY DEPARTMENT, after a lapse of seven years, regained the championship of the Departmental Tennis League yesterday afternoon on the courts at Edgemoor when Russett and Chandler triumphed over Dawson and Tracy, of Treasury, in the fifth and deciding match of the day, 12—10, 3—6, 6—1.

The victory of Russett and Chandler broke a 2-to-2 tie in matches. Adding further importance to the fifth match was the fact that Navy and Treasury had tied each other at the conclusion of the regular league play two weeks ago. Yesterday's play-off was the first in recent years.

Russett's offtimes wild game steadied yesterday in the pinches of the critical match, and he was ably backed up by the steady work of Chandler. Dawson and Tracy, chop-stroking veterans both, had the first set in hand when they held match point at 7—0, but saw their advantage removed by steadied play on the part of the eventual winners.

Gill and McVey (Navy) defeated Charest and Purinton, 2—6, 6—4, 11—9. Stam and Seidel (Treasury) defeated Brown and Ferat, 6—3, 7—9, 6—3. Clark and Phillips (Treasury) defeated Packer and Mehl, 10—8, 6—4. Bates and Wilson (Navy) defeated Coe and Gardner, 6—1, 6—4. Russett and Chandler (Navy) defeated Dawson and Tracy, 12—10, 3—6, 6—1.

Cue "Masked Marvel" Plays Here Saturday

A pocket billiard exhibition will be held Saturday night at 407 Rhode Island avenue northeast, featuring the "Masked Marvel," who will take on all comers.

The "Masked Marvel" is a challenger for the world's championship and has scored high runs of 109 balls on a 5-and-10 table and 203 on a 4½ by 9 table.

CARDOZA PLAYGROUND captured the annual municipal playground field and track meet for colored boys yesterday on the Francis Playground track where it nosed out Howard, after a hard struggle, 41 to 30 points. It is the second consecutive year that the Southwest lads have taken The Post Cup. The Post also gave medals to those who were first, second and third in events About 1,000 athletes took part.

The record-breaking number of 52 entered the half-mile event and as the Francis track is only 220 yards time heats were necessary to decide the winner. Robert Miller, of Cook, was clocked as the fastest half-miler, winning the first heat in 2 minutes and 25 seconds. Milton Joyner, of Rose Park, was second and Earl Campbell, of Magruder, was third.

Rose Park gave both Howard and Cardoza a battle for first place scoring 24 points. One of the best efforts of the day was that of Edward Skinker, of Howard, who jumped 17 feet 3½ inches in the 100-pound running broad jump. This mark was better than that made by the 115-pound class.

Raymond "Pebbles" Nedley gave his teammates a lesson in perseverance when he won the 85-pound running broad jump. "Pebbles" has been competing in playground meets for five years, each year he selects a different event, but during the entire summer he has concentrated on the broad jump and yesterday he led a field of 40 entries in this event to capture a Post gold medal. Cards Win Twin Bill; Sweep Brave Series

Boston, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Jess Haines and Burleigh Grimes equaled the efforts of other Cardinal hurlers today as the St. Louis Cardinals took both ends of a double-header, 6 to 1 and 6 to 4, to make a clean sweep of a five-game series with the Braves.

Haines kept the Braves' ten hits scattered in the opener, shutting them out until the ninth. Grimes did not have things so easy in the nightcap, but his teammates overcame an early lead with a four-run rally in the sixth.

STOCK PRICES GAIN IN MARKET UPTURN

Leading Issues Join Rise in Last Half Hour; Tobaccos Close Higher.

New York, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—The stock market appears to have been sold to a standstill today, so bears decided to buy back the shares they had sold short, causing a substantial upturn in the last hour.

There were numerous net gains of 1 to 4 points in the popular trading issues, and the price average of 90 leading stocks recorded a net gain of nearly 1 4-5 points, the largest in more than a week. Trading all but stalled in dead-center during the earlier hours of the session, and even with the late covering flurry, the day's turnover was only 843,519 shares, or slightly less than yesterday's.

Professional traders were particularly impressed with the markets' ability to stand still in the face of rather discouraging reports from industry and trade, and concluded that it must be oversold. The day was not without encouraging developments, however, chief among which were upturns in leading commodity markets, and strength of the British pound sterling.

Wheat Futures Gain.

Wheat futures gained 1⅛ to 1⅜ cents a bushel, reflecting improved export demand, and bullish Canadian weather reports. Corn pushed up 1½ to 2¾ cents. The cotton market was helped by a fairly good tone in the Liverpool market, and closed with gains of 70 to 90 cents a bale.

The developments in the British government continued to provide considerable encouragement in financial circles, which was reflected by an advance of 5-16 of a cent in sterling cables to $4.86¼, the best level in some time, and only ⅜ of a cent below gold parity.

Despite the growth of New York and Paris as capital markets, London largely retains its function of world's banker. One of Wall street's leading bankers informally expressed the opinion that renewed confidence in London will go far toward restoring world financial stability. Foreign exchanges generally were about steady, although the Argentine peso sagged moderately.

Advance Near Close.

Shares all but stood still during most of the day. There was a mild sag in the first hour, and a stiffening around midday. Most of the advance was recorded in the last half hour. Allied Chemical gained about 4 points, possibly reflecting revival of the European nitrate cartel, and other chemicals were generally higher.

American Tobacco B was subjected to further selling for a time, but recovered to close a fraction higher. Rails generally reflected short covering. Issues closing about 2 to 4 higher included American Can, American Telephone, Santa Fe Railroad, Baltimore & Ohio, Dupont, Eastman, New Haven, Southern Pacific and Westinghouse Electric. U. S. Steel closed up about a point, as did General Electric, Radio, General Motors and several others.

The midweek business reports failed to provide a clue to the expected autumn recovery in general business activity. Freight car loadings gained only 8,000 cars over the preceding week, and have some distance to go before recording the normal seasonal gain over July.

Steel Output Fluctuates.

Steel mill operations continue to fluctuate uncertainly. Weekly trade reviews placed them slightly lower this week. Steel scrap prices have turned reactionary. Electric power production shows little change, this week's report showing a drop of 2.8 per cent from the same period of last year, against declines of 2.9 per cent in the two weeks' preceding.

The oil stocks were generally steady to firm, but there appears to be enough uncertainty still surrounding the petroleum situation to have checked the dull movement in these issues. Wall Street wonders how crude and gasoline prices will respond when production is resumed in east Texas shutdown, so was rather misleading.

INVESTMENT BANKER BODY CHOOSES POPE

New Yorker's Nomination for Association Head Is Equivalent to Election.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Headquarters of the Investment Bankers Association of America announced yesterday that Allan M. Pope, of New York City, executive vice president, First National Old Colony Corporation, has been nominated for the presidency of the association for the administrative year 1931-32. As nomination by the association's board of governors has always been equivalent to election, it is expected that Mr. Pope will take office at the close of the association's twentieth annual convention, at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., November 7 to 11.

He will succeed Henry T. Ferriss, of the First National Co., St. Louis. Mr. Pope has taken a prominent part in activities of the association's board of governors and foreign securities committee for several years.

Other nominations to be voted on at the annual convention in November are: For executive vice president, Alden H. Little, of Chicago, to succeed himself; for vice presidents, James H. Daggett, Marshall & Ilsley Bank, Milwaukee; Charles D. Dickey, Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., Philadelphia; William H. Eddy, Chase Harris Forbes Corporation, New York; Dietrich Schmitz, Pacific National Co., Seattle; C. T. Williams, C. T. Williams & Co., Inc., Baltimore; for treasurer, William T. Bacon, Bacon, Whipple & Co., Chicago; for secretary, C. Longford Felske, Chicago.

Nominations for Board.

Nominations to positions on the board of governors for terms expiring in 1934 are: J. Augustus Barnard, Dominick & Dominick, New York; Frank L. Scheffey, Callaway, Fish & Co., New York; T. J. Bryce, Continental Illinois Co., Chicago; Duncan J. McNabb, Guardian Detroit Co., Inc., Detroit; Francis Moulton, R. H. Moulton & Co., Los Angeles; Russell D. Bell, Greenshields & Co., Montreal; Harry F. Stix, Stix & Co., St. Louis; William Cavalier, William Cavalier & Co., San Francisco; John J. Rowe, First Investment & Securities Corporation, Cincinnati; Charles B. Engle, International Co. of Denver, Denver.

Nominations to fill unexpired terms ending in 1932: Henry T. Ferriss, First National Co., St. Louis, ex-officio, as retiring president, a member of next year's board; Francis A. Bonner, Lee, Higginson & Co., Chicago; Henry Hart, First Detroit Co., Inc., Detroit; Ralph Hornblower, Hornblower & Weeks, Boston; George H. Nusloch, Hibernia Securities Co., Inc., New Orleans; David H. Martin, Fidelity National Corporation, Kansas City.

The newly nominated president of the Investment Bankers Association of America is a graduate of West Point and served on the general staff of the American Expeditionary Force in France as a major and as a lieutenant colonel. He resigned from the Army in 1920 to enter the investment banking business in Boston, with the First National Corporation of that city.

Pope Elected President.

In 1921 Mr. Pope became manager of the corporation's New York office, and in 1928 was elected president of the corporation. In 1929 the consolidation of the First National Bank of Boston and of the Old Colony Trust Co., also of that city, resulted in a merger of their respective investment banking affiliates and the formation of the First National Old Colony Corporation, which is now one of the largest investment banking institutions in the country, with offices in 21 American cities and representatives in London, Paris, Berlin and Buenos Ares.

Mr. Pope was born in Boston November 24, 1879, and is a descendant of two of New England's oldest families. He received his early education at the Prince School and Boston Latin School. In 1899 he entered the United States Military Academy, from which he was graduated in 1903 and commissioned a second lieutenant of cavalry. He served in the Philippines and in 1916 was commissioned a captain. On the entry of the United States into the World War he was advanced to the rank of major and attached to the general staff.

Mr. Pope is chairman of the advisory council and a member of the executive committee of the Institute of International Finance, a fact-finding organization which is conducted by New York University in cooperation with the Investment Bankers Association for the benefit of dealers and investors in foreign securities. He is also chairman of the association's foreign securities committee and is a member of the executive committee of the American Acceptance Council. President Victor B. Deyber, Second National Bank, has returned from a European trip.

SLIPPERY STREETS BLAMED IN TRAFFIC HURTS OF SEVERAL

GIRL, 7, DIES, VICTIM OF HIT-AND-RUN TRUCK

Boy, 9, Is Struck by Taxicab and Bicyclist Suffers Bruises in Crashes.

Several persons were injured yesterday and last night, one perhaps fatally, in traffic accidents. Streets made slippery by last night's rainfall were held partly responsible for several of the mishaps. A child, struck by a hit-and-run truck driver Tuesday, died of her injuries.

Seven-year-old Mary K. Utterback, 3414 Reservoir road, died late yesterday in Georgetown Hospital of injuries received Tuesday when she was struck by a hit-run truck near Thirty-fourth and Q streets northwest.

A. R. Rollinson, who lives near the scene of the accident, took the child to the hospital, where she was found to have a fracture of the skull, broken leg and internal injuries. He said he saw a small delivery truck speed away from the girl's prostrate form. Police are looking for the driver.

Watermelon Vender Hurt.

A collision between an automobile and his watermelon-laden truck, which was parked, resulted in a serious injury to Master Bells, 29, colored, 1508 Fourth street northwest. With a watermelon in his hands, the vender was out to deliver it to a customer when an automobile driven by Israel, Rodbord ran into the truck on Vermont avenue near R street.

Bells was treated at Freedmen's Hospital for fracture of both legs and possible internal injuries. His condition was pronounced critical. He was pinned between the two machines and extricated with difficulty.

Slippery condition of the street was held partly to blame for the accident. Rodbord, a tailor, is 51, and lives at 1345 R street northwest.

John Baker, 9, was struck by a taxicab near Sixth and R streets northwest. He received treatment at Emergency Hospital for a possible fracture of the right leg and then sent to his home at 1551 Sixth street. R. J. Rogers, 929 Eleventh street, was driving the cab, according to police.

Bicyclist Is Injured.

When his bicycle was struck by an automobile at Nineteenth and L streets northwest, Woodrow Bishop, 19, suffered bruises and contusions. He lives at 913 L street northwest. A charge of having faulty handbrake on his car was lodged against Joseph B. Sewell, colored, 1532 Tenth street northwest.

Mrs. Cora Bolling, 51, Halpine, Md., suffered broken ribs and cuts on her forehead yesterday when she walked from behind a car parked on the Rockville pike into the path of an automobile driven by Capt. Alexander Sharp, 1545 Thirty-fifth street northwest.

Mrs. Bolling had been talking to Ernest W. Ofutt, Montgomery County supervisor of public welfare, who was parked at the side of the road, according to Sergt. Roy Bodmer and Policeman Webb Hersperger of the Montgomery County Police. Warner Pumphrey, Rockville undertaker, drove Mrs. Bolling to Emergency Hospital for treatment.

Suffers Sprained Back.

Mrs. Rae Simpson, 24, 817 Sixth street northeast, suffered a sprained back and body bruises last night when an auto struck her as she was crossing H street northeast near Sixth street. The driver failed to stop after the accident.

After receiving treatment by a private physician, Mrs. Simpson returned to her home. Police broadcast a lookout for the coupe which knocked her down.

Hurled from his bicycle when he was struck by an auto, Charles Ash, 13, suffered a possible fracture of the skull and lacerations of the scalp last night. The mishap occurred at Eighteenth street and Massachusetts avenue southeast.

Wharey Spencer, 31, 1812 D street southeast, was driving the machine which hit the boy, according to Fourth Precinct police. He was not held. Young Ash was taken to Gallinger Hospital.

Girl Seriously Hurt.

Neunie Johnson, colored, 12, 1610 Corcoran street northwest, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon when she was struck by an automobile near her home.

The child was roller skating in the street when a car driven by John J. Sullivan, 2121 New York avenue, struck her. Sullivan took her to Emergency Hospital, where she was said to have a fractured skull and possible internal injuries.

Two Suffer Wounds In Fight With Knives

Two persons, who identified themselves as George Snody and Wilma Gray, were charged with assault with a dangerous weapon following a fight last night in a house in Silver Spring, Md. Snody and Christopher C. Harvey suffered knife wounds in the brawl. They were not seriously wounded.

John Ashton, Retired Policeman, Succumbs

John R. Ashton, colored, retired policeman, died last night in his home at 2104 Ward place northwest. He had been in ill health. A gold watch was presented to Mr. Ashton July 1 by his comrades at the Third Precinct station in token of 31 years of service. He was 60 years old.

GROUP TO DISCUSS MONROE TRANSFER

Park View Citizens to Meet, but Board Is Expected to Stand Pat.

The executive committee of the Park View Citizens Association will meet tonight to discuss the agitation that has arisen over the decision of the Board of Education to transfer the Monroe School to the colored divisions.

John S. Cole, president of the association, in announcing the meeting, said that the executive committee will probably decide whether to lend its support to the Columbia Heights Citizens Association in its opposition to the transfer.

The Park View Association adopted a resolution two years ago asking the School Board to retain the Monroe School for white pupils as long as it could be done without transferring pupils from the Park View School to build up small classes at the Monroe.

School officials are preparing for the transfer, it being generally believed in school circles that the Board of Education will not rescind its action. The 405 children enrolled in the Monroe School in June will be divided among two junior high schools and two elementary schools in the Park View section. Seventh and eighth grades will be transferred either to the Powell and Macfarland junior high schools, while the others will be transferred to the Park View Platoon School and the Raymond School. The seventh grade of the Park View School will be transferred to either the Macfarland or Powell. The eighth grade at the Park View School will not be disturbed.

Prehistoric Whale Bones Being Pieced Together

After lying embedded in sand and clay for more than 3,000,000 years, according to scientific estimate, the bones of a large whale are being pieced together in Washington for exhibition in the Smithsonian Institution.

The bones were found near Chesapeake Bay by a Baltimore scientist, and Dr. Remington Kellogg, Smithsonian paleontologist, who dug them from the clay and sand of a cliff. A large excavation was required before the bones could be recovered.

John Barrett, of the Smithsonian staff, is handling the tedious task of cleaning each part and assembling it, and the job is expected to take six months. When placed on view the skeleton will be about 30 feet long.

Man Goes Amuck; Kills Girl and Self

Jealous Rage Is Blamed in Rooming House Affray on Quincy Place.

Crazed with jealousy and brandishing a .38 caliber revolver, a colored man last night ran amuck in a rooming house at 47 Quincy place northwest, killed his sweetheart, fired at his landlord and finally ended his own life with a bullet through the heart.

According to tenants in the rooming house, Thomas Wortham, 25 years old, shot his sweetheart, Bernice Tanner, 18 years old, in the shoulder. Then he fired at the landlord, Syrus L. Hinton, but missed. Following the fleeing girl, Wortham fired three more shots which struck her in the head and throat. Then he placed the gun against his chest and pulled the trigger.

Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt issued a certificate of murder and suicide.

Howard Alumnus Hits Dental Dean

Letter to Trustees Says Appointee Has Had No Experience.

In a letter addressed to trustees of Howard University by Dr. W. D. Wiseman, D. D. S., class of 1918, secretary treasurer of the Interstate Dental Association, the appointment of Dr. Russell A. Dixon as acting dean of the Howard Dental School, is scored as "a convincing indication of the slight regard in which the dental profession is seemingly held by the present administration of the university."

Objection to Dr. Dixon arises from the fact that he was only recently graduated from Northwestern University and has never practiced, it is said. His appointment was made by President Mordecai W. Johnson following the suspension of Dr. Arnold Donawa for insubordination.

It was reported that the deanship had been offered to other members of the faculty, all of whom declined saying that their sympathies were with their ousted man.

Applicants Few For Auto Titles

Sales for Early Weeks in 1932 May Be Delayed, Says Traffic Head.

Unless motor car owners turn in their applications more rapidly for certificates of title to the Department of Vehicles and Traffic, auto sales will be at a standstill for the first few weeks of next year, William A. Van Duber, traffic director, said yesterday.

These titles must be obtained before 1932 license tags can be procured, and the traffic director said his department could not give priority to new car owners after January 1.

Titles are now being issued at the rate of 500 a day, Mr. Van Duzer said. He added that this number, based on applications received, should be doubled if all present car owners are to get their certificates before the end of this year.

First Prize in 1-Year Class Goes to Harry Dupree; 1 to 2, Charles Hurley; 2 to 3, Peggy Kelly; 3 to 4, William Carr.

More than 120 babies, who knew their rattles and were out for ribbons, and not baby ribbons either, yesterday competed for honors in the most hotly contested baby show ever staged at the Georgetown Playground.

It all ended with twelve babies in four classes, ranging up to 4 years old, carrying off place awards, and another dozen scoring honorable mention. According to Mrs. Abbie Flynn, playground director, prizes went to "the best all-around babies," health and personality considered.

Man Is Fined for Speeding After Repossession Tangle

There was nothing in the rule book to tell him what to do, so John H. Pyre, employe of an automobile company, did a bit of fancy speeding yesterday after he repossessed a car for his company and had put a bit of distance between himself and friends of the former owner of the car.

In an effort to put more distance where it could best serve the purpose, Pyre stepped on the gas and did not stop until Policeman R. V. Sinclair arrested him for speeding on the Massachusetts avenue hill.

Pyre told Judge McMahon the story, but the judge assessed him a $10 fine. The policeman said he accompanied Pyre to the garage to protect him from the persons who were after him.

Undernourished Trees Receive Forced Feeding

In order to save the lives of some of Washington's valuable trees, artificial feeding methods are being resorted to by the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks. The undernourished condition of the trees is thought to be the result of last year's drought.

At regular intervals during the summer, tree experts have been feeding the trees with meal. The food that is being given them is not the ordinary "corn-bread" meal, but a fine mixture made of bones and especially prepared tree food.

The trees are "fed" by drilling holes 3 or 4 feet deep, near the base of the tree, filling them with meal and pouring in a quantity of water to make the mixture spread. Although it was not commonly known, this also was done last year during the severe drought.

Indictments Beat Limitation by Day

Two Brothers Named for Taking $1,200 in Tour Never Made.

Beating the statute of limitations only one day the District Grand Jury yesterday returned an indictment against James W. Sherman and Alpheus J. Sherman, brothers, charging them with having embezzled $1,200 from Miss Jessie Holt, an employe of the Children's Hospital.

Miss Holt alleged that the brothers operated a service known as the Sherman Travel Bureau which had planned a world tour. She said that she gave them two $600 checks to join the party, and although, she claimed, the tour was never consummated, she did not get her money back.

One of the checks was dated August 27, 1928, and the statute of limitation would have operated against using it in any criminal prosecution after today. The other check was dated one month later. The indictment is in four counts, two of them relating to embezzling the checks and the other two relating to embezzling the proceeds of the two checks.

WORKERS PROPOSE FEDERAL EXAMPLE IN SHORTER WEEKS

MAIL CLERKS TO FIGHT HIGHER POSTAGE RATES

General Federation to Pass on 5-Day Week, 6-Hour Working Day.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

National leaders of organized Government employes yesterday called on the administration to assume leadership in bettering working conditions and shortening the workday and workweek as an example to private industry.

Demand for improved conditions was contained in programs embracing legislative and administrative changes which will be submitted to two national conventions which are to be held on the Pacific Coast beginning September 7. The National Federation of Federal Employes will hold its eleventh biennial convention in Seattle and the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks will meet in Los Angeles.

"The compensation of many Government workers still is scarcely a living wage. Injustices and inequities continue to present themselves in a lengthy stream," Luther C. Steward, president of the Federation of Federal Employes, said on the eve of his departure with other officers for Seattle, where will be held a meeting of the Federation council preceding the national convention.

Example to Industry Sought.

"The time is opportune for the government to set an example to private industry by placing the postal service on a five-day work week," Thomas F. Flaherty, secretary-treasurer of the Post Office Clerks, said in making public the annual report to be submitted to the clerks' convention by their national officers. Mr. Flaherty reiterated the determined opposition of his organization to the suggestion of Postmaster General Brown that postal rates must be raised or postal wages reduced.

"We will fight both these propositions," Mr. Flaherty said. "There should be no relation between postage rates and postal employes' wages. The postal service is run for service and not for profit. Higher postage rates will actually reduce revenues and further limit work opportunities by decreasing the volume of mail and we will therefore fight the Brown proposal as untenable."

Recommendations which are to be submitted to the clerks convention for their indorsement include:

Five-day work week without curtailment of service, higher pay for overtime work and night work and time-off allowance for Sunday and holiday work, upward revision of pay schedules, including higher pay for post office laborers and establishment of weekly pay days; revision of the efficiency rating system and establishment of a civil service court of appeals.

Retirement Change Asked.

Liberalization of the retirement law, with provision for optional retirement after 30 years of service; extension of civil service to cover postmasters; elimination of "speed-up practices" which "may be detrimental to service efficiency and injurious to the morale and health of employes;" revision of existing rules governing recognition of seniority; approval of higher grade entrance examinations for postoffice clerks; opposition to the plan of the Postoffice Department to lengthen the working hours of rural mail carriers; improvement of conditions surrounding employment of substitute workers.

Proposals which will be submitted to the Federation of Federal Employes go farther than the postoffic clerks' program. The former, for example, will be asked to pass not only on a five-day work week, but to approve a resolution calling for a six-hour work day throughout the Government service.

Establishment of a minimum salary of $1,500 a year for Government employes is another question which will be submitted to the Federal Employes' convention.
